

WITH PLEA FOR LIFE
OF WIFE, THOMPSON
GOES TO HIS DEATHGUILT OF MURDER
DENIED TO LAST
BY DOOMED MEN

Two Convicted Men Pay Penalty of Murder of Osborne With Stoicism, Resigned to Fate.

HARDMAN REFUSES TO GRANT REPRIEVE

Governor Places No Faith in Confession of Wife of Thompson, Accusing Another Man.

BY WHITNER CARY,
Constitution Staff Correspondent.
Millidgeville, August 3.—"Tell the people of Georgia that my last wish is for my wife to go free. Tell those same people that it seems to me that the blood of two men would be enough stain on Murray county to satisfy justice for the murder of Coleman Osborne."

Five minutes before he entered eternity's reception hall at the state farm here this afternoon, Clifford Thompson, illiterate 22-year-old white boy, who along with Jim Moss, 30-year-old negro, faced the edict of society for the murder of the Murray county storekeeper, made that dramatic statement. Seven minutes after he uttered those words he had solved the great unknown.

Meet Death Bravely.
Men have faced death in more honorable causes than did Clifford Thompson and Jim Moss, but no one ever took the plunge into the great unknown with a greater show of bravery than did those two. With a tranquility of a fading star welcoming the morn and with a resignation of a tired child dropping off to sleep did those men face the end of life's pathway.

As they stepped into eternity a quartet of staunch and true allies rode with them down that misty trail that leads to either oblivion or divine rest and happiness—a Spartan courage, forgiveness to their enemies, a firm and beautiful belief that they were about to reap the fruits of salvation, and a fervent reiteration of their innocence of the crime for which they were convicted. Thompson received the first shock, 1,900 volts, at 2:11 p. m., and was pronounced dead at 2:19. Moss, who followed the white man and received the first charge at 2:24 p. m.

No Sign of Weakness.
Not once during that seemingly endless night which is a veritable gettemane to the condemned did they show weakness. Not once during the long morning, made longer through an order from Governor Hardman held up the execution until he could investigate the eleventh-hour confession made by Eula Thompson, wife of Clifford Thompson, did those men falter. Not once during that brief space when they sat in the big oak chair on the brink of the grave did they show fear. Nor did either, through all those terrible hours of torture, waver one iota from a profession of innocence of the crime charged. They went to their doom like soldiers are supposed to meet their maker, but without the satisfaction of a warrior's reward.

It is not a pretty story this story of how society was paid its due. It is not a story that some may like to hear. But it is a story of how two

Continued on Page 4, Column 3.

Husband Dead
Eula Insists
Story Is True

Woman Says She Will Give Mate's Watch to His Mother.

"What I said last night was true," calmly declared Eula Thompson at Fulton tower Friday afternoon, a scant two hours after the electric chair had claimed her husband. "And I'll stick to it until I die."

"At Chatsworth they promised they would get life for Cliff and acquittal for me. I waited until the last moment, saw they had lied and then told everything."

"They swore they would do this if I would keep my mouth shut—and well, they didn't. And then I got to thinking about Cliff's mother, and I couldn't stand it any more."

"If they think I am lying why doesn't someone look for Jim Lowry. He is a small yellow negro who works around the garage at Etowah, Tenn., and who is known in Chatsworth."

Dry-eyed and without apparent emotion, Eula Thompson lay upon her cot in the tower, talking easily and without hesitation where dates and specific instances were concerned.

Asked if she hoped to attend the funeral of her husband, she slowly

Continued on Page 4, Column 1.

HASTINGS TO LEAD
HOOVER CAMPAIGN

Atlanta Seed Man Is Named Chairman of
Ga. Committee by Washington Headquarters.

H. G. Hastings, of Atlanta, president of the H. G. Hastings Seed company, has been appointed chairman of the Hoover campaign committee in Georgia, settling the question of the chairmanship of the campaign committee in Georgia, it was announced Friday after Mr. Hastings had received a telegram from the Hoover headquarters in Washington congratulating him upon his acceptance of the chairmanship and wishing him unbounded success in his work.

Mr. Hastings stated that he had been tendered the chairmanship and had accepted it. Plans are being perfected as rapidly as possible, looking toward a complete organization of necessary committees and a vigorous prosecution of the "Hoover-for-president" campaign in Georgia, he declared.

Hastings formerly was president of the Southeastern Fair association and formerly president of the Georgia Chamber of Commerce. In

Continued on Page 8, Column 6.

U. S. WILL DEPORT
SPANISH BEAUTY
CONTEST ENTRANT

New Orleans, La., August 3.—(United Press.)—Senorita Agueda Adorna who was "Miss Spain" at the Galveston bathing beauty revue recently, and her chaperone, Senora Alma Alba, have been ordered deported to Spain on the first ship.

Immigration officials issued the order today after they said they had learned Senorita Adorna and her companion planned to overstay their time limit. They still have 30 days allowed them by their passport.

Deportation was recommended by the Spanish consul here, who said he had "special reasons."

Continued on Page 8, Column 4.

Hungry?

Chances are the hot weather has dulled your appetite, but folks need to eat cool and nourishing food in summer as well as in winter. Just take this tip: Read the grocery ads in this issue of The Constitution; make up your week-end list and buy at direction of Constitution ads. They offer a wealth of suggestions for new dishes, as well as staple foods of the finest quality, in freshest condition at "last" and lowest prices.

Advertising in The Constitution
Pays the Advertiser; Saves the Buyer.

FUGITIVE HUSBAND
HELD WHEN GIRL'S
NUDE BODY FOUND

Suspect Is Believed To Be Man Who Deserted Wife in East When Theft
Bared; Denies Slaying.

Los Angeles, August 3.—(AP)—A man known here as Russell Barholme and Russell St. Clair Beitzel, whom police believe is a member of a prominent Philadelphia family, was held tonight in connection with the death of a young woman, whose nude body was found in Stone canyon, north of Hollywood, last night.

The woman, about 22 years of age, with whom police said Barholme or Beitzel lived in north Hollywood, was known as Norma Barber, Norma Barholme and Barbara Morrow. Officers said they had information that she, too, came from a prominent Philadelphia family. Physicians said she was about to become a mother when her death occurred, apparently from a bullet wound in the head.

Disappeared In June.

When a "missing person" report was found in police files of June saying that "Norma Barholme" had disappeared, officers arrested the man at the plant of an engineering company where he was employed and took him to the spot where the body was found. There they said, Barholme denied knowledge of her death, but stated that he and the young woman had lived together and quarreled, and that she had left him in Stone canyon when they had gone there on an automobile ride.

The girl apparently had been dead several months.

All clothing had been stripped from her body. A platinum and diamond ring remained on her finger.

Investigators said service discharge papers were found in the home occupied by Barholme, which gave the name of Beitzel. The address of his family in Philadelphia was believed to be 6835 Germantown avenue.

WIFE AND CHILDREN
DESERVED IN EAST.

Philadelphia, August 3.—(AP)—Russell St. Clair Beitzel, believed to be the man under arrest in Los Angeles in connection with the slaying of a young woman near Hollywood, was formerly chief manager for a Philadelphia department store. He deserted his wife and two children here in 1927 and disappeared after owners of the store accused him of having embezzled $2,000.

Beitzel's wife left here several months ago and is said to be living in Lancaster, Pa., with relatives.

According to information received here Los Angeles police identified the man under arrest as Beitzel by means of army discharge papers found in his pocket which were made out to Russell St. Clair Beitzel.

FORESAW SLAYING, WOMAN DECLARES.

Los Angeles, August 3.—(AP)—A woman, whose name was not revealed, related to police today an incident in a local theater at which Barbara Morrow, believed to be the girl whose body was found north of Hollywood last night, pointed out a woman in the show's chorus with whom she said her "husband" was in love.

"That is she," Miss Morrow was quoted as saying, "the second woman in the show's chorus with whom she said her 'husband' is in love with her."

Continued on Page 8, Column 4.

WOMAN CALMLY
KILLS GIRL, SELF

Wife of Newspaper Cashier Fails in Effort to Poison Baby; Cause of Tragedy Is Mystery.

Waco, Texas, August 3.—(AP)—Calmly, almost casually, 24-year-old Mrs. B. O. Ashworth walked into the joint offices of the Waco News-Tribune and Times-Herald today, engaged Miss Charlie Lawson, of the same age, in a brief, low-voiced conversation, and a moment later shot her to death as she ran screaming for security behind a pillar.

Murdering clerks in the newspaper offices with a tiny automatic pistol, Mrs. Ashworth sought to force acid down the throat of her 18-month-old daughter whom she carried in her arms and then drained the fatal contents of the phial just as her husband, cashier for the two newspapers, rushed into the scene.

Mrs. Ashworth died a few minutes later at a hospital. The baby was said by physicians not to have been affected seriously, although its throat and mouth were seared by the liquid. Ashworth declined to make a statement. After an investigation the po-

Continued on Page 8, Column 4.

Under No Circumstances
Will Highway Chairman
Nominee Be Incumbent,
Governor Says.

STATE BOND ISSUE FOR ROADS OPPOSED

Governor Declares That He Is in Favor of Complete Reorganization of Highway Department.

If Governor L. G. Hardman is re-elected governor in the September primary he will "under no circumstances" reappoint John N. Holder as chairman of the state highway board, the governor announced Friday.

"I pledge to the people of Georgia that I will send to the senate for confirmation the name of the most capable and conscientious Georgian that I can find as chairman of the highway department. Such nominee will, under no circumstances, be the present incumbent," the governor said.

Opposition to a state bond issue for roads also is voiced by the governor.

"I do not believe it would be for the best interests of the taxpayers of Georgia to ratify a bond issue, the proceeds of which would be expended by the highway department as at present constituted and organized," he said.

The governor declared that he favored a complete reorganization of the highway department throughout. He also reviews the incidents in his last fight with the state senate concerning the appointment of a chairman of the highway board.

The statement of the governor follows:

"The governor of Georgia is the nominal head of the democratic party in Georgia. There is unfortunately some division in the ranks of the democracy of Georgia in regard to the present national campaign for the presidency. I have heretofore declared my intention to support the democratic nominees for president and vice president of the United States. Not only as head of the democratic party in Georgia but as a life-long democrat, it is my duty to wholeheartedly support the nominees of our party for the presidency and the vice presidency. This I shall do regardless of its consequences upon my campaign for reelection.

"Two years ago in my race for governor I advocated a business administration for Georgia; the elimination of waste; the reorganization of the highway department and the naming of

Continued on Page 8, Column 3.

HEAT WAVE TAKES TOLL OF 9 LIVES

High Humidity, Blazing
Sun Wreak Havoc Along Coast; Showers To Bring Relief Tonight.

New York, August 3.—(AP)—Eastern states, sweltering in the second day of a torrid wave, were promised no relief before tomorrow night.

Today from Boston, south along the entire Atlantic seaboard cities reported temperatures in the nineties and high eighties, with a high humidity.

Rhode Island in a 24-hour period had two deaths directly attributed to the heat and several prostrations.

Boston, with 94, equalled the highest mark of the season, which was reached on July 8.

New York sweltered under a high humidity with the thermometer read-

Continued on Page 4, Column 1.

MODEL OFFICER,
ACCUSED OF CAR
THEFT, KILLS SELF

Washington, August 3.—(United Press.)—Policeman William Nesbitt Still, who was accused of stealing a fellow officer's automobile, was shot and killed himself with a bullet from his own service revolver today.

Still, who was 31 and called a "model officer," shot himself while sitting in the automobile he was suspected of stealing, when a fellow officer approached to question him about the car.

The owner of the automobile, who had reported it stolen, saw Still get into the machine and notified the nearest precinct. On questioning, Still said he had purchased the car and had a bill of sale for it. Lieutenant Gustav Lauten consented to call at Still's home and see the paper. The dead officer leaves a wife and 10 months' old baby.

English Flier Tells How Ship Crashed in Sea, 600 Miles Out From Azores on Hop to United States.

DRIFTS FOR HOURS
BEFORE RESCUE

Radio Brings Help After Fire Is Put Out; Four Men Now En Route to New York by Boat.

Aviators Are Expected in New York Monday

New York, Aug. 3.—Captain Frank T. Courtney and his three companions on the ill-fated Atlantic flight that ended Thursday when their plane crashed in mid-ocean, are en route to New York aboard the British liner Minnewaska. They were picked up at sea Thursday after drifting more than 10 hours, following their forced landing.

Wireless messages received today from the fliers indicated they would arrive early next week, probably Monday.

Besides Captain Courtney, those aboard the plane were Elwood Hosman, Canadian backer of the flight; Fred Pierce, mechanic; and Hugh Gilmore, radio operator.

Captain Courtney, British ace, took off at 6:55, Greenwich mean time, Wednesday, in a biplane, a Dornier-Walke flying boat on the second leg of an attempt to fly from Lisbon to New York via the Azores and Newfoundland. The plane caught fire at midnight and landed in the sea, a flames.

After subsiding the five Captain Courtney and the three men who accompanied him drifted on the ocean for over 10 hours before they were finally brought to the S. S. Minnewaska at their rescue.

BY CAPT. FRANK T. COURTNEY.
(Special wireless dispatch, written exclusively for The Constitution and North American Newspaper Alliance. Copyright, 1928, by North American Newspaper Alliance.)

At Sea Aboard S. S. Minnewaska, August 3.—Now that we are safe aboard the Minnewaska I am writing the story of our experience on our flight from the Azores to this point in mid-ocean and I think the clearest way to tell what happened is to do so in the order of events, even though the exciting part comes at the end.

I refer, of course, to the fact that our plane caught fire and brought us to a halt in an abrupt and almost tragic finish.

We left Horta at 6:55, Greenwich mean time, Wednesday evening. The weather forecast indicated light south-

Continued on Page 4, Column 6.

CANDIDATES GIVE SUPPORT TO SMITH

All in County Legislative Races With Exception of Simmons Agree To Back Democratic Nominees.

All candidates in the Fulton county primary who have opposition, with only one exception, have written to the Young Men's Democratic league, outlining their position relative to their support of the nominees of the democratic party for all offices, and all who sent letters announced their intention of supporting the nominee in county, state and national races in November. Jesse B. Simmons, candidate for the legislature in opposition to Miss Bessie Kempton, was the only candidate who did not state his position to the league.

Miss Kempton, in her statement, announced that she now is supporting the nominees, will continue to support them after the September primaries and intends to support them "until the last ballot is counted in the general election."

Candidates were asked to state their position on the question of supporting the nominees by the Young Men's Democratic league. A letter was sent

Continued on Page 4, Column 2.

LABOR LEADERS
FORCED TO DELAY
POLITICAL VOTE

Atlantic City, N. J., August 3.—(AP)—The absence of three of its members today necessitated three of its members until Monday of consideration of a political program by the executive council of the American Federal of Labor.

After the meeting today William Green, president of the federation, announced that policy would be taken up at Monday's session. It was understood that informal discussions by members of the council concerning presidential candidates have ended in bitter controversies.

POLAND, LITHUANIA
MASSING ARMIES
ALONG FRONTIER

Two Countries Prepare for Break and Rush
Troops to Border, Say
Reports From Europe.

Berlin, August 3.—(United Press.) Poland and Lithuania are massing troops along the Polish-Lithuanian frontier, according to authoritative information reaching here today.

Considerable fear is felt in Lithuania regarding the possible outcome of the congress of Polish legislators, which Marshal Pilsudski, dictator of Poland, will address August 12. It is believed possible that the 10,000 legionnaires who are gathering at a fiery address by Pilsudski and begin an invasion of Lithuania, supported by Polish regulars.

Polish regulars are said to now be moving toward the frontier. Meanwhile, Lithuania, as a precautionary move, is reinforcing her border guards and organizing the people into bands along the border to meet the invasion if it comes.

On the other hand, it is reported from Warsaw that the entire situation is viewed as critical there. According to Polish information, Lithuania would be able to station one army and four infantry regiments among the important towns with strongholds at Olska and Boloski.

The Poles assert that the cavalry division of the Lithuanian army and two air force squadrons are now concentrated at Olska. According to Polish circles, these do not comprise all the troops, but belong to artillery contingents.

Freebooters Concentrate.

It also is reported in Polish circles that the so-called Shaulis organization of Lithuania, consisting of freebooters, are concentrated at Lejput, Serje, Duda, Samulinski, Zolze, Zymory, Munk, Szynwile, Giedrojc, and Manate. The organization is said to include members of the Iron Wolf league and its general staff is reported to be situated at Mariampol, with the Lithuanian intelligence service established at Zwagib.

In discussing the situation with the United News correspondent in Warsaw, Polish semi-official circles emphasize that according to their reports, Lithuania is secretly moving troops along the frontier.

From Kovno, Lithuania's capital, it is reported that President Smetona, in an address before 50,000 peasants who gathered along the frontier to demonstrate their support of the governments' policy, urged that the people maintain the "unity of the Lithuanian nation" and promised that Lithuania will not make any concessions in the Vilna question.

Conference Scheduled.

A conference of Polish and Lithuanian representatives is scheduled to meet at Koenigsberg shortly in an endeavor to find some solution to the entire problem between the two countries.

Semi-official Lithuanian circles declare that Lithuania will withdraw from the League of Nations unless the conference "gives Lithuania justice," and this is generally interpreted to mean a settlement of the question of the jurisdiction over the city of Vilna in Lithuania's favor. It is said that Lithuania in withdrawing from the League of Nations would do so on the grounds that it was not an organization capable of protecting the rights of the smaller nations of the world.

NEW DEPT PLAN WILL BE EVOLVED

Public Service Commission To Work Out Arrangement To Satisfy
All Parties, Perry Says.

The Georgia public service commission will work out a plan for a new union station in Atlanta which that body believes will solve the depot problem satisfactory to all parties concerned, it was announced Friday by James A. Perry, chairman of the commission, after a public hearing had been held on the union station question by President J. B. Hill, of the Nashville Chattanooga and St. Louis railroad; Mayor I. N. Ragdale, of Atlanta; Mel Wilkinson, chairman of the special depot committee, and other people interested in the case.

From concessions made by President Hill at the Friday conference, the commission will be able to reconcile the plans proposed by the railroad with the plans modified by J. H. Johnston, engineer for the commission, and hopes to work out a harmonious solution of the entire problem, according to Chairman Perry. August 14 was fixed as the date for another hearing in the case and if the commission makes the

Continued on Page 8, Column 6.

Youth, Saved
From Prison,
Kills Savior

Boy, 15, Admits Slaying To Get Money and Car for Self.

Reedsport, Ore., August 3.—(United Press.)—The experiment of a well-to-do retired Portland newspaperman who took a boy from the juvenile court in an effort to make him a useful citizen has reached a tragic ending.

Rex Reed, at odds with authorities for most of his 15 years, confessed today he had killed E. D. Dewey, 60, his benefactor, and robbed him of his money and automobile.

Rex had been hunted throughout the southern part of the state after it had been established he had been with Dewey a short time before the latter's body was found. The couple had returned from a bench outing, one of the numerous excursions Dewey had arranged for the lad's pleasure. Then the boy made the mistake of trying to sell the car he had stolen and he was trailed without difficulty.

While employed on the Portland Oregonian, Dewey had taken an interest in Rex, who was in continual trouble with the courts. He had given the boy a job, treated him kindly and offered the advice of an experienced man to a lad who, it seemed to Dewey, was most of his 15 years, confessed today he had killed E. D. Dewey, 60, his benefactor, and robbed him of his money and automobile.

Continued on Page 8, Column 4.

EQUALIZATION FEE VETOED BY SMITH

Nominee Believes Cost of Aid Should Be Borne by Agrarians Benefited;
Houston Plank Favored.

New York, August 3.—(AP)—The equalization fee provision of the vetoed McNary-Haugen farm relief bill is unacceptable to Governor Smith, and so far as it is concerned it can stay in the scrapheap for good.

The democratic presidential nominee recognizes, and feels that his party by its platform is committed to control of the sale of agricultural surplus with the cost borne by the group benefited, but his thumbs are turned down on the McNary-Haugen method.

Facing a dozen or more inquiring newspapermen today in his suite at the Baltimore, Smith went further on the farm question than he had yesterday after talking things over with George N. Peek, Illinois farm leader, who has cast his lot with the democrats.

Someone recalled this sentence in his statement of yesterday: "Control of the sale of agricultural surplus is recognized by our platform as a vital need, its cost to be imposed on the beneficiaries." Smith was asked whether that was to be construed as an endorsement of the equalization fee principle.

Smith quickly turned to an editorial in the New York World, declaring that it summed up his views "concisely." It said that the plan for assessing the cost of the equalization fees contained in the legislation which President Coolidge branded as unconstitutional "was unacceptable" to him; that Smith had not promised to do anything to get down to work on evolving a satisfactory method.

That was all the nominee would say about the question, dismissing it to disclose that he had invited Senator Walsh, of Montana, to confer with him soon. He said Mr. Walsh had expressed a willingness to meet with him, but that a definite date and

Continued on Page 8, Column 5.

CADET CROSSWELL OF ATLANTA NEAR DEATH IN CRASH

Cadet William J. Crosswell, son of William J. Crosswell, Sr., president of the W. L. Fain Grain company, of 939 Ponce de Leon avenue, narrowly escaped death Friday in an airplane crash at Kelly Field, Texas, in which Cadet John B. Dawson, of Denver, was killed, according to Associated Press dispatches.

Crosswell and Dawson both jumped when the plane crashed from a height of 4,000 feet from an undetermined cause, but Dawson's parachute fouled on the falling plane and carried him down with the wreckage. Crosswell made a successful parachute descent from a height of 3,000 feet.

Other pilots in the same flight saw the plane suddenly swerve to one side, nose down and plunge to earth in almost a vertical line, dispatches said. Both Crosswell and Dawson were graduates of March Field, California. The plane which crashed was a Martin biplane. Crosswell had been flying for about a year, members of the family said here.

PLANE IS OVERDUE
AT AZORES; CHANGE IN PLANS POSSIBLE

Airmen May Have Passed
Horta By and Now Be Speeding Over Atlantic on Jump to America.

CRAFT SIGHTED LEAVING COAST

Machine Is Not Equipped With Radio; Little Fear
Yet Held; Arrival Due
Early This Afternoon.

New York, August 3.—(AP)—Another trans-Atlantic flight venture has entered the silent phase of such attempts.

At 3 a. m., daylight saving time last night, 27 hours after it had left Le Bourget flying field, the "Marshal Pilsudski," plane of Majors Louis Idzikowski and Kasimir Kubala, Polish fliers, had not been seen since a reported sighting in the Bay of Biscay, 60 miles off the French coast, early yesterday.

Failure of the plane to be sighted at Horta, Azores, which it had expected possibly to reach before nightfall Friday, caused no immediate apprehension, however, inasmuch as the fliers had stated that if all went well they might steer a true course to the north of the archipelago and miss it altogether.

Discounting the effect of adverse winds and other possible adverse weather conditions, the plane was expected to arrive in New York as early as 1 p. m. Saturday (eastern standard time), 37 hours after its start. To do this would require it to maintain an average speed of 100 miles an hour.

Dr. James H. Kimball, of the weather bureau, reported atmospheric conditions tonight which he believed might cause the fliers to abandon their intended course to New York via Newfoundland and come straight in to the metropolis from a point 1,400 miles at sea.

Sable Island, he said, reported fog and there was a possibility that this condition continued from the grand banks all the way down to the outgoing steamer lanes. He believes it possible that when the Poles reached

Continued on Page 4, Column 7.

VARE RECOVERS
FROM RELAPSE
DURING FRIDAY

Atlantic City, N. J., August 3.—(AP)—Senator-elect William V. Vare rallied strongly tonight from the relapse which earlier in the evening had given physicians grave concern, and they expressed themselves as more optimistic of the outcome of his fight for recovery than at any time since the stricken.

Continued on Page 4, Column 7.

The Weather
LOCAL THUNDERSHOWERS.

Washington—Forecast:
Georgia—Local thunder showers Saturday and Sunday; gentle south winds.

Local Weather Report.
Highest temperature 87
Normal temperature 72
Mean temperature 80
Minimum temperature 68
Rainfall in past 12 hours, inches T.
Deficiency since first of month 5.55
Excess since Jan. 1, inches 38.78
Total rainfall since Jan. 1 38.78

Dry temperature 73
Wet bulb 71
Relative humidity, 90 63 65

Reports of Weather Bureau Stations.
STATIONS AND WEATHER. Temperature, 12 hrs. Time: High, low.

ATLANTA, pt. city 81 87 T.
Augusta, pt. city 88 94 80
Birmingham, pt. city 84 90 78
Boston, rain 80 94 72
Buffalo, clear 78 88 68
Charlotte, clear 82 90 68
Chicago, cloudy 70 94 38
Cincinnati, clear 78 88 68
Des Moines, raining 70 80 14
Galveston, pt. city 84 90 78
Hartford, clear 80 88 68
Havana, clear 82 90 72
Jacksonville, cloudy 78 88 68
Kansas City, raining 88 98 88
Memphis, clear 88 92 72
Miami, cloudy 78 88 1.08
Mobile, clear 88 92 72
Montgomery, pt. city 88 92 72
New Orleans, pt. city 82 92 72
New York, pt. city 84 90 78
North Platte, pt. city 78 88 68
Omaha, clear 84 90 72
Phoenix, pt. city 88 100 80
Pittsburgh, clear 88 92 72
Raleigh, pt. city 78 94 68
San Francisco, clear 68 72 68
St. Louis, clear 88 92 72
Salt Lake City, cloudy 84 94 72
Seattle, clear 88 94 72
Tampa, cloudy 88 94 72
Tulsa, clear 88 94 72
Victoria, cloudy 88 94 72
Washington, cloudy 88 94 72

C. P. von DERHAUSEN,
Meteorologist, Weather Bureau.

SCIENTISTS HUNT FOR 459 BELOW ZERO

Evanston, Ill., August 3.—(P)—The advice of Professor B. S. Hopkins, of the University of Illinois, is that people should not be irked when the temperature amounts into the nineties.

Professor Hopkins, a speaker before the American Chemical Society institute at Northwestern university today, was describing the attempt of science to obtain a frigidty of 459 degrees below zero.

The substance used is called "calorinium sulfate"—one of the rare earth elements.

"With it," Professor Hopkins said, "science hopes to get to the real bottom of the temperature scale—so-called 'absolute zero'."

At this point, it was explained, molecules cease to move. Everything stands still. Man couldn't exist in anything near such temperature. The lowest temperature at present has been obtained by means of solid helium.

Professor Hopkins, one of the world's authorities on the subject of elements, is the discoverer of filinilium, the last of the rare earths to be discovered. It is the only one of the 90 elements which has been discovered by an American.

QUEEN OF SWEDEN'S CONDITION SERIOUS, IS LATEST REPORT

Stockholm, Sweden, August 3.—(AP)—The condition of Queen Victoria, of Sweden, is graver than the official bulletins indicate. It was learned today that since her return from Italy June 14 she has lacked strength to leave her bed for more than a few minutes at a time. There are some disquieting lung symptoms and heart troubles and she has great difficulty in breathing.

DOROTHY MACKAIL, MOTION FILM STAR GRANTED DIVORCE

Los Angeles, August 3.—(AP)—Dorothy Mackail, motion picture actress, was granted an interlocutory decree of divorce here today from Lothar Menden, director. She charged cruelty. They were married a little more than a year ago in New York.

CHEAP EXCURSION—SATURDAY, AUGUST 11TH

Wrightsville Beach, N. C. $12.00 Round Trip—Good 10 days
Myrtle Beach, S. C. 12.00 Round Trip—Good 10 days
Charleston, S. C. 12.00 Round Trip—Good 10 days
Beaufort, S. C. 12.00 Round Trip—Good 10 days
Augusta, Ga. 12.00 Round Trip—Good 10 days

WALNUT 3666 GEORGIA RAILROAD WALNUT 2726

These Atlanta Prices Also in Effect at Marietta Piggly Wiggly

Always the Most Of the Best
For the Least

SNOW-DRIFT

1 Lb., 22c
2 Lbs., 42c
4 Lbs., 75c

Gold Medal

FLOUR

6 Lbs., 42c
12 Lbs., 80c
48 Lbs., $2.80
24-Lb. Sack

$1.52

Butter

Lb., 49c

TEA

1/2 Lb., 24c
1/4 Lb., 44c
1-Lb. Caddie

75c

MALT

2 1/2-Lb. Can

39c

Graham Crackers

With Every Two-Pound Carton Saturday, We Will Give Absolutely FREE

Bathing Cap

2-Lb. Carton

45c

Camay Soap

A Wonderfully Pleasing Toilet Soap. Saturday 3 Cakes

25c

OLEO

Puritan Nut

21c

Swift Premium HAMS

Half or Whole, Lb.

28c

Kingan's BACON

Rind Off, Sliced Pound

28c

EGGS

Fresh Selected Guaranteed Eggs, Dozen in Carton

36c

Vegetables, Fruits, Produce

Always the freshest and greatest varieties of seasonable home grown fruits and produce and a splendid selection of shipped-in goods that you may PERSONALLY SELECT from.

LEMONS Doz. 16c

Potatoes No. 1 Cobblers 2c

YAMS 3 Lbs. 25c

Libby's

—ON PIGGLY WIGGLY SHELVES means we serve you well and ON YOUR SHELVES predicts more charming and appetizing luncheons, dinners and picnics.

Pineapple Libby's Sliced No. 2 1/2 Can 28c

JAM Libby's Assorted In Tins 25c

QUEEN OLIVES 6-Oz. Bottle 17c

Libby's, 3-Oz. Bottle 10c

STUFFED OLIVES 6-Oz. Bottle 22c

Libby's, 3-Oz. Bottle 12c

DILL PICKLES Libby's In Qt. Jars 35c

Vienna Sausage Libby's 2 Cans for 25c

PORK & BEANS Libby's 3 Cans for 25c

MILK Libby's Large Can 10c Small Can 5c

Where You Have the Privilege of Personal Selection

Welch's Grape Juice

4-oz. 10c
Pints 29c
Quarts 57c

Ginger Ale Bottle 18c

Beech-Nut Coffee Vacuum Packed, Lb. 49c

Beech-Nut Peanut Butter Small for 12c Med. for 19c

MILK

Sweet, Pints, 7c
Sweet, Quarts, 14c
Cream, 1-2 Pints, 12c
Buttermilk, Quarts, 10c

RIP Lawn Sprinklers

Are life savers for your grass plots during August and September... the simplicity and efficiency of the RIP Sprinkler will amaze you.

Every one sold on an absolute refund of money if it does not give satisfactory service... ask to have one demonstrated. Saturday they are priced, each—

70c

RICE "Blue Rose" 5 Lbs. for 37c

Lux Toilet Soap Bar 8c

Toilet Paper Waldorf Roll 7c Scott Tissue Roll 10c

MACARONI and SPAGHETTI Skinner's Package 9c

COCOMALT An Appetizing Chocolate Flavor Summer Drink With Lb. Can 43c

MEAL Perkerson's Fancy, Box 2 1/2 Lbs. 22c

TUNAFISH Del Monte No. 1 Can, 27c 1/2 Size 17c

PICKLES Happy Vale Sweet Mixed, qts., 35c 7-oz. Jar 15c

POSTBRAN FLAKES Pkg. 12c

KELLOGG PEP Pkg. 12c

KELLOGG KRUMBLES Pkg. 12c

RICE FLAKES Heinz Package 15c

McINTYRE BROS.

101 Forsyth Street Opposite Ansley Hotel
WALNUT 0357 We Deliver

SPECIAL SATURDAY

Please Bear in Mind We Handle Only the Best Fancy Western Meats

Fancy Fat, Tender Home DRESSED Swift's Premium 8 to 10 Lbs. REGULAR

HENS HAMS

For Today 28c Per Pound

When you can't find it anywhere else, remember we will have it first. Fancy Fruits, Vegetables, and THE BEST WESTERN MEATS

PEAVY'S MARKET

UP TOWN, PRYOR AT HOUSTON ST.
WALNUT 5903 WE DELIVER WALNUT 5903

Genuine Spring LAMB, Lb. 30c

(Serve with Mint Jelly)

HENS 30c; FRIERS 38c

All Fancy Home Dressed

Tenn. Pepper-Cured Country Hams, 35c lb.

TEA ROOMS—RESTAURANTS

We give special prices. Let us show you our special restaurant cuts of steaks, chops and roasts.

BROAD ST. MARKET

112 BROAD ST., S. W. For Saturday

SLICED SUGAR-CURED HAM, 22 1/2c NUT OLEO 17c

LAMB CHOPS OR LEGS, 19 1/2c

Fresh Pork, 22c No. 8 Pure Lard, $1.23

Chops, 21c Loin Western Steak, 20c

Home Sliced or Strip Bacon, 13 1/2c Boiling Meat, 11c

Pure Lard, 13 1/2c Pork Roast, 15 1/2c

Swift's Hams, Whole or Half, 22c Western Beef Roast, 13 1/2c

FISH Fresh Croakers, 3 Lbs., 25c

CASH GROCERY CO.

1011 PEACHTREE ST.—WE DELIVER—HEMLOCK 1188-89

DRESSED HENS 29c

Fancy Home One Day Old Eggs, 40c Tuna Fish, 3-Lb. Can, 25c

Dozen Swift's Premium HAMS, Lb., 27 1/2c Snowdrift 8 Lbs., $1.39

Breakfast Bacon (Rind Off)—35c..... 3 for $1.00

Large Fancy Elberta Peaches, 4-Qt. Basket, 19c 3 Cans No. 2 Tomatoes, 25c

Fancy Sweet Cantaloupes, 25c 10 Lbs. Sugar, 67c

3 for $1.59

FLOUR—Postel's Elegant—Ballard's $1.59

Lemons, 15c Wesson Oil, 24c LIPTON OR TETLEY'S ORANGE PEKOE TEA—8-Lb. Pail Silver Leaf Pure Lard, $1.39 1-4 Lb. Pkg., 24c 1-2 Lb. Pkg., 44c

CENTRAL MARKET

"Better Meats for Less"

16 NORTH BROAD ST.

Pure Lard, Lb., 13c Boiling Meat, Lb., 11c

Pork Sausage, Lb., 18c Sliced Bacon, Lb., 22 1/2c

Fresh Country Eggs, Doz., 30c LARD, No. 10 Comp'nd, $1.09

Home Dressed Hens, Lb., 24c Pan Trout, Lb., 25c

Home Dressed Fryers, Lb., 35c Virginia Croakers, Lb., 10c

SHOP EARLY—AVOID THE RUSH

BUEHLER BROS.

New Nos. 135-137 W. Alabama Street Across from Rich's WALNUT 2483

CALF BRAINS . . 10c

Large Pails Pure Lard, $1.24 10c in Trade for Pail When Empty

BROOKFIELD EGGS . . . 36c

Sliced Breakfast BACON lb. . 22c

FRESH SPARERIBS, lb. 14c

PORK CHOPS, lb. . . 20c

LAMB Hindquarters, Lb. . . 17 1/2c Forequarters, Lb. . . 12c

Hundreds of Folks Are having lots of fun riding around finding the Rogers Jingles. Forty walls of Rogers and Nifty Jiffy Atlanta stores carry these lines. There's $200 in cash prizes. A list of all Rogers and Nifty Jiffy stores, with full particulars, will be sent on request. Get in this game—win a prize! Address our Advertising Dept.

WE SERVE YOU

ROGERS AND NIFTY JIFFY

INC. + AND

YOU SERVE YOURSELF

California Large Juicy Red Ball Lemons Doz. 21c

New Crop Georgia Porto Rican Yams Lb. 7 1/2c

Thompson California Seedless Grapes Lb. 10c

GOLD LABEL COFFEE Lb. Can 49c

TINAPA SARDINES Can 5c

CAMPBELL'S Pork & Beans Can 9c

ROSE BRAND BLACKBERRY Preserves 30-Oz. Jar 29c

FANCY PINK SALMON Tall Can 19c

SQUIRE Mustard Jar 10c

MARASCHINO Cherries 3-Oz. Bottle 10c

ROSE BRAND STRAWBERRY Preserves 30-Oz. Jar 35c

CLICQUOT CLUB—PALE DRY OR GOLDEN GINGER ALE 2 Pint Bottles 25c

SANDWICH LOAF BREAD 26-Oz. Loaf 15c

WHOLE WHEAT BREAD Loaf 10c

FRESH, FRUITY Fig Bars Lb. 12 1/2c

WAYCROSS VANILLA WAFERS Lb. 21c

ROGERS DE LUXE BREAD 16-Oz. Loaf 10c

ROGERS PERFECTION BREAD Loaf 7 1/2c

SOUTHLAND (7 VARIETIES) CAKES Each 25c

ALL 5c PACKAGES OF N. B. C. Crackers Pkg. 4 1/2c

St. Charles Evaporated MILK TALL CAN 10c BABY CAN 5c

BLUE SEA WHITE MEAT Tuna Fish No. 1 Can 29c

BLUE RIBBON Malt Syrup 3-Lb. Can 69c

PRIMO BOTTLE Crowns Per Gross 25c

AMERICAN DILL PICKLES Qt. 25c

SUNSHINE LIGHT MEAT Tuna Fish No. 1 Can 25c

DEL MONTE VERY SMALL PEAS No. 2 Can 21c

VELVA KREME CHEESE Lb. 31c

AMERICAN SWEET MIXED PICKLES Qt. 29c

UNDERWOOD'S SARDINES In Mustard or Tomato Dressing 3 1/2 Size Cans 25c

A. B. C.—PURE, SWEET, CLEAN, FRESH Butter Lb. 53c

NUT MARGARIN Spredit Lb. 25c

POPULAR BRANDS TAX PAID CIGARETTES Pkg. 14c

ROGERS CREPE TOILET TISSUE Large Roll 5c

Knox Plain or Acidulated Gelatine Pkg. 20c

Rogers Fresh Quality EGGS Dozen In Carton 39c

P&G Soap 6 Bars 25c And FREE 1 Pkg. Selox

Get FREE Tickets to the Metropolitan at Our Stores

NEXT WEEK Clara Bow in 'Parisian Love'

HORTON IS LEADER IN TENNESSEE VOTE

Nashville, Tenn., August 3.—(AP)—Governor Henry H. Horton entered the stretch in the democratic gubernatorial race today with an unofficial advantage of approximately 2,500 votes over Hill McAllister, but the latter's headquarters declined to concede his nomination.

As returns from yesterday's state-wide primary piled in, the governor broke away from the opponent who has stuck to his heels almost from the first, and amassed a plurality of 2,528 when all but 205 of the state's 2,230 precincts were in unofficially. The count stood, Horton, 10,122; McAllister, 88,494. Only a plurality is necessary for the nomination.

The 20,000 plurality that McAllister received in Shelby county was added to by pluralities of close to 7,000 in his home county of Davidson and around 450 in Knox, but Hamilton posted some 1,100 more for Horton than for McAllister, and the governor was strongly supported in many rural districts.

Senator Kenneth D. McKellar won handily in his contest for re-nomination in the democratic primary from Representative Finis J. Garrett. County election boards will meet Monday and certify returns in the primary contests to the secretary of state.

EULA INSISTS SHE HAS TOLD TRUTH shook her head, wiping a tear from her eyes with an edge of the coverlet.

Continued from First Page.

"No, I don't guess I can go—they won't let me," she said. "Cliff sent me his watch, but I wanted him to have it. She came down here yesterday all the way from Tennessee to see me. She asked me to tell all I knew in this case, but I couldn't then."

"I guess it was all of it together that made me tell—Cliff's mother crying, that churchwoman who prayed with me Thursday, and those Chatsworth fellows who threw all of us three down."

"I hope they won't take me back there for this. The young woman shivered and paled, 'they'll mob me sure. The jail isn't any too strong. They'll come on in and get me.' 'You needn't worry about that, Eula,' she was reassured by Mrs. Minnie Cornet, matron at the tower. 'I don't think they will take you back.'" ing 88 late in the afternoon. This same day in 1926 holds the record with a 92. There were several prostrations today. A gentle southwest wind, general in the east, furnished some relief.

HEAT WAVE TAKES TOTAL OF 9 LIVES

Continued from First Page.

A thunder storm, developing in the northwest, will arrive late tomorrow according to the weather bureau, bringing cool and fair weather for Sunday. The death of Morris Holder, Columbia graduate student, today brought weather fatalities in New York to seven since the heat wave began two days ago.

Held for was catching in a baseball game at the university yesterday when he collapsed. He was majoring in physical education and came here with a star athletic record from Knox college, Illinois. His home was in Donnellson, Iowa.

HUMIDITY MAKES CHICAGO MISERABLE

Chicago, August 3.—(AP)—It wasn't the heat, it was the humidity (as the weather conversationalists put it) that made the midwest miserable yesterday and early today.

Relief was promised through thunderstorms today. Six deaths were attributed to the early August heat wave, three persons being overcome, while three others drowned.

The temperature top for yesterday was 91, and the humidity reading was 96 at its high point.

Partly Cloudy, Local Showers On Slate Today

Partly cloudy weather, with local thundershowers, is forecast for today by C. F. von Herrmann, United States meteorologist. The temperatures will range between 75 and 90 degrees, as compared with the 72-87 degree readings Friday, the weather man said. Warm weather has continued in the region, and there have been showers at points in the eastern belt and in western Texas, Mr. von Herrmann said.

CANDIDATES GIVE SUPPORT TO SMITH

Continued from First Page.

to all the candidates in the county with opposition. Replies were received by Bond Almand, president, on behalf of the league.

Replies to the letter were received from all the candidates addressed with the exception of Mr. Simmons. Excerpts from these replies were compiled by Mr. Almand and were announced Friday as follows:

Replies of Candidates. C. B. McGee, in his reply said: "In order that my position may be clear, I am glad to state that whether or not I am the successful candidate in my race for the general assembly of Georgia from Fulton county, I intend to support the democratic party in both state and national politics."

W. C. Marshall, in reply said: "In order to qualify it was necessary to sign a declaration, which I think covers your inquiry. It says, in part: 'I certify that I am a valid member and adherent to the democratic party in both state and national politics, and I hereby agree to abide by the rules of the Fulton county and state executive committee covering the primary election to be held September 12, 1928. This also covers the national and state election in November, 1928.'"

Dr. George Brown replied as follows: "I have nothing to say to the press and see no reason for reiterating my signed pledge of support to the democratic party for myself, committee and I see no reason for you to doubt my honesty."

Franklin D. Abide by Law. W. C. Jenkins replied: "The very fact that I have entered the democratic primary should, in my opinion, be for itself, a sufficient pledge of my support to the democratic party in both state and national politics."

Luther Still replied as follows: "When I signed my name to the primary, I signed it as a member of the democratic party in both state and national politics, and I am bound by the rules of the Fulton county and state executive committee to support the democratic party in both state and national politics, and I am bound by the rules of the Fulton county and state executive committee to support the democratic party in both state and national politics."

Ernest G. Bentley replied as follows: "You are very familiar with the fact that, after the trend began to change in favor of our party, I took a positive and decided stand for the democratic party in the newspapers. It is regrettable that the two gentlemen against whom I hoped to be running, Messrs. Still and Jenkins, have failed in their party loyalty to show the courage of their convictions towards their party. At this time there seems to be more necessity than in many years before for every loyal democrat to vote and support the democratic party principles. There must be no faltering and no 'straddling' of the question. To you and to every member of your league who is honest and sincere in his love for pure white supremacy and the principles of the democratic party, I address my request that you entertain no quibbling and that you refuse to fraternize (politically) with any open party better and regard with more serious thought and actual contempt the candidates who have been so long and so frank and open for one party or the other."

Miss Kington Leads Support. Miss Beale Kington replied as follows: "It affords me a great deal of pleasure to assure you that I am now actively supporting the nominees already chosen by the democratic party and shall continue to support them and the nominees elected in the September election with a reliable and unflinching count in the general election of November."

Jesse B. Simmons did not reply to the letter. The league gives these replies without comment to the public. It believed that the voters in the democratic primary, to be held on September 12, were entitled to an expression from these candidates and that they would be glad to express themselves and therefore provided this means for them to do so.

Dawsey Planning Fight To Retain Kidnaped Child

Jennings, La., August 3.—(AP)—Aubrey L. Dawsey, magazine salesman arrested here this week on a warrant charging kidnaping in Atlanta, Ga., announced tonight that he would fight to retain custody of his son, whom he removed from a private home in Atlanta nine months ago.

Dawsey told officers here that he took the three-year-old child when he learned his wife had ceased to pay for the boy's support. Officers said they had information from Atlanta that the lad was placed in the custody of the mother when the couple became estranged.

Dawsey has instituted habeas corpus proceedings, on which a hearing has been scheduled for tomorrow before Judge Jerry Cline in district court.

Dawsey had been in Jennings for a week before he was identified by circulars sent out from Atlanta offering a reward for his apprehension.

The child was kidnaped from the home of his mother here at 708 Central avenue on the morning of May 8. Dawsey was trailed by a private detective agency. He is said to have used several names in an effort to elude arrest.

WOMAN, HURLED FROM CAR, SUFFERS FRACTURED SKULL

Houston, Texas, August 3.—(AP)—Gertrude Hand, 20, Houston, was in a hospital here today with a fractured skull suffered when she and a companion, Mrs. Mabel Baugh, 22, were thrown from an automobile by two men here early today. Mrs. Baugh received internal injuries and a dislocated jaw.

Police sought the men, after descriptions furnished by Mrs. Baugh. Miss Hand regained consciousness for a brief period, but then lapsed into another coma.

GOVERNOR REFUSES THOMPSON RESPIRE

Continued from First Page.

men, one white and the other black, met death without fear and with a philosophy of the hereafter that was beautiful to behold. Here is that story.

The morning hours drag slowly along. We at the deathhouse have been told that a phone call received around 8:30 from Governor Murray has held up the scheduled execution at 10:30. Speculation runs rife as to what the final order will be.

The two condemned men are mercifully spared any false hopes. Time drags along. Chaplain Atkins has visited the men and his comfort has borne rich fruits. Both appear resigned to their fate. Thompson, quiet and unexcited, sits in his cell, gazing into space. He cannot read, and therefore is dependent on his own thoughts for company in this grave hour. The negro, Moss, is talkative and, if such a condition can be imagined at such a time, really seems happy. Both profess their readiness and lack of fear of death.

Noon and dinner is served. Thompson, as has been his custom for the few days, eats practically nothing. Jim eats with a relish, no longer with quaint humor that "this is one more meal than I had expected to enjoy."

The telephone bell rings. Atlanta is calling Superintendent Dunaway. At last the suspense is over. It is the governor, the line rings, a few seconds it will be known whether two men are to die or a slight respite is to be given. Mr. Dunaway, this is Governor Hardman speaking. I decline to interfere in the case of Clifford Thompson and Jim Moss.

Superintendent Dunaway repeats the message to make sure there is no mistake. He hangs up the receiver. Last Hope Vanishes. All know that the two men played their last card in the game of life and that they have failed to take the trick.

Preparations are rushed. Quickly two barbers enter the deathhouse. The hair is closely clipped from the head of each of the condemned men. Those electrodes must have full play, no loose hair must be there to serve as a barrier to those 1,900 volts.

Neither prisoner is shaken. Thompson requests that the wish of his wife, that she get his hair, be granted. He even assists the barber in picking up a few loose strands that have fallen on the floor. Moss chats to what the final order will be. The two condemned men are mercifully spared any false hopes. Time drags along. Chaplain Atkins has visited the men and his comfort has borne rich fruits. Both appear resigned to their fate. Thompson, quiet and unexcited, sits in his cell, gazing into space. He cannot read, and therefore is dependent on his own thoughts for company in this grave hour. The negro, Moss, is talkative and, if such a condition can be imagined at such a time, really seems happy. Both profess their readiness and lack of fear of death.

Noon and dinner is served. Thompson, as has been his custom for the few days, eats practically nothing. Jim eats with a relish, no longer with quaint humor that "this is one more meal than I had expected to enjoy."

The telephone bell rings. Atlanta is calling Superintendent Dunaway. At last the suspense is over. It is the governor, the line rings, a few seconds it will be known whether two men are to die or a slight respite is to be given. Mr. Dunaway, this is Governor Hardman speaking. I decline to interfere in the case of Clifford Thompson and Jim Moss.

Superintendent Dunaway repeats the message to make sure there is no mistake. He hangs up the receiver. Last Hope Vanishes. All know that the two men played their last card in the game of life and that they have failed to take the trick.

Preparations are rushed. Quickly two barbers enter the deathhouse. The hair is closely clipped from the head of each of the condemned men. Those electrodes must have full play, no loose hair must be there to serve as a barrier to those 1,900 volts.

Neither prisoner is shaken. Thompson requests that the wish of his wife, that she get his hair, be granted. He even assists the barber in picking up a few loose strands that have fallen on the floor. Moss chats to what the final order will be. The two condemned men are mercifully spared any false hopes. Time drags along. Chaplain Atkins has visited the men and his comfort has borne rich fruits. Both appear resigned to their fate. Thompson, quiet and unexcited, sits in his cell, gazing into space. He cannot read, and therefore is dependent on his own thoughts for company in this grave hour. The negro, Moss, is talkative and, if such a condition can be imagined at such a time, really seems happy. Both profess their readiness and lack of fear of death.

Noon and dinner is served. Thompson, as has been his custom for the few days, eats practically nothing. Jim eats with a relish, no longer with quaint humor that "this is one more meal than I had expected to enjoy."

The telephone bell rings. Atlanta is calling Superintendent Dunaway. At last the suspense is over. It is the governor, the line rings, a few seconds it will be known whether two men are to die or a slight respite is to be given. Mr. Dunaway, this is Governor Hardman speaking. I decline to interfere in the case of Clifford Thompson and Jim Moss.

Superintendent Dunaway repeats the message to make sure there is no mistake. He hangs up the receiver. Last Hope Vanishes. All know that the two men played their last card in the game of life and that they have failed to take the trick.

Preparations are rushed. Quickly two barbers enter the deathhouse. The hair is closely clipped from the head of each of the condemned men. Those electrodes must have full play, no loose hair must be there to serve as a barrier to those 1,900 volts.

Neither prisoner is shaken. Thompson requests that the wish of his wife, that she get his hair, be granted. He even assists the barber in picking up a few loose strands that have fallen on the floor. Moss chats to what the final order will be. The two condemned men are mercifully spared any false hopes. Time drags along. Chaplain Atkins has visited the men and his comfort has borne rich fruits. Both appear resigned to their fate. Thompson, quiet and unexcited, sits in his cell, gazing into space. He cannot read, and therefore is dependent on his own thoughts for company in this grave hour. The negro, Moss, is talkative and, if such a condition can be imagined at such a time, really seems happy. Both profess their readiness and lack of fear of death.

Wife's Confession Fails To Save Thompson

Photo by George Cornett, Staff Photographer.

Mrs. Eula Thompson lying on a cot in Fulton tower Friday afternoon at the hour her husband was executed at Milledgeville for the murder of Coleman Osborne. Mrs. Thompson refused to add to her confession of Thursday night, and although she knew her husband was dying declined to talk. She appeared to be in a haze at the time.

joyously with newspapermen, flashing his golden smile. Says he is ready and as the clippers finish their hurried reminiscences about his battling average. For this Jim Moss was a great negro ball player a few years back, playing one of the leading negro teams of the country. Strange to hear a man who is to face death, less than 20 minutes talking about his batting average. He breaks into the baseball discussion from long enough to inquire if his family have made arrangements to have his body sent to Tennessee. Satisfied on this subject, he lights a cigarette. The hand that guides the match is as steady as a doctor's hand about to perform the most delicate of operations. The man's nerve is really remarkable.

"Let My Wife Go." Quickly I go along the cell tier and pause in front of Thompson's cell. "Not afraid, are you, Clifford?" I ask.

The mild blue eyes look full into my own and a quiet, calm voice answers: "No, sir. I am innocent of this crime." Then he added, his voice strangely natural, "I have one last thing to say to you. . . . Tell my wife—there is a bare hint of tremor in his voice—"tell my wife that I am glad that she said what she did in the letter to me and that I will meet her in heaven."

Another pause, and Clifford Thompson again says: "I have this to say to the world. I hope they let my wife go. The bloodstains of two men on Murray county ought to be enough to satisfy the public for this crime."

A Quiet Interlude. A hush falls over the deathhouse. The witnesses assemble in the death chamber. The final curtain in this drama, where human life plays the leading role, is about to rise. Through the little steel door, scarcely seven paces from the grim-looking oak chair, the chair of death, walks the slight figure of a man. His head is erect, no tremor about his neck. He walks straight and true without aid to that chair and takes his seat. Casually his quiet gaze wanders around the room. His glance quickly passes over the score of persons assembled for this weird drama and then comes to rest on his native land, the blue sky that is seen through the upper part of the window that faces the east. His gaze is in direct line with the blue sky, and he looks on it with a steady gaze. The blue sky that is seen through the upper part of the window that faces the east. His gaze is in direct line with the blue sky, and he looks on it with a steady gaze.

Light lightning the attendants fasten the straps. The electrodes are fastened, one to his head like a football helmet, the other to his right leg between the knee and the calf. Attendants work fast under such conditions. This is the worst part of the whole business. The rubber cloth is fastened over his eyes. He is asked if he wishes to say anything. A hush falls over the deathhouse. The witnesses assemble in the death chamber. The final curtain in this drama, where human life plays the leading role, is about to rise.

Through the little steel door, scarcely seven paces from the grim-looking oak chair, the chair of death, walks the slight figure of a man. His head is erect, no tremor about his neck. He walks straight and true without aid to that chair and takes his seat. Casually his quiet gaze wanders around the room. His glance quickly passes over the score of persons assembled for this weird drama and then comes to rest on his native land, the blue sky that is seen through the upper part of the window that faces the east. His gaze is in direct line with the blue sky, and he looks on it with a steady gaze.

Light lightning the attendants fasten the straps. The electrodes are fastened, one to his head like a football helmet, the other to his right leg between the knee and the calf. Attendants work fast under such conditions. This is the worst part of the whole business. The rubber cloth is fastened over his eyes. He is asked if he wishes to say anything. A hush falls over the deathhouse. The witnesses assemble in the death chamber. The final curtain in this drama, where human life plays the leading role, is about to rise.

Through the little steel door, scarcely seven paces from the grim-looking oak chair, the chair of death, walks the slight figure of a man. His head is erect, no tremor about his neck. He walks straight and true without aid to that chair and takes his seat. Casually his quiet gaze wanders around the room. His glance quickly passes over the score of persons assembled for this weird drama and then comes to rest on his native land, the blue sky that is seen through the upper part of the window that faces the east. His gaze is in direct line with the blue sky, and he looks on it with a steady gaze.

Light lightning the attendants fasten the straps. The electrodes are fastened, one to his head like a football helmet, the other to his right leg between the knee and the calf. Attendants work fast under such conditions. This is the worst part of the whole business. The rubber cloth is fastened over his eyes. He is asked if he wishes to say anything. A hush falls over the deathhouse. The witnesses assemble in the death chamber. The final curtain in this drama, where human life plays the leading role, is about to rise.

Through the little steel door, scarcely seven paces from the grim-looking oak chair, the chair of death, walks the slight figure of a man. His head is erect, no tremor about his neck. He walks straight and true without aid to that chair and takes his seat. Casually his quiet gaze wanders around the room. His glance quickly passes over the score of persons assembled for this weird drama and then comes to rest on his native land, the blue sky that is seen through the upper part of the window that faces the east. His gaze is in direct line with the blue sky, and he looks on it with a steady gaze.

Light lightning the attendants fasten the straps. The electrodes are fastened, one to his head like a football helmet, the other to his right leg between the knee and the calf. Attendants work fast under such conditions. This is the worst part of the whole business. The rubber cloth is fastened over his eyes. He is asked if he wishes to say anything. A hush falls over the deathhouse. The witnesses assemble in the death chamber. The final curtain in this drama, where human life plays the leading role, is about to rise.

Through the little steel door, scarcely seven paces from the grim-looking oak chair, the chair of death, walks the slight figure of a man. His head is erect, no tremor about his neck. He walks straight and true without aid to that chair and takes his seat. Casually his quiet gaze wanders around the room. His glance quickly passes over the score of persons assembled for this weird drama and then comes to rest on his native land, the blue sky that is seen through the upper part of the window that faces the east. His gaze is in direct line with the blue sky, and he looks on it with a steady gaze.

Light lightning the attendants fasten the straps. The electrodes are fastened, one to his head like a football helmet, the other to his right leg between the knee and the calf. Attendants work fast under such conditions. This is the worst part of the whole business. The rubber cloth is fastened over his eyes. He is asked if he wishes to say anything. A hush falls over the deathhouse. The witnesses assemble in the death chamber. The final curtain in this drama, where human life plays the leading role, is about to rise.

Through the little steel door, scarcely seven paces from the grim-looking oak chair, the chair of death, walks the slight figure of a man. His head is erect, no tremor about his neck. He walks straight and true without aid to that chair and takes his seat. Casually his quiet gaze wanders around the room. His glance quickly passes over the score of persons assembled for this weird drama and then comes to rest on his native land, the blue sky that is seen through the upper part of the window that faces the east. His gaze is in direct line with the blue sky, and he looks on it with a steady gaze.

Light lightning the attendants fasten the straps. The electrodes are fastened, one to his head like a football helmet, the other to his right leg between the knee and the calf. Attendants work fast under such conditions. This is the worst part of the whole business. The rubber cloth is fastened over his eyes. He is asked if he wishes to say anything. A hush falls over the deathhouse. The witnesses assemble in the death chamber. The final curtain in this drama, where human life plays the leading role, is about to rise.

Through the little steel door, scarcely seven paces from the grim-looking oak chair, the chair of death, walks the slight figure of a man. His head is erect, no tremor about his neck. He walks straight and true without aid to that chair and takes his seat. Casually his quiet gaze wanders around the room. His glance quickly passes over the score of persons assembled for this weird drama and then comes to rest on his native land, the blue sky that is seen through the upper part of the window that faces the east. His gaze is in direct line with the blue sky, and he looks on it with a steady gaze.

Light lightning the attendants fasten the straps. The electrodes are fastened, one to his head like a football helmet, the other to his right leg between the knee and the calf. Attendants work fast under such conditions. This is the worst part of the whole business. The rubber cloth is fastened over his eyes. He is asked if he wishes to say anything. A hush falls over the deathhouse. The witnesses assemble in the death chamber. The final curtain in this drama, where human life plays the leading role, is about to rise.

Through the little steel door, scarcely seven paces from the grim-looking oak chair, the chair of death, walks the slight figure of a man. His head is erect, no tremor about his neck. He walks straight and true without aid to that chair and takes his seat. Casually his quiet gaze wanders around the room. His glance quickly passes over the score of persons assembled for this weird drama and then comes to rest on his native land, the blue sky that is seen through the upper part of the window that faces the east. His gaze is in direct line with the blue sky, and he looks on it with a steady gaze.

Light lightning the attendants fasten the straps. The electrodes are fastened, one to his head like a football helmet, the other to his right leg between the knee and the calf. Attendants work fast under such conditions. This is the worst part of the whole business. The rubber cloth is fastened over his eyes. He is asked if he wishes to say anything. A hush falls over the deathhouse. The witnesses assemble in the death chamber. The final curtain in this drama, where human life plays the leading role, is about to rise.

er of Murray county, about fifty-odd years of age. He is a man of a family, the solicitor said, and is well thought of in his community. It was understood that Swan was acquainted with Mrs. Thompson, Mr. Mitchell asserted, but he added that he had no credence in the eleventh-hour confession of the woman, in so far as it concerned Swan and the negro, Lowry.

And that is the way two brave men paid their debt to society.

HARDMAN DECLINES TO GRANT RESPIRE

In the face of a confession by Mrs. Eula Thompson that she conspired with B. W. Swan, of Etowah, Tenn., to kill Coleman Osborne, Murray county, and that her husband, Clifford Thompson, and Jim Hugh Moss, negro, were innocent of the crime, Governor L. G. Hardman declined Friday to interfere in the case and Thompson and Moss were electrocuted at Milledgeville.

Governor Hardman granted the two men a two-hour stay when he called up the warden at Milledgeville and instructed him to postpone the execution until further notice, but later he telephone the warden to carry out the verdict and issued a statement expressing the belief that the two men were guilty and that the verdict of the court was a just one.

Before ordering that the executions proceed the governor discussed the case with S. Johnston, attorney for the condemned men, and also talked to Murray county officials over long-distance telephone. In his statement, the governor said the county officials "lacked faith" in the affidavit of Mrs. Thompson. The governor also based his decision on the case on the fact that the confession of the woman, in so far as it concerned Swan and the negro, Lowry, was not credible.

Attorney S. Johnston appeared before the governor and stated to the governor that the confession of Mrs. Thompson brought at least two new names into the case and that there was enough plausibility in her story to warrant the governor in granting the two men a stay of execution. He said whether or not the confession of Mrs. Thompson was true he felt that the governor should have granted him with the time enough to investigate and see how much of the story was true and to prevent beyond the shadow of any doubt the execution of innocent men.

Mrs. Thompson, however, in her confession Thursday night and the story was printed in Friday's Constitution. In rendering the confession the governor immediately took action in the case by instructing the warden to postpone the double execution until further notice.

Investigation, ordered the execution to proceed and issued the following statement outlining his position in the case:

"In re: Clifford Thompson (white) and Jim Hugh Moss (negro), convicted of the murder of Coleman Osborne and sentenced to death. 'After hearing from the attorneys of the defendants, Jim Moss and Clifford Thompson, on the matter of a respite; one attorney being A. S. Johnston, of Atlanta, and the other an attorney from Tennessee, and after making investigation as best I could, I decline the respite of Jim Moss and Clifford Thompson who were found guilty of murder of Coleman Osborne in the superior court of Murray county at the August, 1927, term.'

"The attorneys have had a year to consider the matter and make investigations. The prison commission have given me a full report on the case and I decline to interfere in the case of Clifford Thompson and Jim Moss and decline to interfere with the verdict as rendered by the jury."

"This 3rd day of August, 1928. 'L. G. HARDMAN, Governor.'"

TO TAKE NO ACTION AGAINST SWAN. An action was taken against B. W. Swan, named in the sworn confession of Mrs. Eula Thompson in jail in Atlanta in connection with the murder of Coleman Osborne, Solicitor General John Mitchell, of the Dalton circuit, declared late today.

Neither will any steps be taken to apprehend or prosecute the man named by Mrs. Thompson as an accessory in the murder of Osborne, for whose death Clifford Thompson, her husband, and Jim Hugh Moss, a negro, were electrocuted Friday, Mr. Mitchell said.

Swan, who could not be reached for a statement Friday, was described by Solicitor Mitchell as a well-to-do farmer of Murray county, about fifty-odd years of age. He is a man of a family, the solicitor said, and is well thought of in his community. It was understood that Swan was acquainted with Mrs. Thompson, Mr. Mitchell asserted, but he added that he had no credence in the eleventh-hour confession of the woman, in so far as it concerned Swan and the negro, Lowry.

And that is the way two brave men paid their debt to society.

er of Murray county, about fifty-odd years of age. He is a man of a family, the solicitor said, and is well thought of in his community. It was understood that Swan was acquainted with Mrs. Thompson, Mr. Mitchell asserted, but he added that he had no credence in the eleventh-hour confession of the woman, in so far as it concerned Swan and the negro, Lowry.

And that is the way two brave men paid their debt to society.

er of Murray county, about fifty-odd years of age. He is a man of a family, the solicitor said, and is well thought of in his community. It was understood that Swan was acquainted with Mrs. Thompson, Mr. Mitchell asserted, but he added that he had no credence in the eleventh-hour confession of the woman, in so far as it concerned Swan and the negro, Lowry.

And that is the way two brave men paid their debt to society.

er of Murray county, about fifty-odd years of age. He is a man of a family, the solicitor said, and is well thought of in his community. It was understood that Swan was acquainted with Mrs. Thompson, Mr. Mitchell asserted, but he added that he had no credence in the eleventh-hour confession of the woman, in so far as it concerned Swan and the negro, Lowry.

COURTNEY WRITES OF BLAZING PLANE

Continued from First Page.

erly winds changing to strong westerly winds. I decided to fly the southerly course in order to put the head winds more abeam as we finished the trip.

We expected to arrive at Newfoundland in 70 hours. Our compass and course were checked on floors and everything was correct with the weather fine.

We were flying three hours the moon rose but it was gradually blanketed by increasing clouds. I decided that the best height to fly was 1,500 feet. The other men in the ship were comfortably stowed and enjoying the ride.

Wireless Works. Hugh Gilmour, our radio man, got the wireless working and a steamship informed us that the wind was north, while another somewhere ahead reported it northwest. This was quite different from the forecast and I started to recalculate our course. While doing this I lost sight of the sun and sky and towards 11 o'clock, Greenwich mean time we encountered a heavy storm. We flew through a blinding heavy rain and hit many ferocious bumps which was very trying on our heavily loaded ship. The clouds were so thick that sometimes our engine exhaust flames failed to reveal the wing tips.

But the sight of the flames showed perfect carburation. I was glad that the engines ran perfectly and our instruments behaved so accurately that I began to develop the feeling of absolute certainty of our arrival at Newfoundland and didn't care two hoots if it rained all the way.

Rainfall Stops. After two hours the rain stopped but I was still flying blind at about 1,800 feet. I climbed to inspect the top of the clouds which I found at 3,500 feet. I decided this was too high to encounter the adverse winds. So I descended experimentally and came out below the clouds at 1,000 feet. It was too dark to see the ground and I decided to maintain a height of not less than 1,000 feet in case of barometer changes causing altimeter error.

At 2:15 o'clock the clouds began to break up and the moon was occasionally glimpsed. I climbed to 1,500 feet and was discussing with the pilot, Fred Pierce, our mechanic, when I saw the most horrible sight in my whole flying career.

Engine in Flames. Looking back I was stunned to see the rear engine enveloped in flames, which even as I looked stretched out like a giant blowlamp rearwards over the seat occupied by Elwood Hosmer, my Canadian backer, and beyond the rudder and tail.

In the darkness the whole machine must have appeared like a grotesque red comet. I managed to put the machine down on one crest, ran down a hill of water, up the next hill, and just prevented the machine from shooting into the air off the next crest. After several considerable jolts the machine came to rest undamaged. I ought to have been astonished, but I had passed that stage.

A new danger now arose. During our descent Pierce had amazingly succeeded in turning off the cocks and applying a fire extinguisher inside the engine room and the flames instead of streaming over the side, were

John R. Slater Is Chosen To Direct Party Campaign For Al Smith in Georgia

Douglas Mayor Accepts Charge of Democratic Drive; Atlanta To Be Headquarters.

Douglas, Ga., August 3.—(AP)—John R. Slater, mayor of Douglas, today announced his acceptance of the invitation extended to him by the democratic party leaders to assume charge of the democratic presidential campaign in Georgia. He will open headquarters at the Piedmont hotel in Atlanta next week.

Mr. Slater said that he will select his assistants and give immediate attention to the organization of strong democratic clubs in every county of the state. He will form these clubs, he said, in cooperation with the members of the state democratic executive committee and the members of the county democratic executive committees.

Mr. Slater was asked to take charge of the campaign by G. Ed Maddox, chairman of the state democratic executive committee; Major John S. Cohen, democratic national committeeman, and Mrs. Edgar Alexander, democratic national committeewoman.

Accepts as Duty.
In accepting the place of campaign manager, Mr. Slater said that it would mean a considerable sacrifice to his private interests but "I feel that the democratic party and its success mean so much to this state and the south that it is a patriotic duty to answer its call for service."

A native of Valdosta, Mr. Slater graduated with first honors from the high school there and later from Vanderbilt university. He entered the law school of the University of Georgia in 1917 and a few months later volunteered for service in the world war. He became a captain in the 321st field artillery of the 82nd division, which trained at Camp Gordon, Atlanta. With that division he participated in the St. Mihiel and Meuse-Argonne offensives.

At the close of the war he completed his law course and began the practice of law in Valdosta, but a few months later accepted an appointment as assistant attorney general of the United States, under Attorney General A. Mitchell Palmer. After Wilson's administration went out of office Mr. Slater located in Douglas for the practice of law. He is now serving his second term as mayor. He is a former president of the Douglas chamber of commerce and the Douglas Kiwanis club.

Prominent in Party.
Mr. Slater is an intimate friend of both Senator Walter F. George and Senator William J. Harris. He was chosen by Senator George as a delegate to the recent national convention of the democratic party at Houston. Mr. Slater likewise is regarded in the highest esteem by all others in the important councils of the party.

The state campaign director is but 36 years of age. Despite his youth, however, he has attained notable distinctions, including his high office during the Wilson administration and in military service during the world war. He is a member of the Douglas firm of Slater & Moore and is a director of the Georgia and Florida railroad.

Mr. Slater is an active member of the Church of Christ at Douglas and is himself a Sunday school teacher. Among his community activities he is a member of the local chamber of commerce and Kiwanis club; president of the Union Banking company, of Douglas, and a director of the Ashley Trust company, of Valdosta.

He is now serving his second term as mayor of Douglas and has served as president of the Georgia association, of which he is an active member at present, and as president of the local Kiwanis club and chamber of commerce.

ABBOTT TO ADDRESS ATLANTA SALESMEN

D. C. Abbott, for the past five years president of the City Salesmen's association of Savannah, will be the principal speaker at 11:30 o'clock this morning at the weekly meeting of the Atlanta City Salesmen's association. The session will be held on the fourth floor of the city hall.

Mayor I. N. Ragsdale will present Mr. Abbott to the local salesmen, and T. L. Simpson, president of the local organization will preside. Mr. Abbott heads the organization which officially entertained the Atlanta salesmen on their vacation trip to Savannah several weeks ago.

The local association is rapidly increasing its membership, officials announced, and plans will be laid for a drive intended to enroll every eligible person in Fulton county.

HOOVER FINISHES WORK ON SPEECH

BY JAMES L. WEST.
Associated Press Staff Writer.

Stanford University, Calif., August 3.—(AP)—Herbert Hoover had unburdened himself tonight of the long and arduous task of preparing the address which he is to deliver here a week from tomorrow formally accepting the republican nomination for president.

The completed draft of the speech, which makes about 6,000 words, of five full columns of newspaper type, was sent back to the printer late in the day after the nominee had labored all day with it, assisted at times by William J. Donovan, assistant to the United States attorney general, and foremost in Hoover's general of advisers.

Ready Now for Rest.
With the address out of the way, the republican candidate prepared for a week-end of rest and recreation. It was stated that he would leave here soon after noon tomorrow for the grove far beyond San Francisco bay to the north where the Bohemian club of the Golden Gate city will stage its annual play, "High Jinx," tomorrow night in a sylvan theater. Hoover long has been a member of this club.

The commerce secretary had no engagements for tomorrow, but his time next week will be taken up with farm relief, prohibition and a number of other questions of the hour were being made, but admittedly there was an entire lack of concrete information, as the substance as well as the text of the address has been carefully guarded by Hoover and those who have been assisting him.

Here in California chief interest centers around whether the nominee will have anything to say about the power industry, a subject which Secretary Hiram W. Johnson has made the big issue in his campaign for reelection. There is no doubt that the senator desires to make a strong statement against the operations of the organizations which he contends have spent large sums of money to block one or more of his bills.

Among the 12 to be present will be five sons, namely, Judge R. W. Pittman, of Seminole, Texas; Judge Claude C. Pittman, of Cartersville, Ga.; who presides over the Cherokee judicial circuit; Griff R. Pittman, of the First National bank, Okla. City; Ross H. Pittman, of the Shields-Hawkins Chevrolet company of La Fayette, and Carter Pittman, a young attorney of Dalton, Ga. There are seven girls, namely, Mrs. C. H. Franklin, principal of Central grammar school, Miami, Fla.; Mrs. C. H. Hinson, supervisor of teachers in the Miami school system; Mrs. J. A. Shields and Mrs. A. M. Greene, of La Fayette; Mrs. Nelson E. Ward, of Cartersville; Mrs. H. C. Shelton, of Brighton, N. J.; and Miss Rena Pittman, of Villanova.

R. M. Pittman, the father of the family, is a Confederate veteran, 88 years of age and still active about the farm upon which the family was reared. Mrs. Pittman, who is 70 years of age and remains the appearance and vigor of a woman of 45. This will be the first opportunity that the family has had in 20 years to be with all of their children at one time.

3 CHILDREN DROWN WHEN CAR PLUNGES INTO SATILLA RIVER
Waycross, Ga., August 3.—(Special).—Three children of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Aspinwall, of Offerman, Ga., were drowned when their father drove an automobile into the Satilla river, the car plunging into approximately 15 feet of water.

The tragedy occurred between Patterson and Hortense, the Aspinwall family having left Offerman early in the evening for a five-day fishing trip on the Satilla.

Belle, aged eight; Ward, aged six, and Lyle, aged three, were drowned before they could be rescued from the car. Mr. and Mrs. Aspinwall, three children, Hazel, Lyle and Belle, and an elderly man who accompanied the family on the trip, escaped.

Mr. Aspinwall was lost, it is believed, and drove abruptly off a bluff into the river, thinking that the blind road led along the river bank instead of terminating at the bluff's edge.

MISSING YACHT ANCHORS IN BAY AT SPANISH PORT
Santander, Spain, August 3.—(AP).—The yacht Azara, which had been missing in the trans-Atlantic race for the king's cup, was towed into the bay this morning and anchored in front of the royal palace.

The crew of the yacht, which left New York on July 7, explained that they had lost the bearings and sailed into a calm. They had been receiving wireless messages and learned of the search for them. They were unable to reply because their transmitting apparatus had failed.

E. E. Greiner and Ted Rippengill were the first of the Azara crew to come ashore. They said they had excellent breeze during the first six days of navigation, then they had five days of bad weather. From July 22 they encountered calm, not being able to move an inch for hours and hours. It took them until July 30 to enter Spanish waters under the impetus of light breezes.

At one stage they were for four days without moving from the same position under a suffocating sun. They added:

"Fresh water was getting low, so we took steps to make it last. We had plenty of food and still have a good supply on board."

Prohibition Agents Will Be Provided With Uniform Caps
Uniform caps bearing insignia of the prohibition service will be worn by federal prohibition agents in the northern district of Georgia while on patrol duty beginning September 1, according to an order received Friday by E. P. Wright, deputy administrator, from Commissioner J. M. Doran.

The caps will be worn to enable the officers to identify themselves as authorized agents of the government on patrol duty. The agents also are to wear badges on the lapels of their coats while on patrol work. The caps will be of value when officers are compelled to stop automobiles traveling at night or in the early morning, Mr. Wright said.

Police War On Clubs Rids New Orleans of Gamblers

CRESCENT CITY LOSES COLORFUL COTERIE

New Orleans, August 3.—(United News).—Gentlemen of fortune, who always add to the glamor and romance of a city, no matter how disreputable, were quitting New Orleans today.

This city, which has proved a veritable gold mine for the gambler, has shaken down on him so firmly that even his coins can't jingle, and as for his poker chips, they are carefully tucked away in a corner of his grip, outward bound.

Social Clubs Raided.
New Orleans business men started it. Governor Huey P. Long gave it impetus. The police department followed and added the final blow, in spite of injunctions, threats and many protests.

Poker clubs which for a long while found protection behind their charters as "social clubs," are becoming less certain of themselves and what was left, was diminished materially when Superintendent of Police Thomas Healy ordered raids on all places where gambling has been known to flourish.

Superintendent Healy said he believes he can control gambling in the city. He has ordered the character of clubs in hand. Most of the gambling is done behind their locked doors.

PITTMANS TO GATHER IN BIG FAMILY REUNION
Dalton, Ga., August 3.—(Special).—The family of Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Pittman will gather Sunday at the family homestead at Villanova, between Dalton and La Fayette, for a reunion.

In many respects this will be the reunion of one of the most remarkable families in north Georgia. There are 12 children, all of whom are living and practically all of whom have acquired college educations by their own efforts. The combined school-years to the credit of the 12 children represent over 160 years spent in schools and universities, and nearly a score of colleges and universities may claim one or more of them as alumni.

Among the 12 to be present will be five sons, namely, Judge R. W. Pittman, of Seminole, Texas; Judge Claude C. Pittman, of Cartersville, Ga.; who presides over the Cherokee judicial circuit; Griff R. Pittman, of the First National bank, Okla. City; Ross H. Pittman, of the Shields-Hawkins Chevrolet company of La Fayette, and Carter Pittman, a young attorney of Dalton, Ga. There are seven girls, namely, Mrs. C. H. Franklin, principal of Central grammar school, Miami, Fla.; Mrs. C. H. Hinson, supervisor of teachers in the Miami school system; Mrs. J. A. Shields and Mrs. A. M. Greene, of La Fayette; Mrs. Nelson E. Ward, of Cartersville; Mrs. H. C. Shelton, of Brighton, N. J.; and Miss Rena Pittman, of Villanova.

R. M. Pittman, the father of the family, is a Confederate veteran, 88 years of age and still active about the farm upon which the family was reared. Mrs. Pittman, who is 70 years of age and remains the appearance and vigor of a woman of 45. This will be the first opportunity that the family has had in 20 years to be with all of their children at one time.

MAN SLAYS WIFE AND KILLS SELF AT WILLIAMSBURG
Williamsburg, Ga., August 3.—(AP).—Noah Lee Mathis, said to be a resident of Albany, Ga., slashed and shot his wife to death here today and then committed suicide in the same manner following what was believed to have been an argument between them over a reconciliation. The couple had been separated for some time.

Mathis first attacked his wife with a knife, slashing her throat, and then fired two shots into her body. He slashed his own throat and then shot himself through the head. Both died within a few minutes.

DON'T GET EXCITED: ON SECOND THOUGHT HE'LL TAKE MONEY
New York, August 3.—Claude R. Link earns $40 a week as a messenger and does not want a million. He so expressed himself when he was informed that he and his ill mother had inherited $2,000,000 or so from the estate of her father, L. A. Birger, who died in Hutchinson, Kan., but he amended that he would accept for his mother's sake.

GIANT MISSOURI INSURANCE MERGER PLAN IS PROPOSED
St. Louis, August 3.—(AP).—Stockholders in the International Life Insurance company will meet August 13 to consider a proposal for its absorption by the Missouri State Life Insurance company. It was announced today. Officials of the two companies said if the plans were approved it would be the largest insurance merger of record and would give St. Louis the largest legal reserve life insurance company west of the Mississippi river with more than one billion dollars in assets.

COLORED METHODISTS INDORSE CHURCH PLANS
Grantville, Ga., August 3.—(Special).—Thursday's session of the 33d Methodist Episcopal (colored) conference of the Atlanta district heard reports from the district stewards and Sunday school superintendents. Rev. J. W. Moore presented to the conference the Greater-Central church plan, which is to be erected in Atlanta. The plan of the church was endorsed by the members and a committee appointed to look into the possibilities of erecting a minister's home on a lot given by Mrs. Lee (white) of Grantville.

The spiritual bread of the noon hour was broken by Rev. C. G. Gist, pastor.

Red Tape Bars Rescue.
Washington, August 3.—(United News).—Diplomatic red tape prevented United States coast guard vessels from going to the assistance of a disabled schooner, with 23 men aboard, off the Bahama islands today. A distress radio was received, but the United States had agreed to keep coast guard boats out of British territorial waters.

LOVE ANALYZES VOTE IN TEXAS

Dallas, Texas, August 3.—(AP).—Thomas B. Love, Texas anti-Smith leader, and candidate for lieutenant governor, declared in a statement issued here last night that "few things can be more certain than that if all the democrats who voted for me in last Saturday's primary vote against Al Smith in November he will lose Texas' electoral vote."

The former state senator was the only state candidate to actively fight the election of Governor Alfred E. Smith who survived the democratic primary.

He was one of the organizers of the national ticket "bolt" in the state, and ran second for the nomination. Barry Miller, incumbent, polled 304,631 votes, Love 199,298, and about 162,000 votes were scattered among other candidates. Miller and Love will enter a run-off primary August 25.

"Of the 700,000 votes cast," Love declared, "more than 100,000 were given me with the distinct knowledge and understanding that I am opposed to Governor Smith. This vote was given me notwithstanding my name was taken off the ballot in a number of counties. I, therefore, received substantially 30 per cent of the vote."

"A change of 30 per cent of the democratic vote cast in 1924 through out the United States to the republican column not only would result in a presidential majority of 1,500,000 votes, but would elect republican presidential electors in 42 states."

A notable feature of the primary was that there were about 150,000 fewer votes cast than in the last primary election. A large number of these stay-at-home voters resided in anti-Smith strongholds. It is safe to say that substantially every Al Smith supporter registered his vote, and that most of the voters who stayed away from the polls are deter-

Couple, Sought In Florida Death, Reported Seen

New Smyrna, Fla., August 3.—(AP).—A young couple answering the description of Mr. and Mrs. Elsie L. Booth, newly-weds of St. Petersburg, Ohio, sought in connection with the recent murder at Lake City of the girl's aged grandfather, George W. Simmons, stopped here early Wednesday morning, police announced today.

The couple, who bore a striking resemblance to the Booths, authorities said, deserted a half finished breakfast in a restaurant here immediately after a morning newspaper containing pictures of the fugitive couple had been placed before them on the lunch counter. They rushed out of the restaurant and quickly disappeared in a roadster.

Molly DeLoach, a waitress who served the couple, asked them if they were leaving because they did not like their breakfast. When the man replied that the food was all right she asked him if they were motoring north.

"Yes, I guess so," the waitress quoted the man as saying as they rushed to an automobile outside and disappeared.

A filling station operator, who had seen the pictures of the fugitive couple in the morning paper, came into the cafe shortly afterwards. He said the couple, which had just left the restaurant, had stopped at his station for gasoline, and that he, too, had noticed them. They resembled the Booths. The missing couple was charged with the murder of Simmons shortly after the body of the aged man with the skull crushed, was found along a highway near Lake City. The Booths disappeared on the night of the killing but have not been apprehended.

It was stated tonight that he was "doing nicely", but that it would be some weeks before he would be able to leave.

Stone came here this morning with his daughter, Paula, from his summer home in Lyme, in the plane piloted by Lieutenant John L. Campbell, his flight instructor. After the trio landed Stone took over the controls and was in the air only ten minutes when he encountered motor difficulties. As he was flying low he could not prevent the plane from swinging into a dive, and he came down with terrific force. The nose of the plane burying itself into the ground.

$12 Wrightsville Beach, N. C.
$12 Myrtle Beach, S. C.
Tickets good 10 days, in sale Thursday and Saturday. Through sleepers. GEORGIA RAILROAD—(adv.)

INJURY MAY END CLOWN'S CAREER

New London, Conn., August 3.—(AP).—Fred Stone, who by his antics on the stage has provoked mirth to theatergoers for nearly half a century, may have to forego his career as a result of injuries he suffered in a plane crash near the Gorton airport today.

The veteran comedian suffered a double compound fracture of the left leg, fractured right thigh, fractured lower jaw, fractured left wrist, dislocation of the left ankle and right shoulder, lacerations of the scalp and hands, and abrasions of the face.

Stone has been practicing of late to fly in his biplane with the intention of getting a pilot's license. This morning, while in the air alone, he went into a nose dive when his motor failed him and he was pinned beneath the wreckage when he crashed into a bed of beets on a farm near the airport. He was hurried to a hospital here in an unconscious condition.

It was stated tonight that he was "doing nicely", but that it would be some weeks before he would be able to leave.

Stone came here this morning with his daughter, Paula, from his summer home in Lyme, in the plane piloted by Lieutenant John L. Campbell, his flight instructor. After the trio landed Stone took over the controls and was in the air only ten minutes when he encountered motor difficulties. As he was flying low he could not prevent the plane from swinging into a dive, and he came down with terrific force. The nose of the plane burying itself into the ground.

$12 Wrightsville Beach, N. C.
$12 Myrtle Beach, S. C.
Tickets good 10 days, in sale Thursday and Saturday. Through sleepers. GEORGIA RAILROAD—(adv.)

Don't Let the Heat Bother You!

SHREDDED WHEAT

12 ounces full-size biscuits

Crisp crunchy, oven-baked -- keeps you fit on hot days -- Easy to digest Refreshing with cool milk and fruit

TRISCUIT A real whole-wheat cracker

MADE AT NIAGARA FALLS • VISITORS WELCOME

if You Want Ideal REFRIGERATION At the Lowest Cost

USE ICE

The ideal refrigeration for the home is the method that best preserves food products and makes available an unlimited amount of actual ice for the hundreds of uses for which ice has no substitute.

It is true, fortunately, that the one method of refrigeration that most nearly fulfills these essential requirements is also far and away the most economical of all methods of refrigeration—and that method is a good refrigerator well filled with pure ice.

City Ice Delivery Company

267 Peachtree Walnut 1287

SAVE WITH ICE

OPEN SATURDAY EVENINGS TILL 9 P. M.

Opening Saturday August 4 of the new

College SLIPPER SHOP

120 ALABAMA ST., S. W. BETWEEN WHITEHALL AND BROAD

"Shoes for the Moderns"

Here you will find at all times the smartest of shoe styles, in the newest of materials, and in a size to fit you. Come today, August Fourth, and find what a marvelous store the COLLEGE is.

OVER SEVENTY STYLES ONE PRICE

THE MATERIALS: Patents, Satins, Moires in Satins or Velvets, Peccan Kid, Reptile effects, White Satins, Silver Kid, Tan or Black Calf, in fact any material that is new and different.

THE STYLES: Lovely new Pumps, Straps, Ties, Oxfords, Ensembles, Bandit Boots.

THE HEELS: High, Military or the new College Heels.

College SLIPPER SHOP

120 ALABAMA STREET, S. W. BETWEEN WHITEHALL AND BROAD

STATE TO PROBE TEXTILE STRIKE

New Bedford, Mass., August 3.—(P)—Determination of the state board of conciliation and arbitration to investigate the textile strike here, a decision made when a proposal to submit the issue involved to arbitration was rejected today by both manufacturers and strikers, met with approval on both sides tonight.

Although the branch between the manufacturers and the 28,000 striking operatives was widened by the dual rejection of the conciliatory measure, their replies to queries concerning the investigation were the same in essence. The New Bedford Cotton Manufacturers' association, which acted for the manufacturers, represents 26 corporations. The New Bedford textile council includes seven local unions claiming the majority of the unionized operatives. A ten per cent wage reduction caused the strike which now is completing the 10th week.

William E. G. Batty, secretary of the textile council declared that his organization would be glad to have the state board of conciliation and arbitration investigate the responsibility for the strike and its continuance.

Andrew Raeburn, secretary, speaking for the Manufacturers' association said, "The Manufacturers' association has no objection to the investigation." He did not elaborate on his statement.

INDIAN CREEK CHURCH TO HOLD HOMECOMING

Decatur, Ga., August 3.—(Special).—Indian Creek Baptist church, one of the oldest churches in DeKalb county, will celebrate its nineteenth anniversary Sunday with a huge homecoming rally of its present and past members.

All members of the church and friends of members of the church are cordially invited to attend the exercises. A large number of old citizens of this county now live in Atlanta and are expected to attend. A huge table has been built and an outdoor dinner will be served during the noon hour.

Rev. J. G. Walker, pastor of Indian Creek Baptist church, has arranged a splendid program and will deliver the homecoming sermon. Many former pastors are expected to be among those present, as well as a quartet from the Atlanta police force who are on the program for several songs.

TRAIN HITS STALLED AUTO; 1 DEAD, 2 HURT

Morristown, Tenn., August 3.—(P)—Mr. and Mrs. Joe Cobble are undergoing treatment at a hospital here as a result of having been injured when a train struck their automobile Wednesday night, injuring them and killing Mrs. Homer Cobble, of Knoxville.

The motor of their automobile was dead on a grade crossing at New Line, two miles west of here, just as a fast Southern railway train swept around a curve, wrecking the car setting it afire.

Mrs. Homer Cobble died after reaching the hospital here, having suffered contusions of the brain and internal injuries. Mrs. Joe Cobble received cuts about the head and Mr. Cobble had a broken leg and minor bruises. Their little daughter was cut on the arms and legs.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Cobble and little daughter, of Campbell, Fla., had been visiting relatives in East Tennessee and were on their way to the home of L. C. Berlin, of New Line, when the accident occurred.

Workers and Employers Decline Arbitration In New Bedford Strike

Boston, August 3.—(P)—Both strikers and employers involved in the textile strike at New Bedford have rejected the suggestion of the state board of conciliation and arbitration that the controversy be submitted to arbitration, Edward W. Fisher, chairman of the board, announced today.

A letter to the board from John Sullivan, president of the New Bedford Cotton Manufacturers' association, said the members of that organization had unanimously rejected the plan.

William E. G. Batty, secretary of the New Bedford Textile Council unions, wrote Mr. Fisher that the strikers had almost unanimously defeated the move.

MID-TOWN HOTEL

IN THE HEART OF ATLANTA
73 Pryor St., N. E.
Opposite Candler Bldg.
(UNDER NEW MANAGEMENT)
Full Information and Special Rates to Stone Mountain Tourists.
Inducements to Permanent Guests.

FOUNTAIN TO SPEAK AT FLIPPER TEMPLE

Members of the Amanda Flipper Memorial temple, A. M. E. church, will hold a special rally meeting at 8 o'clock Monday night at the church, at the corner of Davis and Foundry streets. Bishop W. N. Fountain will deliver the address, and special musical numbers will be rendered.

CAMPS AND LINDLEYS PLAN 43RD REUNION

Members of Camp Lindley and allied families will hold their forty-third annual reunion Wednesday, August 8, at Grant park. All members are invited to be present and urged to bring plenty of food things to eat and also to bring their family records so that additional data may be procured for the new Camp bulletin which is being prepared. Nine editions of this record book already have been printed.

MAIER & BERKELE, INC.

For Forty-one Years the Leading Jewelers of the South.
111 Peachtree St. Established 1887

Carolina Sheriff Is Given Medal For Foiling Mob

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

The commission on interracial cooperation here has awarded to Sheriff John C. Greer, of Union county, South Carolina, a bronze medal for frustrating a mob that attempted to lynch a prisoner at Union on July 30, 1927.

The citation stated that the sheriff stood off a mob of 700 persons gathered about the Union county jail in an attempt to obtain and lynch Albert Simpson, a negro, accused of shooting a white man. Greer called in his deputies and members of the local and rural police, holding off the mob until Governor Richards could send troops. The award was passed upon by a committee composed of former Governor Hugh M. Dorsey, of Atlanta; Marshall Ballard, editor of the New Orleans Item; George B. Dealey, editor of the Dallas News; and Mrs. J. H. McCoy, president of Alabama, of the Alabama bar.

When interviewed relative to the award, Sheriff Greer said: "My folks deserve the medal more than I do; they brought me up to do my duty."

ROCK ISLAND ROAD NAMES J. A. MARKS TO POSITION HERE

Announcement of the appointment of J. A. Marks as district passenger agent of the Rock Island railroad in Atlanta, succeeding C. P. Bradley, who has been named general agent, passenger department, at the Detroit offices, was made Friday from the Chicago offices of the company.

Mr. Marks has been promoted from the position of traveling passenger agent in the Atlanta office. Mr. Bradley has been district passenger agent here for the past three and a half years.

The Rock Island maintains travel bureaus in all important cities in the United States. The Atlanta office at 610 Healey building was opened three and a half years ago after it was found that the importance of Atlanta merited such an office.

HUMPHREYS HELD ON LIQUOR CHARGE DESPITE DENIAL

Although he claimed that he was not the liquor at his home, Jack Humphreys, of 906 Highland view, was held for the federal grand jury under $500 bond Friday afternoon by United States Commissioner E. S. Griffith.

Humphreys said that whisky was brought to the house by another person. Officers testified that two gallons and two pints of whisky were found in the home, and that 39 gallons of whisky were found in a coupe. Officer J. A. Allen said that while he was waiting near the house while working on the case, he overheard Mrs. Humphreys scold her husband about "not making an honest living and keeping her scared to death."

Mrs. Humphreys, who had been brought before the commissioner, was released by Judge Griffith.

Accountants To Seek Fiscal Year Change In Business Here

A campaign on the part of accountants in Atlanta to have business concerns change their fiscal years to correspond with the convenience of the season rather than with the end of the calendar year, was endorsed Friday by B. S. Barker, executive vice president of the chamber of commerce.

The ending of the fiscal year on December 31, although an aid to department stores and concerns with seasonal lulls at that time, brings hardship upon accountants and bookkeepers in other businesses because of the extra inventory work involved, it was said. The most convenient plan would be to have every business close its fiscal year during its slack seasons, rather than to close it on December 31, regardless of the condition of business.

"Accountants would like to see this plan put into general operation," Mr. Barker said, "it would put an end to a lot of confusion, and would simplify the closing of the fiscal year."

CAMPS AND LINDLEYS PLAN 43RD REUNION

Members of Camp Lindley and allied families will hold their forty-third annual reunion Wednesday, August 8, at Grant park. All members are invited to be present and urged to bring plenty of food things to eat and also to bring their family records so that additional data may be procured for the new Camp bulletin which is being prepared. Nine editions of this record book already have been printed.

Excursion To— Montgomery, Mobile, Pensacola, New Orleans —AND— Mississippi Gulf Coast Resorts

Saturday, Aug. 11th

Good 3 Days
Mobile, Ala. $8.00
Pensacola, Fla. $10.00
Pascagoula, Miss. $10.00
Ocean Springs, Fla. $10.00
Biloxi, Miss. $10.00
Gulfport, Miss. $10.00
Pass Christian, Miss. $10.00
Bay St. Louis, Miss. $10.00
Miss. $10.00
New Orleans, La. $10.00

Excursion To— Montgomery, Mobile, Pensacola, New Orleans —AND— Mississippi Gulf Coast Resorts

Saturday, Aug. 11th

Good 3 Days
Mobile, Ala. $8.00
Pensacola, Fla. $10.00
Pascagoula, Miss. $10.00
Ocean Springs, Fla. $10.00
Biloxi, Miss. $10.00
Gulfport, Miss. $10.00
Pass Christian, Miss. $10.00
Bay St. Louis, Miss. $10.00
Miss. $10.00
New Orleans, La. $10.00

Excursion To— Montgomery, Mobile, Pensacola, New Orleans —AND— Mississippi Gulf Coast Resorts

Saturday, Aug. 11th

Good 3 Days
Mobile, Ala. $8.00
Pensacola, Fla. $10.00
Pascagoula, Miss. $10.00
Ocean Springs, Fla. $10.00
Biloxi, Miss. $10.00
Gulfport, Miss. $10.00
Pass Christian, Miss. $10.00
Bay St. Louis, Miss. $10.00
Miss. $10.00
New Orleans, La. $10.00

Excursion To— Montgomery, Mobile, Pensacola, New Orleans —AND— Mississippi Gulf Coast Resorts

Saturday, Aug. 11th

Good 3 Days
Mobile, Ala. $8.00
Pensacola, Fla. $10.00
Pascagoula, Miss. $10.00
Ocean Springs, Fla. $10.00
Biloxi, Miss. $10.00
Gulfport, Miss. $10.00
Pass Christian, Miss. $10.00
Bay St. Louis, Miss. $10.00
Miss. $10.00
New Orleans, La. $10.00

HINSHELWOOD ARRIVES FOR BUCKHEAD CHARGE

Welcome services for Dr. Geoffrey C. Hinshelwood, formerly of Boston, Mass., new pastor of the Buckhead Baptist church, will be held at 3

Savannah, Ga., August 3.—(P)—One of the pioneers of gold mining in Georgia returned to Savannah this week to assert that with modern machinery digging for the precious metal can be made profitable in the state.

Charles C. R. Fish, a Bostonian, identified with mining operations in north Georgia back in 1884, it is reported, declared in a statement here that he would be willing to join anyone who will make a "serious effort at gold mining in Georgia."

The enterprise of 1884, said Mr. Fish, who was a student at Massachusetts Institute of Technology at the time, was abandoned because his associates contracted "cold feet." He is of the opinion, he is quoted as saying, there is plenty of the precious metal still in the soil of Georgia, and that with modern machinery individuals or firms could obtain a yield of sufficient volume to realize handsome profits on initial outlay of capital and operating expenses.

Mr. Fish believes that the golden reaches are most apt to be found in the beds of streams, having been washed down, he thinks, with silt from the hills. He indicates it will cost less to take the presumed deposits from the sand and mud of the rivers and creeks than in purely land operations.

LIBRARY INSTITUTE AT EMORY CLOSES

"The library should not wait for the public to come to it, but should go to the public," said Charles H. Compton, in the final address of the Southeastern Library institute, which closed Friday afternoon at Emory university. Mr. Compton is assistant librarian of the public library of St. Louis, Mo., and during the past week he has been giving a series of lectures to the institute on library publicity.

Twenty-five librarians, representing public libraries of eight southern states, and many Atlantans have been attending the institute, which began at Emory two weeks ago. A corps of lecturers and instructors, headed by Miss Charlotte Templeton, of Greenville, S. C., director of the institute, offered the courses of instruction to the visiting librarians. In addition to Mr. Compton's publicity series, lectures were given by Miss Mildred Harrington, of Greenville, S. C., on the high school library; Miss Mary Frances Cox, of the Atlanta Carnegie library, gave a course of lectures and discussions on the elementary school library and its connection with the public library system. Miss Margaret Jensen, of the Emory library, Miss Mary U. Rothrock, of the Lawson McGhee Memorial library of Knoxville, Tenn., and Miss Margaret Jensen, of the Emory library, also were on the staff of the institute.

Dr. Hinshelwood will deliver his first message at the church at 11 o'clock Sunday morning, and at the close of the service the ordinance of the Lord's Supper will be served. All denominations of the community will hear Dr. Hinshelwood in the evening at a great union service. Special musical programs will be given and the entire community, regardless of denomination, is cordially invited to attend.

Dr. Hinshelwood is a graduate of Gordon College of Theology, of Boston, and for the past several years has filled the pulpit of the First Baptist church of Dedham, Mass. Mrs. Hinshelwood is an authority on young people's work, and the church, under her leadership, is planning an expansion program in the department that will be far-reaching in the community.

TRUE BILL ASKED AGAINST HOLLOWAY IN SHOOTING CASE

Evidence in support of an assault with intent to murder indictment against R. D. Holloway, 504 Fowler street, who has confessed to police that he shot his sweetheart, Louise Paudgett, of the same address, was presented to the grand jury Friday. Action on the matter was not made public pending approval of a superior court judge.

In a statement to police shortly after the shooting on the night of July 21, Holloway said he and the girl went for an automobile ride with Levy Miller, of Greenberry avenue, and Miss Gladys Acree, of Stearns avenue. Near the White Provision company on Howell Mill road, Holloway said he and the girl got out of the machine after a quarrel and that he shot her through the stomach. The girl is expected to recover. Jealousy is blamed for the shooting.

TWO ALLEGED RUM AUTOS CAPTURED; DRIVERS ARRESTED

Capture of two liquor automobiles, one in DeKalb county and the other in Forsyth county, was reported Friday to H. P. Wright, deputy prohibition administrator, by Agent F. R. Patterson, of the Atlanta office, and Carl E. Hudgins, alleged drivers of the cars, were held for the grand jury under $500 bond by United States Commissioner E. S. Griffith.

Seidenfaden ran by the officers when flagged in Gwinnett county, and after a pursuit of a mile, jumped out of his car and was caught after a chase through the bushes. Agent Patterson said a running into a clump of thick bushes. Seidenfaden was thrown by impact with the bushes and fell at Patterson's feet, the agent said. The car is alleged to have contained 40 gallons of whisky.

Hudgins was caught in Forsyth county with 67 gallons of whisky when he was stopped by officers. He was attempting to get his high-powered machine out of low gear, Patterson said.

M. R. Bennett Joins Telephone Company Legal Department

M. R. Bennett, prominent young Atlanta lawyer, has become affiliated with the legal department of the American Telephone and Telegraph company in its Atlanta office, it was announced Friday.

Mr. Bennett was graduated at the University of Georgia and the Atlanta Law school and was one among seven who passed the state bar examination in 1925. He recently was associated with Judge O'Neill, A. Park and C. N. Davis, and prior to this connection was with Bryan & Middlebrooks. He is a son of T. R. Bennett, former superintendent of the state banking department.

Excursion To— Montgomery, Mobile, Pensacola, New Orleans —AND— Mississippi Gulf Coast Resorts

Saturday, Aug. 11th

Good 3 Days
Mobile, Ala. $8.00
Pensacola, Fla. $10.00
Pascagoula, Miss. $10.00
Ocean Springs, Fla. $10.00
Biloxi, Miss. $10.00
Gulfport, Miss. $10.00
Pass Christian, Miss. $10.00
Bay St. Louis, Miss. $10.00
Miss. $10.00
New Orleans, La. $10.00

Excursion To— Montgomery, Mobile, Pensacola, New Orleans —AND— Mississippi Gulf Coast Resorts

Saturday, Aug. 11th

Good 3 Days
Mobile, Ala. $8.00
Pensacola, Fla. $10.00
Pascagoula, Miss. $10.00
Ocean Springs, Fla. $10.00
Biloxi, Miss. $10.00
Gulfport, Miss. $10.00
Pass Christian, Miss. $10.00
Bay St. Louis, Miss. $10.00
Miss. $10.00
New Orleans, La. $10.00

Excursion To— Montgomery, Mobile, Pensacola, New Orleans —AND— Mississippi Gulf Coast Resorts

Saturday, Aug. 11th

Good 3 Days
Mobile, Ala. $8.00
Pensacola, Fla. $10.00
Pascagoula, Miss. $10.00
Ocean Springs, Fla. $10.00
Biloxi, Miss. $10.00
Gulfport, Miss. $10.00
Pass Christian, Miss. $10.00
Bay St. Louis, Miss. $10.00
Miss. $10.00
New Orleans, La. $10.00

Excursion To— Montgomery, Mobile, Pensacola, New Orleans —AND— Mississippi Gulf Coast Resorts

Saturday, Aug. 11th

Good 3 Days
Mobile, Ala. $8.00
Pensacola, Fla. $10.00
Pascagoula, Miss. $10.00
Ocean Springs, Fla. $10.00
Biloxi, Miss. $10.00
Gulfport, Miss. $10.00
Pass Christian, Miss. $10.00
Bay St. Louis, Miss. $10.00
Miss. $10.00
New Orleans, La. $10.00

Old-Time Miner Says Thar's Gold In Georgia Hills

Savannah, Ga., August 3.—(P)—One of the pioneers of gold mining in Georgia returned to Savannah this week to assert that with modern machinery digging for the precious metal can be made profitable in the state.

Charles C. R. Fish, a Bostonian, identified with mining operations in north Georgia back in 1884, it is reported, declared in a statement here that he would be willing to join anyone who will make a "serious effort at gold mining in Georgia."

The enterprise of 1884, said Mr. Fish, who was a student at Massachusetts Institute of Technology at the time, was abandoned because his associates contracted "cold feet." He is of the opinion, he is quoted as saying, there is plenty of the precious metal still in the soil of Georgia, and that with modern machinery individuals or firms could obtain a yield of sufficient volume to realize handsome profits on initial outlay of capital and operating expenses.

Mr. Fish believes that the golden reaches are most apt to be found in the beds of streams, having been washed down, he thinks, with silt from the hills. He indicates it will cost less to take the presumed deposits from the sand and mud of the rivers and creeks than in purely land operations.

LIBRARY INSTITUTE AT EMORY CLOSES

"The library should not wait for the public to come to it, but should go to the public," said Charles H. Compton, in the final address of the Southeastern Library institute, which closed Friday afternoon at Emory university. Mr. Compton is assistant librarian of the public library of St. Louis, Mo., and during the past week he has been giving a series of lectures to the institute on library publicity.

Twenty-five librarians, representing public libraries of eight southern states, and many Atlantans have been attending the institute, which began at Emory two weeks ago. A corps of lecturers and instructors, headed by Miss Charlotte Templeton, of Greenville, S. C., director of the institute, offered the courses of instruction to the visiting librarians. In addition to Mr. Compton's publicity series, lectures were given by Miss Mildred Harrington, of Greenville, S. C., on the high school library; Miss Mary Frances Cox, of the Atlanta Carnegie library, gave a course of lectures and discussions on the elementary school library and its connection with the public library system. Miss Margaret Jensen, of the Emory library, Miss Mary U. Rothrock, of the Lawson McGhee Memorial library of Knoxville, Tenn., and Miss Margaret Jensen, of the Emory library, also were on the staff of the institute.

Dr. Hinshelwood will deliver his first message at the church at 11 o'clock Sunday morning, and at the close of the service the ordinance of the Lord's Supper will be served. All denominations of the community will hear Dr. Hinshelwood in the evening at a great union service. Special musical programs will be given and the entire community, regardless of denomination, is cordially invited to attend.

Dr. Hinshelwood is a graduate of Gordon College of Theology, of Boston, and for the past several years has filled the pulpit of the First Baptist church of Dedham, Mass. Mrs. Hinshelwood is an authority on young people's work, and the church, under her leadership, is planning an expansion program in the department that will be far-reaching in the community.

TRUE BILL ASKED AGAINST HOLLOWAY IN SHOOTING CASE

Evidence in support of an assault with intent to murder indictment against R. D. Holloway, 504 Fowler street, who has confessed to police that he shot his sweetheart, Louise Paudgett, of the same address, was presented to the grand jury Friday. Action on the matter was not made public pending approval of a superior court judge.

In a statement to police shortly after the shooting on the night of July 21, Holloway said he and the girl went for an automobile ride with Levy Miller, of Greenberry avenue, and Miss Gladys Acree, of Stearns avenue. Near the White Provision company on Howell Mill road, Holloway said he and the girl got out of the machine after a quarrel and that he shot her through the stomach. The girl is expected to recover. Jealousy is blamed for the shooting.

TWO ALLEGED RUM AUTOS CAPTURED; DRIVERS ARRESTED

Capture of two liquor automobiles, one in DeKalb county and the other in Forsyth county, was reported Friday to H. P. Wright, deputy prohibition administrator, by Agent F. R. Patterson, of the Atlanta office, and Carl E. Hudgins, alleged drivers of the cars, were held for the grand jury under $500 bond by United States Commissioner E. S. Griffith.

Seidenfaden ran by the officers when flagged in Gwinnett county, and after a pursuit of a mile, jumped out of his car and was caught after a chase through the bushes. Agent Patterson said a running into a clump of thick bushes. Seidenfaden was thrown by impact with the bushes and fell at Patterson's feet, the agent said. The car is alleged to have contained 40 gallons of whisky.

Hudgins was caught in Forsyth county with 67 gallons of whisky when he was stopped by officers. He was attempting to get his high-powered machine out of low gear, Patterson said.

M. R. Bennett Joins Telephone Company Legal Department

M. R. Bennett, prominent young Atlanta lawyer, has become affiliated with the legal department of the American Telephone and Telegraph company in its Atlanta office, it was announced Friday.

Mr. Bennett was graduated at the University of Georgia and the Atlanta Law school and was one among seven who passed the state bar examination in 1925. He recently was associated with Judge O'Neill, A. Park and C. N. Davis, and prior to this connection was with Bryan & Middlebrooks. He is a son of T. R. Bennett, former superintendent of the state banking department.

Excursion To— Montgomery, Mobile, Pensacola, New Orleans —AND— Mississippi Gulf Coast Resorts

Saturday, Aug. 11th

Good 3 Days
Mobile, Ala. $8.00
Pensacola, Fla. $10.00
Pascagoula, Miss. $10.00
Ocean Springs, Fla. $10.00
Biloxi, Miss. $10.00
Gulfport, Miss. $10.00
Pass Christian, Miss. $10.00
Bay St. Louis, Miss. $10.00
Miss. $10.00
New Orleans, La. $10.00

Excursion To— Montgomery, Mobile, Pensacola, New Orleans —AND— Mississippi Gulf Coast Resorts

Saturday, Aug. 11th

Good 3 Days
Mobile, Ala. $8.00
Pensacola, Fla. $10.00
Pascagoula, Miss. $10.00
Ocean Springs, Fla. $10.00
Biloxi, Miss. $10.00
Gulfport, Miss. $10.00
Pass Christian, Miss. $10.00
Bay St. Louis, Miss. $10.00
Miss. $10.00
New Orleans, La. $10.00

Excursion To— Montgomery, Mobile, Pensacola, New Orleans —AND— Mississippi Gulf Coast Resorts

Saturday, Aug. 11th

Good 3 Days
Mobile, Ala. $8.00
Pensacola, Fla. $10.00
Pascagoula, Miss. $10.00
Ocean Springs, Fla. $10.00
Biloxi, Miss. $10.00
Gulfport, Miss. $10.00
Pass Christian, Miss. $10.00
Bay St. Louis, Miss. $10.00
Miss. $10.00
New Orleans, La. $10.00

Excursion To— Montgomery, Mobile, Pensacola, New Orleans —AND— Mississippi Gulf Coast Resorts

Saturday, Aug. 11th

Good 3 Days
Mobile, Ala. $8.00
Pensacola, Fla. $10.00
Pascagoula, Miss. $10.00
Ocean Springs, Fla. $10.00
Biloxi, Miss. $10.00
Gulfport, Miss. $10.00
Pass Christian, Miss. $10.00
Bay St. Louis, Miss. $10.00
Miss. $10.00
New Orleans, La. $10.00

Store Open Saturday Until 5:30 P. M.

Of Interest to Men!
$2.50 to $4.00

Famous Emery Shirts

of Fine Novelty Broadcloth—Guaranteed Fast Colors

When you see these shirts, Men, you will marvel even more that such extra special values could be marked at a price so insignificant! The material is splendid; the workmanship expert! Ample cut, full 42 inches long. All sleeve lengths!

Neckband, collar attached and collar-to-match styles! Reinforced buttonholes, pre-shrunk neckbands, ocean pearl buttons! Patented neckband tabs!

Sizes 14 to 17.

Men's Track Pants
Sizes 38 to 40

ATKINSON HEADS COMMUNITY CHEST

Harry M. Atkinson, chairman of the board of the Georgia Power company, a leader for years in Atlanta public enterprises and in the industrial development of the southeast, Friday afternoon was elected president of the Atlanta Community Chest, a new organization of the city's business and professional leaders, charged with distribution of the city's charity funds, a group of Atlanta's most substantial citizens and had assured a reorganization of the chest on a constructive, efficient and economical basis.

Frank Miller, for 18 months secretary of the chest, a veteran and experienced social welfare executive, was elected executive director and secretary of the chest to succeed Roy P. Gates, who resigned last week. Mr. Miller was described by Rodney Morrison, Jr., and Hugh M. Willet, as "the most competent man in the United States for the job."

Pledges Best Efforts. Mr. Atkinson, acknowledging his position as president, promised to devote his personal efforts and those of his administration to seeking the confidence and trust of the public. He reviewed this week's action of the chest in enlarging its board to include 100 members drawn from a cross-section of the city's life as a move toward making the chest a more representative of the public interest and dedicated to public service.

Mr. Atkinson's first official act was the appointment of the executive committee of the chest as follows: Chairman, Rodney Morrison, Jr.; Vice Chairman, T. C. Law, A. E. Thornehill, Thomas H. Daniel, Walter B. Stewart, Louis J. Fiske, Edward H. Inman and Sam C. Dobbs.

This committee is empowered to designate the period of the 1928 campaign for public support, which probably will fall in the last week in October, and to name a manager of the campaign. This arrangement is likely to be announced within the next week.

An awakened enthusiasm and a firmer support for the chest by the business and professional community were said by speakers to be apparent in the detail of the meeting, the most largely attended gathering of the chest in the organization's history. Clark Howell, Jr., nominated Mr. Atkinson for the presidency, with the following comment:

Atkinson Nominated. "I wish to present a man-sized man for a man-sized job. This man is a leader of the entire southeast in things financial. He is a leader in making a leader in art circles, a leader at large. He is a man who has never failed in any of his many activities. He is Atlanta's and Georgia's citizen. He has been responsible for the moving of more industries and the bringing of more capital to the southeast than any other five men combined."

Mr. Atkinson's election followed by acclamation. After the other business of the meeting was transacted, Mr. Atkinson was installed and outlined briefly his policies and hopes for the chest.

Atkinson Outlines Plans. "This reorganization of the Community Chest," he said, "is for the purpose of broadening and making the chest more generally representative of the community. We have retained a substantial part of the old organization which has done good work. In our board of directors and executive committee are representatives of each charitable agency and a large additional representation from the community at large. There are also a great many ladies included in the board of directors. We hope they will take an active part in the management of the chest and in its work. We feel that they ought to be and will be an important part of the management of the chest."

"One task ahead of us is to win and keep the confidence of the people of Atlanta. To win this confidence, we must deserve it. This can be done only by a sound, business-like, economical, honest administration of the chest fund which is a sacred trust."

"The new management intends to put all its cards on the table and take the public into the confidence in every way."

way. It proposes to have monthly audits of the books, and to ask the newspapers to publish these audits so that everyone may know what becomes of the contributions to the chest. There is

Mr. Atkinson married Miss Mary Peters of Atlanta in 1888. His daughter, Mrs. Jackson P. Dick, now lives in this city, and his son, Captain Henry M. Atkinson, was killed in France during the war. The achievement in which Mr. Atkinson takes most pride is in having put to use funds from the waste streams and rivers of Georgia.

HOLDER OUSTER TO BE SOUGHT BY HARDMAN

Continued From First Page.

A capable and efficient head of this great department; the reorganization and reduction in the number of the numerous bureaus and departments in Georgia. On the stump and in the press I repeatedly voiced my opposition to machine politics and the continued domination of Georgia by machine politicians and selfish interests.

"Upon these issues I was overwhelmingly elected."

Stood by Principles. "My recommendations to the general assembly and my official acts demonstrate that I have been consistently and persistently stood by and contended for the principles upon which I was elected."

H. M. ATKINSON.

no doubt that Atlanta will support the chest generously, provide it with the confidence of the community. Atlanta will not do this as a charitable necessity. The chest is an economic as well as a charitable necessity. In 1922 there were 49 community chests in the United States which raised $23,656,146. In 1928 there were 325 community chests in the United States which raised $72,000,000. This shows how these community chest programs have been adopted throughout the country. We can and will make the community chest a great success in Atlanta this year, because as I have said, Atlanta does not do things in a half-way measure."

Prominent Capitalists. Mr. Black and Mr. Wardlaw, elected vice presidents, are outstanding capitalists of Atlanta. Mr. Black was the first campaign manager of the chest, and the leader of its most successful effort to win public support. Mr. Wardlaw has served as chairman of the "special gifts committee," obtaining large contributions in several campaigns.

Mr. Miller, the new executive director, came to Atlanta in the spring of 1927 from Knoxville, Tenn., where he had been successful in reorganizing and establishing on a permanent basis the community chest of that city.

Sketch of Atkinson. Henry Morrell Atkinson was born in Brookline, Mass., on November 13, 1862, of a distinguished New England family. His father was an executive manager of a large cotton mill. He was educated in Boston private schools, and at Harvard university, where he graduated with an A. B. degree in 1884. He then went west and for two years lived in the open as a cowboy.

Mr. Atkinson came to Atlanta in 1886, and took part in the cotton and banking businesses. He was vice president of the Third National bank until 1910. His chief interest, however, was in looking toward the future, and seeing the possibilities of the new power electricity.

He organized and built the first electric lighting system in Atlanta, and was the first president of the Georgia Electric Light company. He was interested in other electric companies, and in 1927 became the chairman of the board of directors of the Georgia Power company. These several electric companies have been influential in saving the Blue Ridge mountains from poverty, and in attracting large sums to this state for investment.

Organized Railroad. The Georgia Power company now serves approximately two-thirds of the state with electricity for lighting and power. He was the first president of the Georgia Electric Light company, which line was not the only one in which Mr. Atkinson is interested. He organized and was first president of the Atlanta, Birmingham and Atlantic railroad, which now is the A. B. & C. He also has been a leader in civic affairs, and an active worker for the Music Festival association, which has charge of the opera seasons in this city, and is a prominent clubman. In years especially, Mr. Atkinson has devoted a large amount of time to agricultural interests. He is chairman of the advisory committee of the Georgia association of farmers, and an outstanding advocate for putting agriculture on a business basis.

the term of office of the present chairman of the highway department

Mr. Atkinson married Miss Mary Peters of Atlanta in 1888. His daughter, Mrs. Jackson P. Dick, now lives in this city, and his son, Captain Henry M. Atkinson, was killed in France during the war. The achievement in which Mr. Atkinson takes most pride is in having put to use funds from the waste streams and rivers of Georgia.

HOLDER OUSTER TO BE SOUGHT BY HARDMAN

Continued From First Page.

A capable and efficient head of this great department; the reorganization and reduction in the number of the numerous bureaus and departments in Georgia. On the stump and in the press I repeatedly voiced my opposition to machine politics and the continued domination of Georgia by machine politicians and selfish interests.

"Upon these issues I was overwhelmingly elected."

Stood by Principles. "My recommendations to the general assembly and my official acts demonstrate that I have been consistently and persistently stood by and contended for the principles upon which I was elected."

H. M. ATKINSON.

no doubt that Atlanta will support the chest generously, provide it with the confidence of the community. Atlanta will not do this as a charitable necessity. The chest is an economic as well as a charitable necessity. In 1922 there were 49 community chests in the United States which raised $23,656,146. In 1928 there were 325 community chests in the United States which raised $72,000,000. This shows how these community chest programs have been adopted throughout the country. We can and will make the community chest a great success in Atlanta this year, because as I have said, Atlanta does not do things in a half-way measure."

Prominent Capitalists. Mr. Black and Mr. Wardlaw, elected vice presidents, are outstanding capitalists of Atlanta. Mr. Black was the first campaign manager of the chest, and the leader of its most successful effort to win public support. Mr. Wardlaw has served as chairman of the "special gifts committee," obtaining large contributions in several campaigns.

Mr. Miller, the new executive director, came to Atlanta in the spring of 1927 from Knoxville, Tenn., where he had been successful in reorganizing and establishing on a permanent basis the community chest of that city.

Sketch of Atkinson. Henry Morrell Atkinson was born in Brookline, Mass., on November 13, 1862, of a distinguished New England family. His father was an executive manager of a large cotton mill. He was educated in Boston private schools, and at Harvard university, where he graduated with an A. B. degree in 1884. He then went west and for two years lived in the open as a cowboy.

Mr. Atkinson came to Atlanta in 1886, and took part in the cotton and banking businesses. He was vice president of the Third National bank until 1910. His chief interest, however, was in looking toward the future, and seeing the possibilities of the new power electricity.

He organized and built the first electric lighting system in Atlanta, and was the first president of the Georgia Electric Light company. He was interested in other electric companies, and in 1927 became the chairman of the board of directors of the Georgia Power company. These several electric companies have been influential in saving the Blue Ridge mountains from poverty, and in attracting large sums to this state for investment.

Organized Railroad. The Georgia Power company now serves approximately two-thirds of the state with electricity for lighting and power. He was the first president of the Georgia Electric Light company, which line was not the only one in which Mr. Atkinson is interested. He organized and was first president of the Atlanta, Birmingham and Atlantic railroad, which now is the A. B. & C. He also has been a leader in civic affairs, and an active worker for the Music Festival association, which has charge of the opera seasons in this city, and is a prominent clubman. In the term of office of the present chairman of the highway department

Roosevelt Makes Plea For Religious Tolerance

IS WRITING ARTICLES FOR HOME PAPERS

New York, August 3.—(AP)—Franklin D. Roosevelt, who placed Governor Smith in nomination at the Houston convention, makes a plea for religious tolerance in his first contribution as a columnist, to the Beacon (N. Y.) Standard, a weekly newspaper.

He is contributing a series of articles to the newspaper to be run under the heading, "Between Neighbors." His country, in which he has lived since he was a child, is a land of religious tolerance, he says. He is Mr. Roosevelt's home country.

In commenting on a recent speech of Senator Thomas H. Heflin in Dutech county, Mr. Roosevelt wrote that the Alabama senator had made the nation realize that bigotry still existed in the minds of some people, so doing he had probably done more than any other one man to increase the supporters of Governor Smith.

Continuing, Mr. Roosevelt wrote: "Here is a story about the Ku Klux Klan that could almost be called a parable—but it is a true story and happened to me."

"Three years ago I was the guest of honor at a chamber of commerce luncheon in the city of New Orleans. It was a community of almost pure Scotch and English Protestant ancestry. I sat on the right of the mayor who was the guest of honor."

"Machine" Work Charged. "Now the old machine has been reorganized, the 'old guard' of machine politicians have again answered the call of the people and they are doing their utmost to elect a sufficient number of men of their stripe, to take care of the selfish and predatory interests which are the life of the machine."

On returning to the Baltimore morning paper, he had a chat with Fred W. Johnson, one of the original Smith nominees in the west, who will have charge of regional campaign headquarters for the machine. Johnson told the nominee that the folks out his way were more interested in such things as the prohibition of water power than in prohibition of water power. They were stressing his Tammany connections in their attack on his candidacy.

Robert M. Sohngen, chairman of the Butler county, Ohio, democratic committee, told Smith he was strong in the view of the situation with the Buckeye state, even in Hamilton county (Cincinnati) which usually is a stronghold of the machine.

After receiving a silk American flag from the democratic junior league of New York, presented by Miss Grace L. Kelly, its president, with a request that he carry it with him on his campaign travels, and a $25 contribution to his political fund, he was met by "Happy" Alfred Frank, a crippled newsboy in the Bronx who came down town purposely to place the money in his pocket. Other speakers who appeared before the commission to protest against the adoption of these original plans were Reuben Arnold, Milton D. H. Smith, president of the chamber of commerce, and Courtland S. Winn, assistant city attorney.

HASTINGS TO LEAD HOOVER CAMPAIGN

Continued From First Page.

commenting upon his appointment, he issued the following statement:

"For three weeks my mail has been flooded with requests to accept state leadership for President Hoover. I have been sprung upon spontaneously all over Georgia since the Houston convention."

WOMEN'S CAMPAIGN UNDER WAY. New York, August 3.—(AP)—The women's campaign for the election of Governor Alfred E. Smith as president of the United States is under way. The appointment of an advisory committee by Mrs. Franklin Roosevelt.

The following women were named by Mrs. Roosevelt, who is director of the bureau of women's activities, a branch of the women's supreme council, the national democratic committee:

Mrs. Nellie Taylor Ross, former governor of Wyoming, ex-officio; Mrs. Anna Struble, Centerville, S. D.; Elizabeth Marbury, New York; Mrs. Bernice Bay, Cleveland, Ohio; Mrs. Samuel Wilson, Lexington, Ky., and Mrs. Larue Brown, Boston.

NEGRO PROGRESSIVES TO VOTE DEMOCRATIC. Tampa, Fla., August 3.—(AP)—For the first time since the war between the states the negro independent progressive party of Florida is supporting the democratic ticket, said Dewey A. Richardson, state chairman, today.

More than 3,000 of his race in Hillsborough county have paid their dues to the negro independent progressive party and will vote for the New York governor, and others will be urged to do likewise, Richardson added.

FUGITIVE HUSBAND JAILED IN MURDER

Continued From First Page.

and I don't believe I will be alive three weeks from now."

According to the informant, the incident occurred about three months ago.

WIFE IDENTIFIES SLAIN WOMAN. Lancaster, Pa., August 3.—(AP)—Mrs. Jean Mellinger Beitzel, wife of Russell Beitzel, held in Los Angeles in connection with the death of a girl whose body was found in the mountains north of Hollywood, was located here tonight.

She said the dead girl was Barbara Mauger, 19, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Mauger, 1707 Fairmont avenue, Philadelphia.

Mrs. Beitzel has been living with her uncle and Mr. and Mrs. George Kaehler, in a suburb of Lancaster since last May. She said she and her husband separated about a year and a half ago. They have two children.

She said her husband met Barbara Mauger when he was assistant credit manager of a Philadelphia department store and she was a cashier there. They became friendly, Mrs. Beitzel said, and it was this relationship that led to her separation from her husband.

She obtained a court order for the support of her two children, Russell, 5, and George, 3, and the financial support from Beitzel until last fall when he suddenly disappeared, and since then she said she had heard nothing from him.

Russell Beitzel is the son of Mrs. Catherine Beitzel, of York, Pa., and is a graduate of Temple university, Philadelphia.

Barbara Mauger was about to become a mother, Mrs. Beitzel said. She asserted that Mr. Mauger came to her last winter and asked her to divorce Beitzel so that he could marry her.

ties," he declared. "Tammany carried New York state for Seymour against Grant. Of course there are some crooks in that body and have been some, but in all history Tammany has never stolen as much as the republicans since the Harding administration."

SOUTH IS EAGER TO BEGIN WORK. Jackson, Miss., August 3.—(AP)—Southern democrats are more eager to organize and begin work for the national ticket this year than ever before, Senator Pat Harrison, of Mississippi, said today at a meeting here of state democratic leaders.

Decision was reached at the meeting to delay plans for support of the national ticket in Mississippi until the speech of acceptance by Governor Smith.

The senator, just returned from making two speeches, at Lake and Philadelphia, Miss., in behalf of the democratic nominees, predicted that the party would win by unprecedented majorities in November.

"Popularity of the democratic ticket will grow as the election approaches," he said, "and the people of the United States understand and enter the record of the party nominees they will realize that much misrepresentation has been published regarding the democratic nominee for president."

EQUALIZATION FEE VETOED BY SMITH

Continued From First Page.

place for their conference had not been determined.

Walsh, widely known as the prosecutor in the senate oil investigation, was himself a candidate for the democratic nomination for governor of Missouri. He withdrew from the race after the Calhoun primaries in which he was defeated. He is an ardent dry.

On returning to the Baltimore morning paper, he had a chat with Fred W. Johnson, one of the original Smith nominees in the west, who will have charge of regional campaign headquarters for the machine. Johnson told the nominee that the folks out his way were more interested in such things as the prohibition of water power than in prohibition of water power.

Robert M. Sohngen, chairman of the Butler county, Ohio, democratic committee, told Smith he was strong in the view of the situation with the Buckeye state, even in Hamilton county (Cincinnati) which usually is a stronghold of the machine.

After receiving a silk American flag from the democratic junior league of New York, presented by Miss Grace L. Kelly, its president, with a request that he carry it with him on his campaign travels, and a $25 contribution to his political fund, he was met by "Happy" Alfred Frank, a crippled newsboy in the Bronx who came down town purposely to place the money in his pocket. Other speakers who appeared before the commission to protest against the adoption of these original plans were Reuben Arnold, Milton D. H. Smith, president of the chamber of commerce, and Courtland S. Winn, assistant city attorney.

HASTINGS TO LEAD HOOVER CAMPAIGN

Continued From First Page.

commenting upon his appointment, he issued the following statement:

WOMEN'S CAMPAIGN UNDER WAY. New York, August 3.—(AP)—The women's campaign for the election of Governor Alfred E. Smith as president of the United States is under way. The appointment of an advisory committee by Mrs. Franklin Roosevelt.

The following women were named by Mrs. Roosevelt, who is director of the bureau of women's activities, a branch of the women's supreme council, the national democratic committee:

Mrs. Nellie Taylor Ross, former governor of Wyoming, ex-officio; Mrs. Anna Struble, Centerville, S. D.; Elizabeth Marbury, New York; Mrs. Bernice Bay, Cleveland, Ohio; Mrs. Samuel Wilson, Lexington, Ky., and Mrs. Larue Brown, Boston.

NEGRO PROGRESSIVES TO VOTE DEMOCRATIC. Tampa, Fla., August 3.—(AP)—For the first time since the war between the states the negro independent progressive party of Florida is supporting the democratic ticket, said Dewey A. Richardson, state chairman, today.

More than 3,000 of his race in Hillsborough county have paid their dues to the negro independent progressive party and will vote for the New York governor, and others will be urged to do likewise, Richardson added.

FUGITIVE HUSBAND JAILED IN MURDER

Continued From First Page.

and I don't believe I will be alive three weeks from now."

WIFE IDENTIFIES SLAIN WOMAN. Lancaster, Pa., August 3.—(AP)—Mrs. Jean Mellinger Beitzel, wife of Russell Beitzel, held in Los Angeles in connection with the death of a girl whose body was found in the mountains north of Hollywood, was located here tonight.

She said the dead girl was Barbara Mauger, 19, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Mauger, 1707 Fairmont avenue, Philadelphia.

Mrs. Beitzel has been living with her uncle and Mr. and Mrs. George Kaehler, in a suburb of Lancaster since last May. She said she and her husband separated about a year and a half ago. They have two children.

She said her husband met Barbara Mauger when he was assistant credit manager of a Philadelphia department store and she was a cashier there. They became friendly, Mrs. Beitzel said, and it was this relationship that led to her separation from her husband.

She obtained a court order for the support of her two children, Russell, 5, and George, 3, and the financial support from Beitzel until last fall when he suddenly disappeared, and since then she said she had heard nothing from him.

Russell Beitzel is the son of Mrs. Catherine Beitzel, of York, Pa., and is a graduate of Temple university, Philadelphia.

Barbara Mauger was about to become a mother, Mrs. Beitzel said. She asserted that Mr. Mauger came to her last winter and asked her to divorce Beitzel so that he could marry her.

ers in North Carolina seem to be acceptable to party leaders without the remodeling process.

It is the opinion of the leaders that success in the south must be predicted first on the establishment of responsible leaders in charge of the organization and to this end Mann is bending his efforts.

But to what extent the republicans will take precedent and actively campaign in the hitherto neglected democratic stronghold awaits a conference of party leaders here in September on the return of Herbert Hoover and Chairman Work from the Pacific coast.

Meanwhile, Mann is working steadily on his office in a building here, far away from national headquarters being filled during working hours with callers from the southland. stenographers busy answering many letters from the same section.

IOWAN WANTS G. O. P. VICTORY.

Chicago, August 4.—(AP)—Congressman L. J. Dickinson, of Algona, Iowa, leader of the McNary-Haugen farm bloc in the house of representatives, today told James C. Good, western manager for the republican national committee, that support of Herbert Hoover was the only salvation for the tall corn farmer, any way the nominee's home state.

Mr. Dickinson said the hog, cattle, corn and wheat raiser of the midwest was everything to lose in a democratic victory, "which would place the congressional farm relief program in the hands of southern planters instead of Gilbert Haugen, author of the McNary-Haugen bill."

The Iowa congressman, following a conference with Dickinson, was subject to the staff of republican leaders at western headquarters and will devote his entire time during the remainder of the campaign aiding Hoover's candidacy.

SMITH FOES PLAN MEETING SERIES. Richmond, Va., August 3.—(AP)—Conferees looking to the defeat of Governor Alfred E. Smith, democratic nominee for president, have been called in the southern states. Bishop James J. Cannon, Jr., of the Methodist Episcopal church, south, announced here today just before leaving for Norfolk where he is to be the principal speaker at a mass meeting for the purpose of organizing the "Tide-water Anti-Smith Democratic Club."

The program, as announced by Bishop Cannon, calls for a conference at Jacksonville, Fla., on August 7; Macon, Ga., August 9; Raleigh, N. C., August 10; Nashville, Tenn., August 10; Birmingham, Ala., August 10.

The recent conference at Asheville, N. C., of "anti-Smith democrats," called by Bishop Cannon and the Rev. Arthur J. Barton, Baptist clergyman of Atlanta, Ga., voted to have similar conferences in all the southern states. Bishop Cannon said the purpose of the series of conferences was authorized to cooperate with the local leaders in each state to put into effect, Mr. Cannon said.

These conferences, Mr. Cannon indicated, will be held to "organize the anti-Smith voters in several states." An executive session will be held at each, to be followed by a meeting to which the public will be invited, he said.

Wrightsville Beach (Wilmington, N. C.)

A REAL OCEAN RESORT

$12.00 ROUND $12.00 TRIP

Tickets on sale Thursdays and Saturdays. Good ten days returning. Leave Atlanta 9:00 P. M., central time. Arrive Wilmington 12:30 P. M., eastern time. Quickest Time—Through Sleepers.

WA. 3666 GEORGIA RAILROAD WA. 2726

SEMI-ANNUAL STATEMENT for the six months ending June 30, 1928, of the condition of the

Continental Casualty Company

Organized under the laws of the State of Indiana, made to the Governor of the State of Georgia in pursuance to the laws of said State.

Principal Office—910 South Michigan Ave., Chicago, Illinois.

Standard Accident Insurance Company

Organized under the laws of the State of Michigan, made to the Governor of the State of Georgia in pursuance to the laws of said State.

Principal Office—640 Temple Avenue, Detroit, Michigan.

F. M. GARRETT, Mgr.

539 Hurt Bldg. Atlanta, Ga.

Today! Last Call—Final Chance in Our

SIXTH ANNIVERSARY SALE

50 New Spring Styles to Choose From. Regular $5 Values Are Included.

This Sale Price Includes Any White Shoes in Our Entire Stock. Come Early

All the New Ones, Center Straps, Cut-Outs, Patent, Blondes, White Kid, High, Low and Military Heels. Here you will find the styles you want and the size to fit you.

129 Whitehall Street

129 Whitehall Street

STORE OPEN TILL 9 P. M.

3 PERSONS HELD IN OBREGON DEATH

Mexico City, August 3.—(AP)—Three persons, including the mother, Superior Maria Concepcion Acobeda de La Lata, were being held today on formal charges of being accomplices in the assassination of General Alvaro Obregon. They were in the jail at San Angel, where Jose De Leon Toral, the slayer, was awaiting trial for murder. "Mental irresponsibility" will be offered by Toral's lawyers as his defense, they indicated.

Juan Correa Nieto, attorney general of the federal district, who is handling the prosecution, announced that Toral's mother, father and wife, 10 nuns and all others who had been in custody in connection with the investigation have been released. The others charged with being accomplices were Senora Maria Louisa Altamira and Jorge Fernandez Gallardo.

Toral and Manuel Trejo, the missing man who gave Toral the pistol, were alleged to have spent considerable time at Senora Altamira's home. Gallardo is a cousin of Trejo. Police charge that Gallardo said he knew Trejo was about to make a bomb explosion in the chamber of deputies in May.

Nieto said he would ask for 20 years' imprisonment for Mother Superior Concepcion. This is the maximum penalty for a woman charged with being an accomplice to a murder. The Mexican law does not permit the death penalty for a woman.

The prosecutor asserted that investigators discovered in the mother superior's house which was used as a convent a branding iron consisting of a cross with the letters "I H S." The brand was about the size of silver dollar. He said that she told investigators that this iron was heated and used to brand her body, and bodies of some of her nuns and of "some other persons."

Secret Religious Order. Nieto said this indicated the existence of a secret religious order and it was his theory that this might be connected with the assassination. Toral's body has not yet been examined to determine whether the woman had branded it.

The prosecutor announced he had Toral and the mother superior brought face to face in his office in an attempt to reconcile their conflicting statements about the woman having suggested the death of Obregon. President Calles and Patriarch Perez, of the Schismatic Mexican Catholic church. He said that the woman had said she had discussed these deaths and that she had told him these deaths might end religious persecution.

Nieto said that Sister Concepcion facing Toral "spoke very vaguely with various qualifications," but did not admit saying what Toral had attributed to her.

The date of Toral's formal trial will probably be fixed within 15 days. The prosecutor announced that he would ask the death penalty. Toral will be tried by a jury of nine men and the majority decision will determine the verdict. The formal trial will be open to the public. Nieto said President Calles had expressed a desire that everything be connected with the case be made public since the president wants the people of Mexico to know all details.

The jury cannot return a verdict of death which would be by a firing squad or it can refuse the prosecution's request for death and instead give a verdict of either life imprisonment or imprisonment for a number of years. The jury can fix the imprisonment of the mother superior at less than the 20 years the prosecution asks or can find her not guilty. Nieto assumed that the jury would find Toral guilty since he has confessed.

If Toral wishes, or without his wishes, the defense attorneys can appeal to a higher court, then to the supreme court and make a final appeal to the president for executive clemency.

Nieto will ask for ten years' imprisonment for the other alleged accomplices.

The prosecutor said his reply to an insanity defense would be that Toral himself says he is sane. Then, if necessary, he will offer expert testimony intended to show that Toral's conduct since the crime has shown no insanity.

ASSAULT CHARGED TO PARK DIRECTOR WHO PUNISHED BOY

Columbus, Ga., August 3.—(AP)—The charges of assault and battery against C. A. Hyatt, director of parks and recreation department of the city, will be placed before the grand jury when it convenes on Monday, it was announced after a preliminary hearing before the municipal judge was continued when called today.

Hyatt is charged with cruel and inhuman treatment of a boy who committed a childish impropriety on the courthouse lawn Wednesday.

When brought into recorder's court yesterday Hyatt pleaded guilty to disorderly conduct in connection with the case, but later the boy's father swore to a state warrant against him charging assault and battery.

Sentence on the disorderly conduct charge will be passed tomorrow.

Stops Malaria, Restores Strength and Energy

Grove's Tasteless
Chill Tonic

Excursion FLORIDA

Cuba—So. Georgia
Saturday, August 11th

Brunswick $ 6.50
Jacksonville 9.60
Tampa 16.50
Miami 19.00
Havana 43.75

And to many other points.
SOUTHERN RAILWAY
City Ticket Office, 48 N. Broad St.
Phone Walnut 1961-1965

Rainy Days Bring Out Wild Stories at Flying School

BY DON BROWN.

(Copyright, 1928, in all countries by North American Newspaper Alliance.)
Newark-Elizabeth Airport, August 3.—"Scared? Was I ever scared? I'll tell the world I was!"

One of our instructors was talking. Outside the rain was pouring down and a gusty wind blew. It was one of those miserable days which help to make a flying student's life just one long wait after another until warm and pleasant weather sets in.

Several students, reluctant to leave the field despite the fact that there was no flying in prospect for the day, were gathered in a cafe nearby drinking lemon soda, sarsaparilla and other such things, swapping stories of our first experiences in the air and listening while an instructor, a 20-year-old veteran of the royal air force, told of some of his student and war experiences.

"I didn't get all the preliminary training I should have had," he said. "It was in England. My instructor was supposed to take me up for three hours of flying every day. He used to fly a few miles over the hills near London, and in a cow pasture and send me about a mile to a tavern to get a basket of cold bottled beer. Then he'd drink the beer and I'd carry the basket and bottles back. The three hours would be about up and we'd hop back to the airfield."

"Engine trouble."

"When I got to the front I used to go up on night patrols. There were times when I hardly knew what I was doing. My stomach seemed to get into a knot up there flying in the dark and it stayed that way."

"Sometimes I'd turn around and come back to the field within half an hour. When I landed, I'd mumble something about engine trouble. Once I did this, a major looked me over, looked the plane and motor over and then said: 'I see; I'll fix it up; come with me!'

"He took me to the quarters and gave me a big glass of rum and a hot cup of coffee. Then I went back and flew and the motor worked all right."

Spinning yarns seems to be one of the most important occupations around most airports, but there is always plenty of action to vary the talking.

Tomorrow we have a new instructor coming. Another veteran of the royal air force. He has the reputation of being a bit reckless, like many of the war pilots. We all expect and send him about a mile to a tavern to get a basket of cold bottled beer. Then he'd drink the beer and I'd carry the basket and bottles back. The

(In his next article Don Brown tells of a narrow escape.)

VARIED U. S. DIALECTS RECORDED BY SCIENTISTS

New York, August 3.—(AP)—The story of a rat named "Grip" has been recorded for posterity in seven American dialects.

Not that "Grip's" story was very unusual. It merely was that a rat that couldn't make up its mind whether to leave a house or remain, but was made the bolder of further thought when the house fell in and killed it. It was all in how the story was told.

The story of "Grip" was selected by Dr. William Cabell Greet, of the English department of Barnard college, Columbia university, to bring out through its vowel nuances the characteristic touches given the English language in different parts of the country.

Representatives of seven sections of the country carried on the tale which was recorded on phonograph records for distribution in colleges as libraries of American dialect.

The dialects ranged from the "way down south" of New England to the "Gullah" dialect spoken by plantation negroes along the South Carolina and Georgia coasts.

The story of "Grip" was told by a typical New Yorker was recorded by a truck driver who spent the greater part of his life on Tenth and Eleventh avenues.

The "down east" touch was given by a resident of Vermont and another from Maine. The "Gullah" dialect was contributed by a former resident of South Carolina and was almost unintelligible to his hearers. Other dialects were furnished by residents of Missouri, Ohio, Virginia and Philadelphia.

CHARGE KENTUCKY
WOMAN KILLED
HER HUSBAND

Covington, Ky., August 3.—(AP)—Mrs. Ethel Hogan, 28, was charged in an affidavit issued today with the murder of her husband, Webb Hogan, a contracting painter, whose body was found in the rear yard of his home near San Francisco, Ky., July 26 last. The affidavit was sworn to by Martin J. Brown, attorney for Kenton county.

A time he was shot to death. It was thought that Hogan had been fired upon by provokers and Charles Annes, Sr., 68; his son, Warren, 42, and his grandson, Charles Annes, 15, were arrested. The three, said to be rustic furniture makers who were camping in the neighborhood of the Hogan home at the time of the shooting, had been ordered arraigned on murder charges late today and Brown said the warrant would be served on Mrs. Hogan when she appears at the hearing.

Brown said he is seeking a girl formerly employed at the Hogan home who he said "can furnish information on the relationship existing between Mrs. Hogan and her husband."

DALTON SABBATH SCHOOLS TO HOLD
ANNUAL MEETING

Dalton, Ga., August 3.—(Special.)—The East Side Sunday school convention will hold its annual session Saturday at Pleasant Grove, in the large auditorium. This is the 53d session of this convention and its meetings are termed a "homecoming."

The president of the convention, John B. Hill, states that Rev. H. C. Emory, one of Whitfield's most prominent ministers, was addressing the convention at 11 o'clock. Rev. J. C. Foster and other interesting speakers also are on the program.

At 2:30 a singing contest will begin and a banner will be awarded to the best singing class.

Cordele Pays Tribute To Miss Tallulah
Atkins at Ceremony

Cordele, Ga., August 3.—As the honor guest of the Chipp county board of trade and the Cordele Kiwanis and the representative business people of the community, the Eastern Star, the U. D. C. and Woman's Civic club, at a dinner Thursday evening Miss Tallulah Atkins, for 29 years manager of the local Western Union office in Cordele, was presented with a loving cup, memory book, flowers and many letters and telegrams manifesting the deep love and esteem of hundreds of people as she is being retired from the service with pay.

ATLANTA VISITOR PARALYSIS VICTIM

Mrs. Kathleen Carter, of California, who has been a guest at the Georgian terrace hotel for the past few days, was stricken with paralysis late Friday afternoon as she was walking along Ponce de Leon avenue near Boulevard. Although conscious when taken to Grady hospital, her vocal cords seemed affected by the stroke, and it was only with difficulty that she could speak.

Mrs. Carter's condition was declared serious by attendants at the hospital, but there is strong hope for her recovery. She is said to have a son in New York city.

SALES OF TOBACCO CLOSE IN GEORGIA

Macon, Ga., August 3.—(AP)—The first week of the Georgia tobacco markets closed today with the sales slightly under those of the two preceding days, but with the average price maintaining the same level since the season started last Wednesday.

The growers are elated for the prospects of the yield this season. The quality of the leaf is reported to be considerably higher than 1927 and the tonnage is expected to top last season by over 10,000,000 pounds. Approximately 21,000 more acres have been planted in the weed in Georgia this year than was planted the previous year.

The average price for the first three days the market has been under that for the same period last year, but this is due to the fact the growers are moving the sand lugs first, which is the poorest quality of the crop.

Some Fancy Prices.
Several sales of leaf consisting of two and three hundred pound lots have sold for over a dollar a pound and numbers of sales have been made for several hundred pounds of choice quality which have brought the growers anywhere from 50 cents to a dollar.

The price is expected to take a considerable advance Monday as many of the growers will have completed the sale of their sand lugs and will be moving the better grades.

In the sales held today, Vidalia lead the state for the third consecutive day for the highest poundage, selling 317,000 pounds at an average price of 14.17. Douglas captured second honors, disposing of 222,000 pounds for 18 cents a pound. The receipts on the Douglas market topped the state. Fitzgerald led the other markets for the highest average price, the growers on the market receiving 10.25 cents a pound.

TOWN SALES.
SALES. PRICE. AVER.
Metter 173,516 $17.98 12.22
Metter 150,000 18.35 12.22
Wadley 41,228 5.02 12.22
Adel 115,000 38.00 14.00
Statesboro 41,130 5.03 14.00
Clifton 20,000 3.00 15.00
Nashville 73,032 10.31 14.18
Hawkins 4,563 67.00 15.00
Quitman 65,000 10.07 15.00
Hawkins 71,114 7.93 13.85
Thomasville 48,396 7.03 14.50
Pelham 62,552 8.00 11.50
Douglas 292,000 46.72 16.00
Calto 38,730 5.09 13.10
Moultrie 141,000 19.05 13.10
Hawkesburg 33,478 4.97 12.00
Hawkesburg 77,944 1.06 12.00
Blackshear 201,000 24.12 12.00
Vidalia 317,000 44.01 14.17

RIVERS ATTACKS
HARDMAN STAND
ON TAX REFORM

Metter, Ga., August 3.—(AP)—State Senator E. D. Rivers, in an address here today in furtherance of his campaign for the governorship, declared that "Georgia would never have a tax reform as long as the state has a minority in the legislature."

The senator advocated a reduction in the number of members of the legislature from 90 to 74, criticized the system of matching state funds with county funds for highway construction purposes and proposed a nine month school term in the rural districts as one of the educational reforms which he said were necessary in the state.

While President Coolidge has no information as to the details of the reported agreement between France and England regarding limitation of auxiliary warships, he regards with great satisfaction the fact that they have apparently reached a common ground for discussion and agreement as promising extension of the fight against naval competition to the fields unaffected by the Washington treaties of 1922.

President Coolidge let it be known today that he had greatly appreciated yesterday's trip to the iron ranges in Minnesota. The chief executive found the experience both interesting and enjoyable.

Mr. Coolidge has received and has under consideration an invitation to visit the Apostle Islands, about 90 miles from here, in Lake Superior. He has not yet reached any decision, but at present is very doubtful as to whether he will be able to accept.

GREENSBORO PAYS
TRIBUTE TO YOUTH
WHO BUILT PLANE

Greensboro, Ga., August 3.—(Special.)—The Mabel County flying circus, carrying with it the monoplane built by Hillman Harris, Greensboro boy, arrived from Candler field, Atlanta, for an aerial program here Friday Saturday and Sunday. The monoplane, built by Harris, is the first such craft built in the south. It is said that the monoplane was built by its constructor an aviation when he landed on the local field.

LITTLE GIRL LOSES
LIFE WHEN RUNS
INTO AUTO'S PATH

Louisville, Ga., August 3.—(Special.)—Little Catherine Berry, seven-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Berry, was run over by an automobile here late today, receiving injuries from which she died. The child was in a car with her mother and jumped out of the car to run across the street where her father was and was struck by a car driven by Miss Fannie Newsome. The child was picked up by Mr. Berry and rushed to a doctor's office and lived just an hour before regaining consciousness. Miss Newsome failed to see the child until right on her.

GEORGE STALLINGS'
CONDITION IS SAID
TO BE VERY GRAVE

Macon, Ga., August 3.—(AP)—The condition of George Stallings, Monticello International League baseball club owner, who has been ill here several weeks with a heart ailment, was more critical today than at any time since he entered the hospital, physicians announced. He was said to have spent a restless and uncomfortable night.

AUSTELL HIGHWAY
STRETCH IMPROVED
FOR MOTOR TRAVEL

Austell, Ga., August 3.—(Special.)—Motorists who seek the pleasures of delightful picnic grounds in this section will be interested to learn that the seven-mile stretch of highway from the Chattahoochee river to Lithia Springs has been put in excellent condition.

This stretch of roadway, part of the Bankhead highway between Atlanta and Birmingham, is now topsoiled and is entirely smooth for traffic, according to latest reports. The hard-surfacing will follow later but motorists report the road is now greatly improved over its rough condition of recent weeks.

SALES OF TOBACCO CLOSE IN GEORGIA

Macon, Ga., August 3.—(AP)—The first week of the Georgia tobacco markets closed today with the sales slightly under those of the two preceding days, but with the average price maintaining the same level since the season started last Wednesday.

The growers are elated for the prospects of the yield this season. The quality of the leaf is reported to be considerably higher than 1927 and the tonnage is expected to top last season by over 10,000,000 pounds. Approximately 21,000 more acres have been planted in the weed in Georgia this year than was planted the previous year.

The average price for the first three days the market has been under that for the same period last year, but this is due to the fact the growers are moving the sand lugs first, which is the poorest quality of the crop.

Some Fancy Prices.
Several sales of leaf consisting of two and three hundred pound lots have sold for over a dollar a pound and numbers of sales have been made for several hundred pounds of choice quality which have brought the growers anywhere from 50 cents to a dollar.

The price is expected to take a considerable advance Monday as many of the growers will have completed the sale of their sand lugs and will be moving the better grades.

In the sales held today, Vidalia lead the state for the third consecutive day for the highest poundage, selling 317,000 pounds at an average price of 14.17. Douglas captured second honors, disposing of 222,000 pounds for 18 cents a pound. The receipts on the Douglas market topped the state. Fitzgerald led the other markets for the highest average price, the growers on the market receiving 10.25 cents a pound.

TOWN SALES.
SALES. PRICE. AVER.
Metter 173,516 $17.98 12.22
Metter 150,000 18.35 12.22
Wadley 41,228 5.02 12.22
Adel 115,000 38.00 14.00
Statesboro 41,130 5.03 14.00
Clifton 20,000 3.00 15.00
Nashville 73,032 10.31 14.18
Hawkins 4,563 67.00 15.00
Quitman 65,000 10.07 15.00
Hawkins 71,114 7.93 13.85
Thomasville 48,396 7.03 14.50
Pelham 62,552 8.00 11.50
Douglas 292,000 46.72 16.00
Calto 38,730 5.09 13.10
Moultrie 141,000 19.05 13.10
Hawkesburg 33,478 4.97 12.00
Hawkesburg 77,944 1.06 12.00
Blackshear 201,000 24.12 12.00
Vidalia 317,000 44.01 14.17

RIVERS ATTACKS
HARDMAN STAND
ON TAX REFORM

Metter, Ga., August 3.—(AP)—State Senator E. D. Rivers, in an address here today in furtherance of his campaign for the governorship, declared that "Georgia would never have a tax reform as long as the state has a minority in the legislature."

The senator advocated a reduction in the number of members of the legislature from 90 to 74, criticized the system of matching state funds with county funds for highway construction purposes and proposed a nine month school term in the rural districts as one of the educational reforms which he said were necessary in the state.

While President Coolidge has no information as to the details of the reported agreement between France and England regarding limitation of auxiliary warships, he regards with great satisfaction the fact that they have apparently reached a common ground for discussion and agreement as promising extension of the fight against naval competition to the fields unaffected by the Washington treaties of 1922.

President Coolidge let it be known today that he had greatly appreciated yesterday's trip to the iron ranges in Minnesota. The chief executive found the experience both interesting and enjoyable.

Mr. Coolidge has received and has under consideration an invitation to visit the Apostle Islands, about 90 miles from here, in Lake Superior. He has not yet reached any decision, but at present is very doubtful as to whether he will be able to accept.

GREENSBORO PAYS
TRIBUTE TO YOUTH
WHO BUILT PLANE

Greensboro, Ga., August 3.—(Special.)—The Mabel County flying circus, carrying with it the monoplane built by Hillman Harris, Greensboro boy, arrived from Candler field, Atlanta, for an aerial program here Friday Saturday and Sunday. The monoplane, built by Harris, is the first such craft built in the south. It is said that the monoplane was built by its constructor an aviation when he landed on the local field.

LITTLE GIRL LOSES
LIFE WHEN RUNS
INTO AUTO'S PATH

Louisville, Ga., August 3.—(Special.)—Little Catherine Berry, seven-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Berry, was run over by an automobile here late today, receiving injuries from which she died. The child was in a car with her mother and jumped out of the car to run across the street where her father was and was struck by a car driven by Miss Fannie Newsome. The child was picked up by Mr. Berry and rushed to a doctor's office and lived just an hour before regaining consciousness. Miss Newsome failed to see the child until right on her.

GEORGE STALLINGS'
CONDITION IS SAID
TO BE VERY GRAVE

Macon, Ga., August 3.—(AP)—The condition of George Stallings, Monticello International League baseball club owner, who has been ill here several weeks with a heart ailment, was more critical today than at any time since he entered the hospital, physicians announced. He was said to have spent a restless and uncomfortable night.

AUSTELL HIGHWAY
STRETCH IMPROVED
FOR MOTOR TRAVEL

Austell, Ga., August 3.—(Special.)—Motorists who seek the pleasures of delightful picnic grounds in this section will be interested to learn that the seven-mile stretch of highway from the Chattahoochee river to Lithia Springs has been put in excellent condition.

This stretch of roadway, part of the Bankhead highway between Atlanta and Birmingham, is now topsoiled and is entirely smooth for traffic, according to latest reports. The hard-surfacing will follow later but motorists report the road is now greatly improved over its rough condition of recent weeks.

SALES OF TOBACCO CLOSE IN GEORGIA

Macon, Ga., August 3.—(AP)—The first week of the Georgia tobacco markets closed today with the sales slightly under those of the two preceding days, but with the average price maintaining the same level since the season started last Wednesday.

The growers are elated for the prospects of the yield this season. The quality of the leaf is reported to be considerably higher than 1927 and the tonnage is expected to top last season by over 10,000,000 pounds. Approximately 21,000 more acres have been planted in the weed in Georgia this year than was planted the previous year.

The average price for the first three days the market has been under that for the same period last year, but this is due to the fact the growers are moving the sand lugs first, which is the poorest quality of the crop.

Some Fancy Prices.
Several sales of leaf consisting of two and three hundred pound lots have sold for over a dollar a pound and numbers of sales have been made for several hundred pounds of choice quality which have brought the growers anywhere from 50 cents to a dollar.

The price is expected to take a considerable advance Monday as many of the growers will have completed the sale of their sand lugs and will be moving the better grades.

In the sales held today, Vidalia lead the state for the third consecutive day for the highest poundage, selling 317,000 pounds at an average price of 14.17. Douglas captured second honors, disposing of 222,000 pounds for 18 cents a pound. The receipts on the Douglas market topped the state. Fitzgerald led the other markets for the highest average price, the growers on the market receiving 10.25 cents a pound.

TOWN SALES.
SALES. PRICE. AVER.
Metter 173,516 $17.98 12.22
Metter 150,000 18.35 12.22
Wadley 41,228 5.02 12.22
Adel 115,000 38.00 14.00
Statesboro 41,130 5.03 14.00
Clifton 20,000 3.00 15.00
Nashville 73,032 10.31 14.18
Hawkins 4,563 67.00 15.00
Quitman 65,000 10.07 15.00
Hawkins 71,114 7.93 13.85
Thomasville 48,396 7.03 14.50
Pelham 62,552 8.00 11.50
Douglas 292,000 46.72 16.00
Calto 38,730 5.09 13.10
Moultrie 141,000 19.05 13.10
Hawkesburg 33,478 4.97 12.00
Hawkesburg 77,944 1.06 12.00
Blackshear 201,000 24.12 12.00
Vidalia 317,000 44.01 14.17

RIVERS ATTACKS
HARDMAN STAND
ON TAX REFORM

Metter, Ga., August 3.—(AP)—State Senator E. D. Rivers, in an address here today in furtherance of his campaign for the governorship, declared that "Georgia would never have a tax reform as long as the state has a minority in the legislature."

The senator advocated a reduction in the number of members of the legislature from 90 to 74, criticized the system of matching state funds with county funds for highway construction purposes and proposed a nine month school term in the rural districts as one of the educational reforms which he said were necessary in the state.

While President Coolidge has no information as to the details of the reported agreement between France and England regarding limitation of auxiliary warships, he regards with great satisfaction the fact that they have apparently reached a common ground for discussion and agreement as promising extension of the fight against naval competition to the fields unaffected by the Washington treaties of 1922.

President Coolidge let it be known today that he had greatly appreciated yesterday's trip to the iron ranges in Minnesota. The chief executive found the experience both interesting and enjoyable.

Mr. Coolidge has received and has under consideration an invitation to visit the Apostle Islands, about 90 miles from here, in Lake Superior. He has not yet reached any decision, but at present is very doubtful as to whether he will be able to accept.

GREENSBORO PAYS
TRIBUTE TO YOUTH
WHO BUILT PLANE

Greensboro, Ga., August 3.—(Special.)—The Mabel County flying circus, carrying with it the monoplane built by Hillman Harris, Greensboro boy, arrived from Candler field, Atlanta, for an aerial program here Friday Saturday and Sunday. The monoplane, built by Harris, is the first such craft built in the south. It is said that the monoplane was built by its constructor an aviation when he landed on the local field.

LITTLE GIRL LOSES
LIFE WHEN RUNS
INTO AUTO'S PATH

Louisville, Ga., August 3.—(Special.)—Little Catherine Berry, seven-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Berry, was run over by an automobile here late today, receiving injuries from which she died. The child was in a car with her mother and jumped out of the car to run across the street where her father was and was struck by a car driven by Miss Fannie Newsome. The child was picked up by Mr. Berry and rushed to a doctor's office and lived just an hour before regaining consciousness. Miss Newsome failed to see the child until right on her.

GEORGE STALLINGS'
CONDITION IS SAID
TO BE VERY GRAVE

Macon, Ga., August 3.—(AP)—The condition of George Stallings, Monticello International League baseball club owner, who has been ill here several weeks with a heart ailment, was more critical today than at any time since he entered the hospital, physicians announced. He was said to have spent a restless and uncomfortable night.

AUSTELL HIGHWAY
STRETCH IMPROVED
FOR MOTOR TRAVEL

Austell, Ga., August 3.—(Special.)—Motorists who seek the pleasures of

Visitors Will Be Entertained At Driving Club This Evening

A group of prominent visitors will be central figures at parties at the week-end dinner-dance at the Piedmont Driving club this evening. Mrs. John E. Murphy entertains a small group of friends in compliment to Miss Gladys Hanson, who returns next week to New York to take up her theatrical duties. She has spent the summer in Atlanta with her father, P. H. Snook, at his home on Cleburn avenue.

Mrs. James Gould, of New York, formerly Miss Marian Goldsmith, of Atlanta, is spending two weeks at the guest of her mother, Mrs. J. W. Goldsmith, at her home on Peachtree street.

Dr. and Mrs. Dan Elkin will entertain a group of friends at the dinner-dance at the Piedmont Driving club honoring this New York visitor.

Major and Mrs. Allen M. Burdett will entertain at a farewell party to Colonel and Mrs. George F. Baltzell, who leave August 13 to make their home in Jacksonville, Fla., and Major and Mrs. John J. Hester, who leave early in August for their new station in Fort Lewis, Washington state. Covers will be placed for Colonel and Mrs. Baltzell, Major and Mrs. Hester, Colonel and Mrs. Emory S. Adams, Colonel and Mrs. Henry S. Wagner, Lieutenant and Mrs. Gilbert Proctor, Lieutenant and Mrs. Ralph E. Powell and Major and Mrs. John R. Holliday.

Mrs. Bankston Is Honored.

On Wednesday afternoon Circle No. 1 of Bethany M. E. church Missionary society, Mrs. W. T. Sanders, chairman, entertained Mrs. Bankston at her home on Elizabeth place in honor of her 82d birthday. After an impressive talk Mrs. I. C. Deariso, president of the Missionary society, the honor guest was presented with many gifts from a host of friends.

Poetry Forum Meets Sunday.

The Poetry forum of the Atlanta Writer's club will meet Sunday afternoon at the residence of Dr. Frank H. Field, 406 North avenue, N. E., at 3:15 o'clock.

All members of the Atlanta Writer's club are requested to attend, and the meeting is open to any lover of the fine arts or anyone especially interested in poetry.

Saturday Morning
Sale of

FELT HATS
$1.79

Smart felts in vagabond, close-fitting, and turned-brim styles—wonderful for immediate and early fall wear.

Red Navy Black Green
Tan Shades
Monet Blue

H. G. Lewis & Co.

102 Whitehall

A Clearance Price on 300 New Summer Frocks

On Sale Saturday
9 A. M. to 1 P. M.

$7.95

Values to $18

Crisply new tailored georgettes and crepes—just in the house!—supplemented by scores of drastically reduced chiffons, georgettes, and crepes! This is an opportunity that you must not miss! The size range includes your size; the color range includes your color; and the styles include a design especially becoming to you!

Sizes 14 to 46

H. G. Lewis & Co.
102 Whitehall

Miss Ritchie Weds George Bollinger At Rabun Gap

Rabun Gap, Ga., August 3.—The wedding of Miss Myrtle Ritchie and George M. Bollinger, of Atlanta, was quietly solemnized at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Ritchie, in the presence of a small group of friends and relatives.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. K. Coit, associate superintendent of the Rabun Gap-Nacoochee school. Preceding and during the ceremony a lovely musical program was rendered by Mrs. J. H. Carter, of Orlando, Fla., a cousin of the bride, and by Miss Aline Clayton, of the Rabun Gap-Nacoochee school. The home was beautifully decorated for the occasion with mountain greenery interspersed with Shasta daisies and white tapers.

The bride was becomingly gowned in Alice blue georgette with pique flounces. She wore a small tan hat and her corsage bouquet was of pink roses.

Mrs. Bollinger is a graduate of the Georgia State Teachers' college and has taught for several years in Georgia and Florida.

Mr. Bollinger graduated from the Rabun Gap school after which he attended Berea college, Berea, Ky. He has been associated with banks of South Carolina and Florida for several years and now holds a responsible position with an Atlanta concern. Immediately following the ceremony an informal reception was held, after which Mr. and Mrs. Bollinger left for Atlanta, where they will make their home.

Police Auxiliary Honors Policemen.

The Ladies' auxiliary of the Police Relief association met Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock at Grant park pavilion. A short business meeting was held, after which lunch was spread for 150 policemen and their families. The Police band rendered music.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. C. E. McCray, 1064 Stewart avenue, S. W., August 16. After the business meeting the members will enjoy a watermelon cutting, sponsored by the hostess.

New Orleans Visitor Is Honor Guest.

Mrs. J. P. Billups entertained at a bridge Friday afternoon at her home in Ansley Park, in compliment to Miss Mary Baumgarten, of New Orleans, the guest of Miss Elizabeth Scott.

Mrs. B. M. McFadden and Mrs. Louis S. Bell assisted in entertaining.

The guests included Mrs. Louis H. Bell, of Waban, Mass.; Mrs. B. M. McFadden, Jr., Miss Frances Butler and Miss Marion Butler, of Virginia; Miss Virginia Courte, Miss Natalie de Gollan, Miss Luitia Johnson, Miss Billie Johnson, Miss Florence Eckford, Miss Ruth Dabney Smith, Miss Jane Dillon, Miss Jean Kendrick, Miss Margaret Scott, Miss Augusta Dunbar and Miss Margaret Ogden.

Miss Hunnicutt Wins Honor at Camp.

Mayland, Tenn., August 4.—The past week was perhaps the busiest Camp Nakanawa has seen this summer since it worked the half way post of the camp season. Distinctions for which every true Nakanawa was were uppermost perhaps in the minds of all of the girls. Even the very small girls, who hardly know what distinctions mean, were hurrying in every direction checking up, for no girl who made fewer than 20 distinction by the end of the first month, and 40 by the end of the second month, is permitted to wear the camp letter—a big A for Amazons and a V for Valkyries. Rivalry is particularly keen between Amazons and Valkyries at present since the Amazons are now leading on distinctions. Miss Ruth Hunnicutt is one of the most ardent of Amazons and helped them to make 25 points in the canoe meet Saturday to none for Valkyries. She and three other Amazons were first in the race for speed. Again in tilting Miss Hunnicutt's canoe won first place when the score was Amazons, 23; Valkyries, 1.

West End Woman's Club To Sponsor Open House Evening

The initial "open house evening" of the West End Woman's club, to be held Tuesday, August 7, at 8 o'clock, will assemble a large group of friends, members and club husbands. Games, music and refreshments will make it one of the most enjoyable affairs of the summer season. The committee in charge includes Mrs. E. F. DeFreese, Mrs. T. F. Cathcart, Mrs. F. H. Jackson, Mrs. O. A. Harbin and Mrs. L. M. Ahern.

The bridge-tee sponsored by Mrs. Zack Layfield last Wednesday afternoon was a decided success. Mrs. Luta Manry and Mrs. D. H. Hooker were hostesses to a private party in the lounge. Twenty-four guests were invited, and among those entertaining small parties were Mrs. Martha Ryckley, Mrs. Luther Still, Mrs. L. M. Ahern, Mrs. W. C. Griffith, Mrs. Fred West, Mrs. Steven A. Reed, Mrs. O. C. Nicholson, Mrs. O. L. Harbin and Mrs. C. Warren Seay.

The literary department met Friday with the chairman, Mrs. Luther Still. The committee was organized and plans made for an attractive and instructive fall program. The junior club met Thursday afternoon, and parts were assigned for the play, "Crystallized Fruit." The date of the play will be announced later. The Saturday night dance, sponsored by Mr. and Mrs. B. O. Burbee, was well attended.

A meeting of the executive board will be held at the clubhouse Wednesday afternoon, August 8, at 2 o'clock, which will be followed by the business session at 3 o'clock.

Mrs. Walter Lomax Makes Request.

Mrs. Walter E. Lomax urges members to attend the meeting of Camp Evan P. Howell, U. C. V., No. 1825, Saturday, August 5, at 1:45 o'clock, in Judge Jeffries court room.

Mrs. Joseph Jacobs Honors Mrs. Gillespie.

Mrs. Robert Gillespie, of Bronxville, N. Y., the guest of Mrs. Walter J. Brunmark, was honor guest Friday at a bridge luncheon at which Mrs. Joseph Jacobs entertained at her home "The Brambles" on Roswell road.

The guest list included Mrs. Gillespie, Mrs. Brunmark, Mrs. Maude K. Jacobs and her guest, Mrs. Edith H. Fennell, of Dallas, Texas; Mrs. N. S. Whitehead, Mrs. John Woodside, Mrs. L. W. Arnold, Mrs. Julius Maier, Mrs. Claude Shattuck, Mrs. W. M. Murphy, Mrs. Oliver Nix, Mrs. D. E. Griffin, Mrs. Fred Watt, Mrs. J. Dillard Jacobs, Mrs. Walter Dunn, and Mrs. W. M. Fain.

Social Notes From Ormeau Park.

Miss Mary Tundin left the past week for Washington, D. C.

Mrs. Claud Isbell, of Gadsden, is the guest of Mrs. E. G. Kilpatrick and Mrs. C. F. Mitchell.

E. G. Kilpatrick, C. F. Mitchell and Claud Isbell, of Gadsden, are at St. Simons on a fishing trip. Mr. and Mrs. Tom Boland and children, of Blackville, S. C., are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. L. V. Kennedy.

Mr. and Mrs. John L. Hudson, Misses Sarah, Elizabeth and Nancy Hudson attended the Hudson family reunion near Tucker last Sunday.

Mrs. Sterling Bryan is spending the week-end in Birmingham.

Mrs. Charles Cates is recuperating from a recent illness.

Mrs. J. M. Cook and Miss Nell Cook are visiting relatives in Alabama.

Miss Elsie Davis was hostess to the members of the B. W. P. U. of the Second Baptist church Tuesday evening at her home on Woodland avenue.

Miss Nell Thomas is in Macon. Howard Webb has returned from North Carolina.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Nunan, Carlton Nunan and B. W. Roelke, have returned from St. Simons.

Mrs. W. A. Hansell was hostess at an informal luncheon Wednesday at her home on Woodland avenue. The guests included Mrs. Ralph Carson, Mrs. J. R. Wilburn, Mrs. Alfred Enloe, Miss King and Mrs. Porter Enloe.

Furniture -- For the Entire Home

Less Than $\frac{1}{2}$ Usual Price

Today---you can buy the finest of furniture . . . furniture that maybe you could not ordinarily afford. But now it is here at prices you can easily pay!

We'll tell you about it:

A splendid store in St. Petersburg, Fla., sold us their stock of elegant furniture at just one-half the price they paid for it.

It was a cash deal---of course we had to pay cash to get this purchase at half its wholesale cost. We buy for cash---we sell for cash. With the cash we got this furniture at a price lower than has ever been known for such quality!

Again, cash is a great saver.

Now this handsome stock is being sold at our store---we got it for half price---you get it for half price!

We have never had a buy like this---we have never heard of fine furniture selling at these small prices.

You can now refurnish your whole home---exactly right for half what it would usually cost. It is your opportunity---a really great opportunity---to buy just what you want---for once---for the price you wish to pay.

This is the one time to set aside every other plan you have ---and fix your thoughts on REAL furniture for your home. This is the time to buy the furniture you're going to need for the next few years. Such opportunity does not come to us very often.

If you live out of town, make a trip to Atlanta and to Philibosian's MONDAY. We assure you it will prove a convincing visit. If we haven't made plain our plans and the Reasons why, we will further demonstrate---when you come in---how we can sell this furniture at less than its wholesale cost---which is less than half its usual selling price.

Living Room, Bedroom, Dining Room Suites.

Breakfast Room, Sun Room Suites.

Occasional Tables and Chairs.

Lamps, Oil Paintings, Mirrors, Oriental Rugs.

Stephen Philibosian, Inc.

FURNITURE • RUGS • DRAPERIES

671 PEACHTREE STREET
Next to Georgian Terrace

Miss Ingram Weds C. C. Adams At Ceremony in McDonough

McDonough, Ga., August 3.—One of the loveliest weddings of mid-summer was that of Miss Pauline Ingram to Charles Clyde Adams, taking place at 5 o'clock Saturday afternoon, July 28, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. I. Ingram, of McDonough.

Ferns, palms and similar were used in lovely profusion throughout the lower floor, while baskets of cut flowers in shades of pink and white added to the charming effect.

Immediately preceding the ceremony Mr. E. W. Allen, of Atlanta, sang "Love You Truly." The wedding march was played by Mrs. Charles Hynson, of Atlanta.

The bride entered with her father and was met at the altar by the groom and his best man, Lesco Burdett. The impressive ring ceremony was performed by Rev. L. A. Griggs.

The bride's dress was a full model of blue satin-back crepe and transparent velvet, worn with a small hat of blue felt and blue slippers with beige hose and gloves. She wore a shoulder bouquet of pink roses and valley lilies.

Following the ceremony a reception was held and assisting Mrs. Ingram in entertaining were her daughters, Misses Annie Trellis, Alice and Mrs. L. A. Ingram and Mrs. Robert Rainer. Punch was served from a flower-embellished bowl by Misses Margaret Wise and Mary Dan Ingram. The bride's

Styles in ANETTE Paris—New York

166

Business Women's Club To Hold Dinner Meeting

The Business and Professional Women's club of Atlanta will hold its August dinner meeting Wednesday, August 8, at 7 o'clock at the Atlanta Woman's club. No business will be discussed at this time, but a swimmer-party will precede the dinner, which will be of a social nature. Those swimming are requested to be at the club at 5:30 o'clock.

At the meeting of the executive board, held August 1, much interest was expressed in the future plans for the club work which will begin in September. The club won the cup this year for the largest increase of members, and it is with great enthusiasm to interest that the membership committee hopes to double this number during the coming year. Many plans are being perfected for the success of the state convention, which will be held in Atlanta in May, 1929.

Miss Jane Mayo, who is connected with Law & Co., was elected at this meeting to serve on the executive board.

Canary and Flower Study Club Meets.

Mrs. Alva D. Kiser entertained the Atlanta Canary and Flower Study club Wednesday morning at her home in Inman Park.

After a short business session a most interesting hour was spent in studying canaries and flowers. Each member brought a specimen for the club to study. The guests were Mrs. W. M. Hinds, Sr., Mrs. W. M. Hinds, Jr., Mrs. W. O. Jaudon and Mrs. George W. Druitt. The guests of honor, Mrs. Hinds, Jr., was also presented with a lovely gift.

Mrs. Hinds, Jr., who was formerly Miss George W. Druitt, has been spending the past two weeks in Atlanta. Mrs. Hinds is a niece of Dr. Annie L. Sawyer.

The club will meet again on Monday. During her stay in Atlanta Mrs. Hinds is being honored at many parties.

Mrs. W. M. Hinds, Sr., Honors Bride-Elect.

Mrs. William M. Hinds, Sr., entertained Wednesday at a bridge-tee in honor of her daughter-in-law, Mrs. William M. Hinds, Jr., a recent bride, of Birmingham, Ala.

Prizes were won by Mrs. Charles Wilkinson, Mrs. W. O. Jaudon and Mrs. George W. Druitt. The guests of honor, Mrs. Hinds, Jr., was also presented with a lovely gift.

Mrs. Hinds, Jr., who was formerly Miss George W. Druitt, has been spending the past two weeks in Atlanta. Mrs. Hinds is a niece of Dr. Annie L. Sawyer.

The club will meet again on Monday. During her stay in Atlanta Mrs. Hinds is being honored at many parties.

Children's Matinee Program Announced.

With attractive prizes, community singing and a splendid film program the better films children's Saturday matinee at the Palace theater will see crowds of youngsters waiting for the doors to open at 10 o'clock.

William Boyd, the movie hero all ages admire, will be seen as the likeable young chap in the highly interesting story "Sister Susie." Fine scenes of the steel industry are shown in "Blade of Scotland Yard," the thrilling detective serial, will be continued.

Baseball will be featured with Mrs. Elmer Russell as chairman, assisted by Mrs. Luther Holsombeck. Admission is 10 and 25 cents, nursemaids are admitted.

High Museum To Feature Design.

Design in all of its branches will be included in the new course in art available at the High Museum in September. Special attention will be paid to the designing of textiles, and it is planned to install a department for this alone within another year.

The design work will consist of interesting problems in book illustration, designs for commercial art, running borders, all-over patterns applicable to wall papers, textiles and countless other uses. Special attention will be paid to original ideas and period designs will be drawn from for inspiration. Color will form a particular note of interest and will prove invaluable to all, regardless of the course they are planning to specialize in.

Miss Fleming To Entertain.

Miss Georgia Fleming will be hostess at luncheon Saturday at the Baltimore hotel, honoring Miss Zoe Dicks, a bride-elect.

Invited to meet Miss Dicks are Mrs. Homer White, Mrs. Roy A. Jenkins, Mrs. Clay A. Felton, Miss Mary Worrell, and Miss Mary Fleming.

West End Woman's Club Sponsors Dance.

The regular weekly social dance, sponsored by the West End Woman's club, will be held Saturday evening at the club house on Cascade avenue.

Miss Laura Johnston will be hostess of the dance. Chaperones of the occasion will be Mr. and Mrs. Nunnally and other members of the West End Woman's club.

Atlanta Girls Win Honors at Dixie.

Canoe races were held at Camp Dixie for girls near Clayton, Ga., Saturday afternoon, July 28, under the direction of Miss Melvina Williams, of Dallas, Texas, were the winning team in the canoe relay race, one of the most exciting events of the afternoon, in which the girls executed the difficult feat of jumping into the water, changing places and climbing into the canoe again very few yards.

Emily Winslow was one of the girls taking part in the gunnery walking. Athletics are in full swing at Dixie now with a tennis ladder tournament and basketball tournament well under way. Emily Winslow and Janie Near, forwards on Cabin 5 basketball team, starred in the first game of the tournament. Ethel York, side center, and Joan Wiker, guard, also did good work on the winning team.

Louise Hancock, forward on the losing team, scored 8 of the 10 points made by her team.

In the second game of the tournament, Frances Craighead led her cabin team to victory over Cabin 6. In spite of the effective play of Mabel York, side center, and Emma Lake, forward, on the losing team, Atlanta girls who have won matches in the tennis ladder tournament are: Ethel York, Joan Walker, Louise Hancock, Emma Lake and Jeannette Millard. Jeannette Millard has won four matches. Emily Winslow has made the one mile swim, thus winning 20 points for her cabin. Lillian Broward, Janie Near and Joan Walker have passed their canoe race. Louise Hancock was recently awarded the blue triangle for continued effort in the practice of high standards. All honor awards at Camp Dixie are made by the unanimous vote of all the leaders and advisors.

Atlanta girls who left yesterday afternoon with a crowd of hikers under the direction of Miss Elise Stokes, director, to spend the night on Black Rock mountain, were Martha Frisbie, Ellen Fleming, Francis Haven, Julia Beers, Jean Walker, Janie Near, Dorothy Dent, Mabel Talmage, Louise Dent and Louise Conder.

DAILY CALENDAR OF SOCIAL EVENTS

The marriage of Miss Susan Daniel Shadburn and Robert Lee Watkins will take place at the home of the bride, on Clairmont avenue, in Decatur.

Miss Mildred LaHatte, bride-elect, will be central figure at the miscellaneous shower and bridge party, at which Miss Sue Foster will be hostess.

Mr. and Mrs. Ryburn G. Clay will be hosts at a party at the dinner-dance at Piedmont Driving club, in honor of Misses Sarah and Ethel Kunzig, of Mount Vernon, N. Y., the guests of Mrs. Edward S. Gay.

At fresco dinner-dance at Piedmont Driving club.

At fresco dinner-dance at East Lake Country club.

Major and Mrs. Allen M. Burdette entertain at the dinner-dance at the Piedmont Driving club, honoring Colonel and Mrs. George F. Baltzelle, who leave soon to make their home in Jacksonville, Fla., and Major and Mrs. John H. Hester, who will leave at an early date for Fort Lewis, Washington.

Mrs. Spurgeon King and Mrs. Sam Johnson give a garden party at the home of Mrs. King in Druid Hills, honoring Miss Virginia Epperson, of Chicago.

The Merry-makers club gives a dance at Garber hall for the college set.

Miss Georgia Fleming will be hostess at luncheon at the Baltimore, in honor of Miss Zoe Dicks, a bride-elect.

The West End Woman's club sponsors a script dance at the clubhouse this evening.

Miss Ruth Osburn will be hostess at a luncheon at her home on Northwood drive, in honor of Miss Rosalind Harris, of Baltimore, Md., the guest of Miss Betty Davison.

Miss Esther Garrett will entertain at a bridge-tee, in honor of Miss Nell Denison, of Birmingham, Ala., the guest of Miss Sarah Davis.

Miss Rosalind Harris will be central figure at the picnic to be given by a group of friends at the W. C. Wardlaw summer home.

Mrs. Fleming Ragsdale will be hostess at a shower and tea, in honor of Miss Annie Lou Linkous, bride-elect.

Mrs. A. F. Link will be hostess at a bride tea at the Baltimore hotel, in compliment to Mrs. Fred Goddard, of New York; Mrs. C. B. Sprattling, of Alabama, and Miss Abbie Matthews, of Jacksonville, Fla.

SOCIAL ITEMS

Mrs. Carroll O. Bickelhaupt and her two young daughters are visiting friends in Washington, Conn.

Miss Cecil Egan of Hattiesburg, Miss, and Miss Ethel May Schurb, of New Orleans, La., are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Key.

Miss Edith Salisbury, of Norwalk, Conn., arrives Sunday for a visit with her mother, Mrs. Gilbert Beers, at her home on Brighton road. Miss Salisbury has many friends in Atlanta and will give her a most cordial welcome.

John L. Courcy, Jr., is ill at the Wesley Memorial hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Hutchison, of Chicago, are spending a few days at the Baltimore.

David M. Smith, of Pittsburgh, Pa., arrives Saturday to visit his mother, Mrs. Annie Smith and his sister, Mrs. L. H. Muse, at their home on Williams Hill road.

Florida visitors, who are registered at the Baltimore hotel, are Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Burroughs and family and Mrs. William Hicks, of St. Petersburg; Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Maxwell, of Orlando; Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Gray, of Lake City, and Miss Stella Etheridge, of Tallahassee.

W. C. Edwards has returned from a visit to points of interest in the east.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph T. Burson, of Ashland, Ky., are at the Baltimore.

Dr. and Mrs. C. A. Rhodes and Miss Ellen Rhodes have returned from a five weeks' visit to relatives in Virginia and New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Juel Wesley Trent are spending the week-end in Birmingham, Ala.

Miss Dorothy J. Waldman and her mother, Mrs. A. W. Waldman, have returned from several weeks spent at St. Simons and Glynn Isle beaches.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Chapman Williams, of New York, arrived Saturday, sailed from New York Saturday on the Majestic for Cherbourg and will tour the continent for a two months' sojourn.

Miss Mary J. Lansing and Dr. Louise A. Pratt are spending some time in New York, Boston and Canada.

Mrs. Bratton Davies and Miss Gertrude Davies and sons, Bratton and Frank Davies, are visiting relatives in Columbus.

Dr. and Mrs. O. H. Matthews, Misses Eugenia, Margaret and Charlotte Matthews will return to the city Monday from a motor trip to Portsmouth, Richmond, Washington, Annapolis, returning by boat to Savannah from Baltimore.

Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Berthau, of New Orleans, La., spent several days at the Wincoff hotel last week. Mrs. Berthau is the daughter of the late Mr. Henry Burmaster, of New Orleans. While in Atlanta Mr. and Mrs. Berthau were entertained by Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Key, of Peachtree road, and Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Kerlin, of Stewart avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Rogers Malone and children, Rogers, Jr., and George Rogers, of Cocoa, Fla., are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Ben O. Simpson at their home on Westminster drive in Ansley Park. Mrs. Malone was formerly Miss Marjorie Davison, of Atlanta.

Mrs. James Bagby and children return this week after spending the past two weeks in Augusta.

Rodney Hammett has returned from a motor trip to Lakemont.

Henry F. Sharp, of Atlanta, is registered at the Hotel Roosevelt in New York.

Visitors to Cherokeelodge on Lake Burton during the past week include Mr. and Mrs. John L. Tye, Mr. and Mrs. Hoyt Brown, Mr. and Mrs. N. C. Harrison and Miss Mary Harrison, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Brooks, Mrs. Mary Miller and Lawrence Ruben, of Atlanta, and Dr. and Mrs. W. S. Ansley and Dr. and Mrs. J. M. Wright, of Decatur.

Mr. and Mrs. Clay Roquemore announce the birth of a daughter at Wesley Memorial hospital July 22, who has been named Claudine Francis.

Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Abbott are spending a few days at Clayton before leaving for a visit to Birmingham.

Floyd Hammett spent last week-end at Lakemont.

Miss Sarah Cousins has returned.

Beauty Fashions.

6236

A PRACTICAL UNDERGARMENT FOR GIRLS.

6236. Nainsook, cambric, or crepe as well as crepe de chine may be used for this model. Lace or a hem edge finished with veining will be an attractive finish. The front is cut with waist and body in one. The waist portions of the back close at the center. This style has comfortable lines. The fulness of the leg portions is gathered into narrow bands.

The pattern for this desirable garment is cut in 6 sizes: 2, 4, 6, 8, 10 and 12 years. To make this model for a 10-year size will require 1-3/4 yards of 36-inch material. To trim neck and armholes edges as illustrated will require 2-5/8 yards of lace or edging.

Pattern mailed to any address on receipt of 10c in silver or stamps.

Send 12c in silver or stamps for our up-to-date fall and winter 1928-29 book of fashions.

Address orders to Beauty Fashion Department, The Constitution, Atlanta, Ga.

Torrance, at their home on Delmont drive.

Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Martin, Dr. Nelson Martin and W. B. Roberts have returned from Warrenton, Ore., after a stay of several weeks.

Dr. Lewis M. Gaines and W. A. Fuller left Friday on an automobile trip to the mountains of North Carolina. They expect to be away until August 20.

Mrs. Herbert Metzger and son are guests at the Kenilworth Inn in Asheville, N. C.

Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Toole, Miss Marjorie Toole, Miss Elizabeth Toole and Miss Jane Rambo, who are the guests of Mrs. J. L. Brooks, left Tuesday for Chattanooga, where they will visit friends.

Mr. and Mrs. John R. Kruse, of Chattanooga, who have been the guests of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Jenkins, in West End, left Wednesday for a motor trip through Florida.

Mrs. W. A. Hammel leaves this week for a "day visit" at Wrightsville Beach.

Miss Mary Zachry has returned from a week-end visit at Toccoa.

George T. Renfro has returned to his home in Nashville, Tenn., after spending a short time with relatives in the city.

Mrs. J. L. Park and son, John, of Chattanooga, who have been visiting Mrs. W. C. Griffith on Langhorn street, will be joined by Mr. Park for the week-end, and will leave by motor for Chattanooga the first of the week.

W. H. Austin has returned from a recent visit to relatives in south Georgia.

Dr. and Mrs. R. W. Tharpe announce the birth of a daughter at Davis-Fischer sanitarium July 25, who has been named Doris Maray. Mrs. Tharpe was formerly Miss Annie Lee Wall, of Athens.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Tatum, of Bolton, have recently returned from a motor trip to Chattanooga, where they visited Mr. Tatum's relatives. They were accompanied by Mrs. B. F. Haley, of West Palm Beach, Fla., as far as Resaca, where she visited her relatives. Miss Mabelle Rolader, of Atlanta, accompanied them to Rifeville, where she visited Miss Willie Yates.

Mr. and Mrs. Zeb N. Holler, of 685 West Peachtree street, announce the birth of a son, Zeb N. Holler, Jr., August 2, at Davis-Fischer sanitarium.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Percy and Mr. and Mrs. Dillon Akers are motoring through Virginia, and are at present at Yorktown, one of the most historic spots in the Old Dominion.

Miss Jane Myer is visiting relatives in Cleveland, Ohio, having left Atlanta last Wednesday accompanied by her father, Eli Myer.

Louie E. Landard, formerly of Atlanta but who has made his home in Miami, Fla., for the past four years, is visiting his father, N. A. Landard, at his home, 504 Boulevard, S. E.

Misses Lamar Jeter and Ruth Curry are spending two weeks in Asheville, N. C.

Miss Evelyn Gershon left last week for Brooklyn, N. Y., to be the guest of relatives several weeks.

Mrs. E. G. Friedman and daughter, little Harriet Lillian, left for Myrtle Beach, S. C., to be gone for ten days.

Mrs. Marion T. Benson and sons, Bagley, Walker and Charles Benson, have returned from a visit to Washington, D. C., Philadelphia and New York city.

Mrs. F. W. Raby, of Chattanooga, Tenn., arrived Monday to spend several weeks with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. White, at their home on Piedmont avenue.

Miss Ruth Tribble underwent an operation Friday at the Georgia Baptist hospital.

Dr. and Mrs. Newdigate Moreland Owsen have returned from a wedding trip and are at home at 4070 Peachtree road.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Rylander, Jr., of America, Ga., are the guests of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. W.

BURGESS CHILDREN'S STORIES

KING EAGLE GETS HIS FISH.

By Thornton W. Burgess.

A loss may sometimes prove a gain. I hope I make my meaning plain.

—Plunger the Osprey.

Plunger in just the right place, not to injure him, yet to tear his grasp of flapped wings frankly, found himself free, and beat his way up into the air. Straight over to his favorite perch he flew, and there he sat for a long, long time, resting, for he was thoroughly tired out. And for once he felt no anger toward King Eagle and Mrs. Eagle. They had saved him, although they didn't know it. King Eagle knew it and was happy.

Meanwhile King Eagle was beating his way heavily toward the nest on the mountain, carrying the great fish. It was big enough to tire even his strong wings. But what a feast it would be! Mrs. Eagle had flown down to the water, and King Eagle had reached home. King Eagle was glad enough to leave this work to King Eagle. He felt that he had earned a rest.

(Copyright, 1928, for "The Constitution.")

The next story: "King Eagle Watches Another Hunter."

long, long time, resting, for he was thoroughly tired out. And for once he felt no anger toward King Eagle and Mrs. Eagle. They had saved him, although they didn't know it. King Eagle knew it and was happy.

Meanwhile King Eagle was beating his way heavily toward the nest on the mountain, carrying the great fish. It was big enough to tire even his strong wings. But what a feast it would be! Mrs. Eagle had flown down to the water, and King Eagle had reached home. King Eagle was glad enough to leave this work to King Eagle. He felt that he had earned a rest.

(Copyright, 1928, for "The Constitution.")

The next story: "King Eagle Watches Another Hunter."

long, long time, resting, for he was thoroughly tired out. And for once he felt no anger toward King Eagle and Mrs. Eagle. They had saved him, although they didn't know it. King Eagle knew it and was happy.

Meanwhile King Eagle was beating his way heavily toward the nest on the mountain, carrying the great fish. It was big enough to tire even his strong wings. But what a feast it would be! Mrs. Eagle had flown down to the water, and King Eagle had reached home. King Eagle was glad enough to leave this work to King Eagle. He felt that he had earned a rest.

(Copyright, 1928, for "The Constitution.")

The next story: "King Eagle Watches Another Hunter."

long, long time, resting, for he was thoroughly tired out. And for once he felt no anger toward King Eagle and Mrs. Eagle. They had saved him, although they didn't know it. King Eagle knew it and was happy.

Meanwhile King Eagle was beating his way heavily toward the nest on the mountain, carrying the great fish. It was big enough to tire even his strong wings. But what a feast it would be! Mrs. Eagle had flown down to the water, and King Eagle had reached home. King Eagle was glad enough to leave this work to King Eagle. He felt that he had earned a rest.

(Copyright, 1928, for "The Constitution.")

The next story: "King Eagle Watches Another Hunter."

long, long time, resting, for he was thoroughly tired out. And for once he felt no anger toward King Eagle and Mrs. Eagle. They had saved him, although they didn't know it. King Eagle knew it and was happy.

Meanwhile King Eagle was beating his way heavily toward the nest on the mountain, carrying the great fish. It was big enough to tire even his strong wings. But what a feast it would be! Mrs. Eagle had flown down to the water, and King Eagle had reached home. King Eagle was glad enough to leave this work to King Eagle. He felt that he had earned a rest.

(Copyright, 1928, for "The Constitution.")

The next story: "King Eagle Watches Another Hunter."

long, long time, resting, for he was thoroughly tired out. And for once he felt no anger toward King Eagle and Mrs. Eagle. They had saved him, although they didn't know it. King Eagle knew it and was happy.

Meanwhile King Eagle was beating his way heavily toward the nest on the mountain, carrying the great fish. It was big enough to tire even his strong wings. But what a feast it would be! Mrs. Eagle had flown down to the water, and King Eagle had reached home. King Eagle was glad enough to leave this work to King Eagle. He felt that he had earned a rest.

(Copyright, 1928, for "The Constitution.")

The next story: "King Eagle Watches Another Hunter."

long, long time, resting, for he was thoroughly tired out. And for once he felt no anger toward King Eagle and Mrs. Eagle. They had saved him, although they didn't know it. King Eagle knew it and was happy.

Meanwhile King Eagle was beating his way heavily toward the nest on the mountain, carrying the great fish. It was big enough to tire even his strong wings. But what a feast it would be! Mrs. Eagle had flown down to the water, and King Eagle had reached home. King Eagle was glad enough to leave this work to King Eagle. He felt that he had earned a rest.

(Copyright, 1928, for "The Constitution.")

The next story: "King Eagle Watches Another Hunter."

long, long time, resting, for he was thoroughly tired out. And for once he felt no anger toward King Eagle and Mrs. Eagle. They had saved him, although they didn't know it. King Eagle knew it and was happy.

Meanwhile King Eagle was beating his way heavily toward the nest on the mountain, carrying the great fish. It was big enough to tire even his strong wings. But what a feast it would be! Mrs. Eagle had flown down to the water, and King Eagle had reached home. King Eagle was glad enough to leave this work to King Eagle. He felt that he had earned a rest.

(Copyright, 1928, for "The Constitution.")

The next story: "King Eagle Watches Another Hunter."

long, long time, resting, for he was thoroughly tired out. And for once he felt no anger toward King Eagle and Mrs. Eagle. They had saved him, although they didn't know it. King Eagle knew it and was happy.

Meanwhile King Eagle was beating his way heavily toward the nest on the mountain, carrying the great fish. It was big enough to tire even his strong wings. But what a feast it would be! Mrs. Eagle had flown down to the water, and King Eagle had reached home. King Eagle was glad enough to leave this work to King Eagle. He felt that he had earned a rest.

(Copyright, 1928, for "The Constitution.")

The next story: "King Eagle Watches Another Hunter."

long, long time, resting, for he was thoroughly tired out. And for once he felt no anger toward King Eagle and Mrs. Eagle. They had saved him, although they didn't know it. King Eagle knew it and was happy.

Meanwhile King Eagle was beating his way heavily toward the nest on the mountain, carrying the great fish. It was big enough to tire even his strong wings. But what a feast it would be! Mrs. Eagle had flown down to the water, and King Eagle had reached home. King Eagle was glad enough to leave this work to King Eagle. He felt that he had earned a rest.

(Copyright, 1928, for "The Constitution.")

The next story: "King Eagle Watches Another Hunter."

long, long time, resting, for he was thoroughly tired out. And for once he felt no anger toward King Eagle and Mrs. Eagle. They had saved him, although they didn't know it. King Eagle knew it and was happy.

Meanwhile King Eagle was beating his way heavily toward the nest on the mountain, carrying the great fish. It was big enough to tire even his strong wings. But what a feast it would be! Mrs. Eagle had flown down to the water, and King Eagle had reached home. King Eagle was glad enough to leave this work to King Eagle. He felt that he had earned a rest.

(Copyright, 1928, for "The Constitution.")

The next story: "King Eagle Watches Another Hunter."

long, long time, resting, for he was thoroughly tired out. And for once he felt no anger toward King Eagle and Mrs. Eagle. They had saved him, although they didn't know it. King Eagle knew it and was happy.

Meanwhile King Eagle was beating his way heavily toward the nest on the mountain, carrying the great fish. It was big enough to tire even his strong wings. But what a feast it would be! Mrs. Eagle had flown down to the water, and King Eagle had reached home. King Eagle was glad enough to leave this work to King Eagle. He felt that he had earned a rest.

(Copyright, 1928, for "The Constitution.")

The next story: "King Eagle Watches Another Hunter."

long, long time, resting, for he was thoroughly tired out. And for once he felt no anger toward King Eagle and Mrs. Eagle. They had saved him, although they didn't know it. King Eagle knew it and was happy.

Meanwhile King Eagle was beating his way heavily toward the nest on the mountain, carrying the great fish. It was big enough to tire even his strong wings. But what a feast it would be! Mrs. Eagle had flown down to the water, and King Eagle had reached home. King Eagle was glad enough to leave this work to King Eagle. He felt that he had earned a rest.

(Copyright, 1928, for "The Constitution.")

The next story: "King Eagle Watches Another Hunter."

long, long time, resting, for he was thoroughly tired out. And for once he felt no anger toward King Eagle and Mrs. Eagle. They had saved him, although they didn't know it. King Eagle knew it and was happy.

Meanwhile King Eagle was beating his way heavily toward the nest on the mountain, carrying the great fish. It was big enough to tire even his strong wings. But what a feast it would be! Mrs. Eagle had flown down to the water, and King Eagle had reached home. King Eagle was glad enough to leave this work to King Eagle. He felt that he had earned a rest.

(Copyright, 1928, for "The Constitution.")

The next story: "King Eagle Watches Another Hunter."

long, long time, resting, for he was thoroughly tired out. And for once he felt no anger toward King Eagle and Mrs. Eagle. They had saved him, although they didn't know it. King Eagle knew it and was happy.

Meanwhile King Eagle was beating his way heavily toward the nest on the mountain, carrying the great fish. It was big enough to tire even his strong wings. But what a feast it would be! Mrs. Eagle had flown down to the water, and King Eagle had reached home. King Eagle was glad enough to leave this work to King Eagle. He felt that he had earned a rest.

SALE

LATE Summer Hats

$1.00 to $2.98

Including smart felts, large flops and models for every summer occasion.

Open All Day Saturday Until 9 P. M.

MRS. C. H. SMITH

The Taming of Elizabeth

By WINIFRED BOGGS

SYNOPSIS.

The young Elizabeth is the adopted daughter of Tim and Elizabeth Darcy. When she is four years old she runs away from home to avoid punishment for getting into mischief. She is brought home promptly by a neighbor, Miss Smiley.

At 12, Elizabeth runs away again, this time from school and to the home of her Aunt Dolly, in London. Dolly, who is almost as flighty as the young Elizabeth, sympathizes with her niece, much to the irritation of her stepson, Stephen Whitby.

After the death of her parents Elizabeth goes to live with her aunt. During the war they keep themselves busy and also amused by performing in amateur theatricals for the benefit of wounded soldiers. Stephen, home on leave, is asked by his stepmother to bring Mark Lenoir, a young playwright, to one of their performances.

Shortly after the end of the war Mrs. Whitby dies suddenly in Brighton, and Elizabeth learns to her consternation that her aunt had frittered away the money left her by her husband, and had also disposed of some of Stephen's inheritance as well. Afraid to face Stephen after this revelation, Elizabeth decides to go to Mark Lenoir in London and ask him to get her a job on the stage. Stephen finds her with Mark and, although his business has failed, he offers to help her. She refuses his help and advice, and takes her part in the play. On the opening night she gets stage fright, and runs off, leaving an understudy to take over her part. Miss Smiley, who happens to be in London visiting her cousin, Mrs. White, sees Elizabeth on the street and takes her to Mrs. White's home. The latter offers her a job as cook and Elizabeth accepts. But she fails in this job, too, and then lands a post as companion to an old lady in the country. Julia Vestington, the old lady's granddaughter, makes all the arrangements with Elizabeth on the street and Stephen arranges with his cousin, William Whitby, to take over the management of the latter's business.

INSTALLMENT XXX. A CASE OF NERVES.

A glint came into the story eyes facing Elizabeth. "Who's been telling you?" Blossom demanded sharply. "The mistress don't allow talking. It's all dead and done with . . . and it ain't nothing to do with you."

"But it is, I feel it is!" cried Elizabeth, her hands shaking. "And nobody told me, I just guessed. I knew for certain, somehow. And the girl died . . . horribly! And she slept in my room . . . for I have felt her there. Once when I was looking in the glass my face was suddenly wiped out and there was a dreadful mad face, like mine, and yet terribly unlike . . ."

Blossom looked at her curiously. "Ay, there's a likeness," she said; "she had blue eyes and black hair, but she was not tall like you, just a mite of a thing."

"You know her?"

"There's nothing I haven't known . . . in my time," answered Blossom. "But it don't do to go pokin' an' pryin', folk learn more'n their prayers an' they don't always like it. And the mistress don't like it neither; she's callin' you again and she ain't one you can keep waiting."

Elizabeth went slowly back to the house. It lay in sunshine, and its many windows winked gayly at her, but there was a wild secret terror in her soul, not the terror of things known, but the more subtle terror of the unknown . . .

Mrs. Vestington looked at her sharply. "What's the matter, Elizabeth. You look as if you have seen a ghost?"

The girl started. "That is what I am afraid of seeing—ghosts!" she cried hysterically. "O, Mrs. Vestington, sometimes I feel almost sure that this place is haunted, and haunted with such dreadful things. Don't you feel it too? A sort of . . . of creeping death and horror."

The pretty pink was wiped out of the elder woman's face. "Creeping death," she echoed, terror in her voice; "creeping always nearer, inescapable."

"Yes! Yes. That is what I mean, I feel it."

"You!" Mrs. Vestington laughed contemptuously. "What have you to do with death, a young thing like you?" she asked with envy. "It's years before you need even think of it, feel the

Aunt Het

"I'm too easy-goin' to tell Fanny what I think of her, but it's a comfort to set an' think up things I would say to her if I was mean enough."

SALLY'S SALLIES

A woman should always get a husband much taller than herself, so he'll overlook her shortcomings.

shadow stealing nearer. O, you young things that cannot realize your luck till it's too late!"

"But young people die," said Elizabeth. "That girl in the asylum died."

"Who has been talking of her?"

"Nobody. It's as if I feel her near."

"Rubbish! Just a mad girl! Far better die than live on mad."

"If she was really mad," said Elizabeth below her breath. "But she does not look mad at me, only—"

"What are you talking of? Who has been gossiping? That girl has been dead for 50 years, and you talk as if she was still here—"

"She is," cried Elizabeth wildly. "I believe she always will be—"

"I did not think you would imagine you saw ghosts—"

"She comes to me in dreams—"

"Rubbish! You are as bad as the others. Yours is a generation of nerves. There were no such things in my young days. Why three of my companions, healthy young girls, had nervous breakdowns were through giving in to silly hysteria and I had to send them away. I got ill myself. Imagine it!"

"I can imagine it," returned Elizabeth, looking nervously over her shoulder. "There's something queer—" quicker and dreadfully about this place. I think this girl was dreadfully done to death, and when she sees other young girls here she wants to tell them about it."

Elizabeth was silent for a moment, and then she said: "I have never felt so well and bright. Well, that is settled. I can't conjure youth out of the hedges and ditches, but I can get those two young men down for you and will have a gay week-end. They shall both make love to you and it will entertain me enormously."

"Elizabeth burst out laughing. 'Stephen never makes love to anybody, let alone me!' she said. 'He is not that sort.'"

"They are all that sort whether you know it or not," stated Mrs. Vestington positively; her face darkening.

Elizabeth shook the dark shadow from her, wondering at her own silly fancies, and burst out into incoherent speech: "O, did Mr. Vestington," she began.

Mrs. Vestington rose, a tiny figure of immense dignity. "We will not discuss my husband, Elizabeth," she said icily. "Youth has few references and no respect; age has both."

Elizabeth went to sleep that night as soon as her head touched the pillow, and awoke feeling—and looking—like her old self. She sang as she dressed and danced down to breakfast.

Soon that nice kind Mr. Vestington and Stephen would be here! How she was looking forward to their visit! Why she was actually counting the days till Stephen would be with them! She laughed out aloud at the idea. Yet as soon as they met they would quarrel as usual about something, because Stephen always did, and always would, quarrel with her. If he guessed she had tried to throw up this post he certainly would quarrel, to say the least of it, but she would not tell him that. There was something attractive about Julian Vestington even if he was a thing of straw as his aunt insisted, and she knew that he admired her. It would be pleasant to sun oneself in male admiration again; one missed that sort of thing.

Mrs. Vestington could not say of Stephen he was a thing of straw; there were times when the thought that he was a harsh disagreeable beast was almost a relief; disagreeable he might be, strong and dependable he certainly was. Suppose the time came when she felt she must leave and Mrs. Vestington would not let her go, well, Stephen would manage it if he thought it advisable. He would not let her be made ill or really unhappy, and if that girl came back she was going to be both, and rather badly frightened, too. So she also had blue eyes and black hair; perhaps she too had Irish blood in her veins; the highly strung imagination that sometimes went with it. Some day she would ask Blossom to tell her more, for she knew Blossom longed and feared to tell just as she feared to hear . . . and that in the end one would have to tell the other to hear. If only Stephen was different; if he could tell him about that girl, but he would only be impatient at such fancies. Mr. Vestington would not be impatient, she told herself, but he would be upset, and people that got easily upset were no real use to one. No, she would not tell Mr. Vestington. Perhaps Stephen would be different this time, less stiff-necked; a little kinder . . . He would have got Mrs. Vestington's letter, and they would get an answer very soon; he could not refuse to come, for Mrs. Vestington had promised he should, and Elizabeth felt the iron will under the soft exterior and knew that her employer somehow always got her way.

(Copyright, 1928, for The Constitution.)

(Continued Monday.)

NOAH NUMSKULL

DANGEROUS CURVES!

A PAIR OF STOCKINGS RUNNING

DEAR NOAH—IF A STOCKING STARTS TO RUN, WILL IT GO OVER TWO FEET?

DEAR NOAH—NEW YORK CITY

IF WE DUG UP CAPT JOHN SMITH, WOULD POCOHONTAS?

DEAR OLD NOAH—

IF THE WIND WHISTLES, WILL THAT MAKE THE RAIN CROW?

IN THE TOWN OF SHELSVILLE, IL.

1928, 7-24-28

THE GUMPS—LOVERS ONCE, BUT STRANGERS NOW.

MOON MULLINS—ONE OF THESE GYP JOINTS

SOMEBODY'S STENOGR—The Dear Girls

By Hayward

GASOLINE ALLEY—A FEW FLIES IN THE OINTMENT

Winnie Winkle,

The Breadwinner

And a Little Child

Shall Lead Them.

LITTLE

ORPHAN

ANNIE

"Home" Again.

Crackers Win

Olson Hurls Effectively Against Rocks

Brilliant Fielding Plays by Blithen, Zoeller, Feature; Poole Triples Twice.

BY BEN COTHRAN.

In strange contrast to the stirring incidents of the last four days, the Crackers passed a peaceful afternoon at the Dell Friday and in a calm, cool and collected manner dominated the Travelers by the close but sufficiently effective score of 2 to 1.

The home nine, hot on the trail of Birmingham, which trimmed Memphis 9 to 1, to hold its lead, burst out with two runs in the first inning, which was enough, and hung out a sign saying "Please do not disturb until Saturday afternoon" and proceeded to spend the remaining eight innings doing so fitfully, wakening occasionally to engineer a double play or remove Little Rock runners from the sacks when runs threatened.

This afternoon's second game of the series will be played at 2 o'clock. Please note the time, for immediately after the game is over Atlanta must clad itself in full armor for a one-day invasion of Memphis, to be there Sunday afternoon, return here Monday and resume the series, which was started at 2 o'clock in order that a full nine-inning tilt may be played.

Rube to Pitch.

Mr. John Henry Rube Robinson, one of Little Rock, will pitch for Atlanta today. Therefore, at the risk of becoming psychic, we are going to remark that Mr. Robinson engaged in a battle of the east-ends at Little Rock recently, being pitted against one Jim Marquis, former property of Atlanta. Mr. Robinson won and, considering his record since having become Atlanta property, we believe he will win again. As to who will pitch for Little Rock, has not been ascertained.

Art Olsen did the pitching Friday and went the full distance, but a couple of times when disaster threatened, but sparkling fielding plays by Blithen and Zoeller saved him.

There was, for instance, that time in the second inning, Klinger bounced one through the box, Partridge made a good stop but couldn't get the throw away in time and Klinger was safe. Then Gooch slammed the ball down to Gilbert at a mile-a-minute pace. Walter stretched out on the ground and made a great bare-handed stop of the ball, around and then threw it to the stands, which was a tough break. Ground rules allowed Klinger to proceed no further than third and Gooch stopped at second.

Blithen's Good Throw.

All this had happened with no one out. Blair seized upon this happy moment to pole a fairly long fly to left which Blithen was playing left field since West is replacing Culp in center, Nick being out for a few days—caught. Klinger started for home; Blithen threw a perfect throw to the plate and Klinger was out by 10 feet.

The same thing happened in the second inning, with Zoeller making the throw. Successive singles by Grace and Turpin had put the former on third, Oliver poked a short fly to right and Gooch was caught at a mile-a-minute pace. Zoeller tried unsuccessfully to bunt, Gilbert poked a single to right. Then Jim Poole came up, took a hefty swing at the ball and sent it on a line in right for three bases, while Gilbert scored. Max West singled to right and Poole scored. After Partridge flew out to left West was out stealing, the inning was over and so was the Cracker scoring.

Travelers Score.

Things blundered along until the ninth, it was a close, well played game, but no one seemed to get unduly excited over it. The audience was at that sort of lethargy that comes after a Thanksgiving dinner, dozed through a pleasant afternoon.

Finally, in the ninth, Little Rock scored a run. West was out at a bunt down the third-base line and Distel went in to run for him. After Klinger scored a run, West was out at a bunt down the third-base line and Distel went in to run for him. After Klinger scored a run, West was out at a bunt down the third-base line and Distel went in to run for him.

Close

Summary: Three-base hit, Poole, Klinger; stolen base, Distel; sacrifice, Blithen; double play, Blithen to Brock; Zoeller to Brock; Cracker to Klinger; left on base, Little Rock field; Atlanta, 2; Cracker, 1; umpires, Tim, 135; Umpires, Johnson and McLaughlin.

King Tut Wins.

New York, August 3.—(United News.)—King Tut, Minneapolis lightweight, outpointed Ray Miller, Coney Island, in a 10-round bout at the Coney Island stadium here tonight. Tut carried the fight to Miller and had the better of the going the whole route. He also carried a sizeable weight advantage, having weighed in at 135, whereas Miller weighed in at 128 1/2.

Father of Tennis.

Pa. Sheafe, "father of tennis" around Boston, did so much for the game that a memorial fountain was erected at Chestnut Hill.

STUDY A FATHER OF LEADING JUDGES AND LAWYERS. Year course and course for business men. 28th year information, address.

ATLANTA LAW SCHOOL. 177 Adams Nat'l Bank Bldg. Walnut 0008

House of David Nine Here

STAPLES, PITCHER.

The "Bearded Beauties," who comprise the best-known independent baseball team in the nation, will be seen in action at Spiller's park Wednesday afternoon, when the House of David team meets the Buick nine of this city.

Can Play Baseball.

They are picturesque with their flowing beards above natty uniforms, and are not as old and wobbly as they appear with their facial decorations. In fact, nearly every member of the team is a comparatively youthful member of the colony, and they can play baseball.

For the past few weeks they have been playing a series of games with star amateur teams throughout the southeast, and have not been defeated during the tour. They are to meet a mighty strong aggregation here, however, in the all-star team gathered by the Buick Motor company.

Prior to each game the House of David outfit stages its pepper game. Newly arrived persons who have seen them in action that nobody but the players know the location of the ball most of the time. It is tossed and juggled rapidly that the batter hitting for the pepper players sometimes loses the ball himself.

SOUTHERN LEAGUE.

Little Rock 1; Atlanta 2. Memphis 2; Mobile 3. Chattanooga at New Orleans; wet grounds.

AMERICAN LEAGUE.

Philadelphia 5; Detroit 2. Washington 3; Chicago 1. St. Louis 2; Boston 1.

NATIONAL LEAGUE.

St. Louis 2; Boston 1. Philadelphia 5; Detroit 2. Washington 3; Chicago 1.

SOUTHEASTERN ASSOCIATION.

Knoxville 15; Asheville 16. Spartanburg 6; Greenville 11. Charlotte 1; Augusta 2.

SOUTHEASTERN ASSOCIATION.

Savannah 1; Albany 4. Montgomery 2; Selma 6. Pensacola 3; Columbus 7. Tampa 5; Jacksonville 9.

PIEDMONT LEAGUE.

Sallaburg 2; Greenville 26.5. Durham 9; High Point 7. Winston-Salem 2; Raleigh 1. (Only game three hits.)

WESTERN LEAGUE.

Chicago 4; Omaha 3. Pueblo 12; Oklahoma City 7. Tulsa 10; Houston 2. Des Moines-Amariel postponed, wet grounds.

PACIFIC COAST LEAGUE.

Portland 1; Seattle 1. San Francisco 8; Los Angeles 5. Oakland 6; Sacramento 5.

U. S. AQUATIC STARS BATTLE RIVALS TODAY

THOMAS T. TOPPING.

Amsterdam, August 3.—(AP) America's swimmers launch their bid to retain their Olympic aquatic honors tomorrow when a championship competition gets under way with elimination trials in the women's 400-meter free style event and the men's 1500-meter.

Upon the slender but powerful shoulders of Martha Norelius and Ethel McGarry, of New York, and Josephine McKim, of Homestead, Pa., will rest the burden of upholding American supremacy in the former event in which Miss Norelius is the defending champion. Clarence Crabbe, of Honolulu; Ray Ruddy, of New York; and Austin Clapp, of Hollywood, Calif., are to take care of American interests in the other free style event, with Crabbe the chief hope.

Swimmers for water polo give the United States team a day off. Miss Norelius, who won the 400 in sensational style in the 1924 game at Paris, appears to have improved with the additional four years. She took one final spin around the Olympic pool this afternoon, covering 600 meters. The first 500 she covered in a leisurely manner, but finished up with a terrific sprint over the last hundred.

Miss McGarry also appeared to be in the pink of condition while Miss McKim, who only 18 and weighs 104, is regarded as the real dark horse.

Among the mere men, Crabbe looked especially fit, but is to encounter stormy weather in the very first heat where he will be called on to face Andrew "Boy" Charlton, of Australia, and Arne Borg, the Swedish hurricane, who finished first and second, respectively, in the 1500-meter final at Paris. It is felt that if Crabbe can weather this test he has a good chance to win the title.

The American 800-meter relay team was chosen today, after trials in which Walter Lauffer, of Chicago; George Kojaic, of New York; and Clapp gained the honor of becoming colleagues of Johnny Weissmuller, the Chicago flash, who was automatically selected. Lauffer's time of two minutes 18 and four-fifths seconds, was the best in the trials, followed by Kojaic, who took 2:18, and Clapp, who took 2:19.

Among the men, Crabbe looked especially fit, but is to encounter stormy weather in the very first heat where he will be called on to face Andrew "Boy" Charlton, of Australia, and Arne Borg, the Swedish hurricane, who finished first and second, respectively, in the 1500-meter final at Paris. It is felt that if Crabbe can weather this test he has a good chance to win the title.

The American 800-meter relay team was chosen today, after trials in which Walter Lauffer, of Chicago; George Kojaic, of New York; and Clapp gained the honor of becoming colleagues of Johnny Weissmuller, the Chicago flash, who was automatically selected. Lauffer's time of two minutes 18 and four-fifths seconds, was the best in the trials, followed by Kojaic, who took 2:18, and Clapp, who took 2:19.

Among the men, Crabbe looked especially fit, but is to encounter stormy weather in the very first heat where he will be called on to face Andrew "Boy" Charlton, of Australia, and Arne Borg, the Swedish hurricane, who finished first and second, respectively, in the 1500-meter final at Paris. It is felt that if Crabbe can weather this test he has a good chance to win the title.

The American 800-meter relay team was chosen today, after trials in which Walter Lauffer, of Chicago; George Kojaic, of New York; and Clapp gained the honor of becoming colleagues of Johnny Weissmuller, the Chicago flash, who was automatically selected. Lauffer's time of two minutes 18 and four-fifths seconds, was the best in the trials, followed by Kojaic, who took 2:18, and Clapp, who took 2:19.

Among the men, Crabbe looked especially fit, but is to encounter stormy weather in the very first heat where he will be called on to face Andrew "Boy" Charlton, of Australia, and Arne Borg, the Swedish hurricane, who finished first and second, respectively, in the 1500-meter final at Paris. It is felt that if Crabbe can weather this test he has a good chance to win the title.

The American 800-meter relay team was chosen today, after trials in which Walter Lauffer, of Chicago; George Kojaic, of New York; and Clapp gained the honor of becoming colleagues of Johnny Weissmuller, the Chicago flash, who was automatically selected. Lauffer's time of two minutes 18 and four-fifths seconds, was the best in the trials, followed by Kojaic, who took 2:18, and Clapp, who took 2:19.

Among the men, Crabbe looked especially fit, but is to encounter stormy weather in the very first heat where he will be called on to face Andrew "Boy" Charlton, of Australia, and Arne Borg, the Swedish hurricane, who finished first and second, respectively, in the 1500-meter final at Paris. It is felt that if Crabbe can weather this test he has a good chance to win the title.

The American 800-meter relay team was chosen today, after trials in which Walter Lauffer, of Chicago; George Kojaic, of New York; and Clapp gained the honor of becoming colleagues of Johnny Weissmuller, the Chicago flash, who was automatically selected. Lauffer's time of two minutes 18 and four-fifths seconds, was the best in the trials, followed by Kojaic, who took 2:18, and Clapp, who took 2:19.

Among the men, Crabbe looked especially fit, but is to encounter stormy weather in the very first heat where he will be called on to face Andrew "Boy" Charlton, of Australia, and Arne Borg, the Swedish hurricane, who finished first and second, respectively, in the 1500-meter final at Paris. It is felt that if Crabbe can weather this test he has a good chance to win the title.

The American 800-meter relay team was chosen today, after trials in which Walter Lauffer, of Chicago; George Kojaic, of New York; and Clapp gained the honor of becoming colleagues of Johnny Weissmuller, the Chicago flash, who was automatically selected. Lauffer's time of two minutes 18 and four-fifths seconds, was the best in the trials, followed by Kojaic, who took 2:18, and Clapp, who took 2:19.

Among the men, Crabbe looked especially fit, but is to encounter stormy weather in the very first heat where he will be called on to face Andrew "Boy" Charlton, of Australia, and Arne Borg, the Swedish hurricane, who finished first and second, respectively, in the 1500-meter final at Paris. It is felt that if Crabbe can weather this test he has a good chance to win the title.

The American 800-meter relay team was chosen today, after trials in which Walter Lauffer, of Chicago; George Kojaic, of New York; and Clapp gained the honor of becoming colleagues of Johnny Weissmuller, the Chicago flash, who was automatically selected. Lauffer's time of two minutes 18 and four-fifths seconds, was the best in the trials, followed by Kojaic, who took 2:18, and Clapp, who took 2:19.

Among the men, Crabbe looked especially fit, but is to encounter stormy weather in the very first heat where he will be called on to face Andrew "Boy" Charlton, of Australia, and Arne Borg, the Swedish hurricane, who finished first and second, respectively, in the 1500-meter final at Paris. It is felt that if Crabbe can weather this test he has a good chance to win the title.

The American 800-meter relay team was chosen today, after trials in which Walter Lauffer, of Chicago; George Kojaic, of New York; and Clapp gained the honor of becoming colleagues of Johnny Weissmuller, the Chicago flash, who was automatically selected. Lauffer's time of two minutes 18 and four-fifths seconds, was the best in the trials, followed by Kojaic, who took 2:18, and Clapp, who took 2:19.

Among the men, Crabbe looked especially fit, but is to encounter stormy weather in the very first heat where he will be called on to face Andrew "Boy" Charlton, of Australia, and Arne Borg, the Swedish hurricane, who finished first and second, respectively, in the 1500-meter final at Paris. It is felt that if Crabbe can weather this test he has a good chance to win the title.

The American 800-meter relay team was chosen today, after trials in which Walter Lauffer, of Chicago; George Kojaic, of New York; and Clapp gained the honor of becoming colleagues of Johnny Weissmuller, the Chicago flash, who was automatically selected. Lauffer's time of two minutes 18 and four-fifths seconds, was the best in the trials, followed by Kojaic, who took 2:18, and Clapp, who took 2:19.

Among the men, Crabbe looked especially fit, but is to encounter stormy weather in the very first heat where he will be called on to face Andrew "Boy" Charlton, of Australia, and Arne Borg, the Swedish hurricane, who finished first and second, respectively, in the 1500-meter final at Paris. It is felt that if Crabbe can weather this test he has a good chance to win the title.

The American 800-meter relay team was chosen today, after trials in which Walter Lauffer, of Chicago; George Kojaic, of New York; and Clapp gained the honor of becoming colleagues of Johnny Weissmuller, the Chicago flash, who was automatically selected. Lauffer's time of two minutes 18 and four-fifths seconds, was the best in the trials, followed by Kojaic, who took 2:18, and Clapp, who took 2:19.

Among the men, Crabbe looked especially fit, but is to encounter stormy weather in the very first heat where he will be called on to face Andrew "Boy" Charlton, of Australia, and Arne Borg, the Swedish hurricane, who finished first and second, respectively, in the 1500-meter final at Paris. It is felt that if Crabbe can weather this test he has a good chance to win the title.

The American 800-meter relay team was chosen today, after trials in which Walter Lauffer, of Chicago; George Kojaic, of New York; and Clapp gained the honor of becoming colleagues of Johnny Weissmuller, the Chicago flash, who was automatically selected. Lauffer's time of two minutes 18 and four-fifths seconds, was the best in the trials, followed by Kojaic, who took 2:18, and Clapp, who took 2:19.

Among the men, Crabbe looked especially fit, but is to encounter stormy weather in the very first heat where he will be called on to face Andrew "Boy" Charlton, of Australia, and Arne Borg, the Swedish hurricane, who finished first and second, respectively, in the 1500-meter final at Paris. It is felt that if Crabbe can weather this test he has a good chance to win the title.

Crackers' Oppener From Little Rock by 2-1 Score

BY DICK HAWKINS.

The Bearded Beauties.

Our sanctum sanctorum has just been invaded. We were busily engaged in reading out a bit of copy and looking over the exchanges when he looked up to find an apparition in front of the desk. It was a bewhiskered apparition and when it placed a brief case on the desk and started to remove a package therefrom we had visions of bolshevik bombs and other infernal machines.

Imagine our embarrassment when we discovered that the gentleman at hand was neither a member of the anarchist party nor a demon bent upon our destruction. The apparition proved to be Simon Conterau, advance man for the baseball team of the House of David. This team will play here next Wednesday at Spiller's field and we do not hesitate to say that the customers will see a great team in action.

If a personal reference will be pardoned, let us go back five years and tell just why we know the "Bearded Beauties" can play baseball. It was a day known as Labor day, because nobody works on that day, and the scene of action was the fair grounds at a little big city in Michigan known as Hudson. The American Oil team of Jackson was playing the House of David gentlemen on that day and on the Oil team was a young college boy known by a strange name but who happened to be the chauffeur of this literary instrument. The Oil team had been undefeated for ten straight games and betting was heavy on the outcome of the contest. We blush to say that a part of the wager money was furnished by your correspondent, and we blush further to recount that said wager money never returned to the fold. For the House of David Bearded Beauties licked us decisively and claimed the state independent championship.

Those bewhiskered gentlemen could play baseball then, and the team today has a goodly number of the same men in the lineup. They have played together so long that their teamwork is a joy to behold. They can and do play a lot of trick baseball, but if pressed can flash some brilliant effort. They are on a tour of the south and have won a series of ten consecutive games from the best independent teams in this section.

Prior to the game Wednesday the famous "pepper team" of the squad will amuse the fans with their exhibition of legdermain with a baseball. Three of their members—one Italian, one Spaniard and one Jew—make up the pepper team, and they can certainly handle a baseball.

People who go to the park Wednesday with the idea of seeing just a lot of bewhiskered clowns from the notorious religious colony at Benton Harbor, Mich., will be disappointed. True, the flowery-faced gentry can and do clown about a bit on the diamond and off, but they play good sound baseball and have some of the nation's finest independent ball players in their lineup.

The Grasping Populace.

It's beginning to appear that Atlanta is not satisfied with an ordinary ball game any more. After another series or two like the recent Chick-Cracker embroglio the Crackers will have to begin to play "eleven innings or no count" in order to please the fans.

Friday, in the first game against the Travelers of Little Rock, the Crackers won a fine game of baseball by the close score of 2-1. It was a jam-up game in every respect but the fans all went to sleep and snored audibly while the Crackers did likewise. It's getting so there is no kick left in these ordinary 2-1 affairs played in about one hour and 30 minutes.

NATIONAL LEAGUE.

St. Louis 2; Boston 1. Philadelphia 5; Detroit 2. Washington 3; Chicago 1.

SOUTHERN LEAGUE.

Little Rock 1; Atlanta 2. Memphis 2; Mobile 3. Chattanooga at New Orleans; wet grounds.

AMERICAN LEAGUE.

Philadelphia 5; Detroit 2. Washington 3; Chicago 1. St. Louis 2; Boston 1.

NATIONAL LEAGUE.

St. Louis 2; Boston 1. Philadelphia 5; Detroit 2. Washington 3; Chicago 1.

SOUTHEASTERN ASSOCIATION.

Knoxville 15; Asheville 16. Spartanburg 6; Greenville 11. Charlotte 1; Augusta 2.

SOUTHEASTERN ASSOCIATION.

Savannah 1; Albany 4. Montgomery 2; Selma 6. Pensacola 3; Columbus 7. Tampa 5; Jacksonville 9.

PIEDMONT LEAGUE.

Sallaburg 2; Greenville 26.5. Durham 9; High Point 7. Winston-Salem 2; Raleigh 1. (Only game three hits.)

WESTERN LEAGUE.

Chicago 4; Omaha 3. Pueblo 12; Oklahoma City 7. Tulsa 10; Houston 2. Des Moines-Amariel postponed, wet grounds.

PACIFIC COAST LEAGUE.

Portland 1; Seattle 1. San Francisco 8; Los Angeles 5. Oakland 6; Sacramento 5.

SANDLOTTERS START A ROW OVER PLAYERS

Orlando, Fla., August 3.—(AP) Tampa's all-star junior baseball team defeated the Miami Optimist club junior nine in the finals of the American Legion Junior state title here today, but it may develop that the victory was hollow in view of a ruling by Paul A. Hoxie, of St. Petersburg, a state league official.

Tampa piled up a score of 9 to 1 against the Miami team, for the right to enter the district legion tournament to be held later in Atlanta.

Hoxie, who is senior vice commander of the legion in Florida, acting in the absence of J. L. Sullivan, a departmental athletic officer, called a meeting of legion officials, which ruled Tampa ineligible to compete because of a previous ruling against Steve Krena, who lives in Brooksville and not in the city limits of Tampa.

At the same time the Miami team was ruled ineligible and was disqualified because the team appeared on the field in uniforms which did not carry the American Legion emblem.

With the two finalists ruled ineligible, a new acting athletic officer was appointed, and then St. Petersburg and the Kirby-Smith Junior school team, of Jacksonville, were named the teams qualified to play in the tourney.

Kirby-Smith capped the climax by winning from St. Petersburg, 8 to 4, the first of a three-game series to decide the claimant of the title.

In the Tampa instance, Krena, a player, was in the Tampa lineup after a dispute over his eligibility. The Tampans played him because of a ruling from Sullivan, in which the acting athletic officer had ruled in favor of Krena.

Tampa's team has gone home claiming the title and expecting to play in the meet at Atlanta.

What the outcome of the difficulty would be was unknown tonight.

The scores by innings for the two disputed games today follow:

Score by innings: R. H. E. Tampa 000 002 000 005 0 1 Miami 000 100 000 001 0 0 Batteries: Morris and Krena; Emsinger and B. Dunn.

Score by innings: R. H. E. Kirby-Smith 000 002 300 0 0 St. Petersburg 000 002 000 0 0 Batteries: Williams and Gregory; Hogan, Cunha and Masters, Sellers.

Standings

SOUTHERN LEAGUE.

CLUBS. Won. Lost. Pct. Birmingham 21 14 .600 ATLANTA 16 20 .444 Memphis 19 18 .514 Mobile 17 17 .500 Little Rock 16 18 .471 New Orleans 14 24 .368 Nashville 14 24 .368

AMERICAN LEAGUE.

CLUBS. Won. Lost. Pct. New York 66 37 .641 Philadelphia 66 37 .641 Cleveland 48 27 .437 Chicago 48 28 .433 St. Louis 44 28 .611 Detroit 44 28 .611 Boston 40 32 .556

NATIONAL LEAGUE.

CLUBS. Won. Lost. Pct. St. Louis 65 36 .644 Cincinnati 64 39 .620 Chicago 64 40 .615 Philadelphia 64 40 .615 Cleveland 64 40 .615

SALLY LEAGUE.

CLUBS. Won. Lost. Pct. Asheville 60 40 .600 Asheville 60 40 .600 Spartanburg 55 49 .529 Columbia 45 34 .568 Augusta 47 38 .553 Charlotte 46 39 .542

SOUTHEASTERN LEAGUE.

CLUBS. Won. Lost. Pct. Montgomery 23 17 .575 Pensacola 19 29 .396 Savannah 19 29 .396 Selma 19 29 .396 Columbus 13 32 .405

GEORGIA-ALABAMA LEAGUE.

CLUBS. Won. Lost. Pct. Tallahassee 1 0 1.000 Cedarhurst 1 0 1.000 Carrollton 1 0 1.000 Carrollton 1 0 1.000

SECOND HALF.

CLUBS. Won. Lost. Pct. Tallahassee 1 0 1.000 Cedarhurst 1 0 1.000 Carrollton 1 0 1.000 Carrollton 1 0 1.000

Ga.-Ala. League

CLUBS. Won. Lost. Pct. Tallahassee 1 0 1.000 Cedarhurst 1 0 1.000 Carrollton 1 0 1.000 Carrollton 1 0 1.000

Compact Swing Prevents Slicing

LEFT TAKES CLUB BACK INSIDE THRU LINE WITH STRAIGHT LEFT ARM

BY SOL METZGER.

If you can't swing an iron shot you will find that his left arm is in control both on the backswing and on the downswing. He hits through the ball, the left guiding the club. And throughout the swing both the arms and the body move as one. Such a swing is known as a compact swing. The reason for Watrous using it is to prevent getting his clubhead outside the line of flight during the downswing. If that is done a slice results, as he would have to pull the head of the club in toward him to make contact with the ball.

Slicing is such a common fault that it is one of the first things a golf instructor teaches. It is the right gets in control, a costly slice will result. Stars guard against it by making the left arm do the work.

Tomorrow—Why fast swinging is a cause of slicing.

To cure a habit of slicing you must first learn the cause. Sol Metzger, in "Slicing," takes up in detail the causes. Send stamp, addressed envelope to Sol Metzger, care of this paper, and request this leaflet. (Copyright, 1928, for The Constitution.)

Schwartz Wins In Title Scrap

New York, August 3.—(AP)—Izzy Schwartz, used in this state as flyweight champion of the world, successfully defended his title by knocking out Little Jeff of Baltimore, in the fourth round of a 15-round bout at the Rockaway stadium tonight.

Schwartz outclassed his opponent from the start until the finish came after 46 seconds of fighting in the fourth round. The champion weighed 111 pounds; Little Jeff 100 1-2.

Both rounds of the

New York, August 3.—(R)—Increase of the bank service charge to 1-1/2 per cent on call loans made by non-bank interests and limitation of the minimum amount so handled to $100,000 and multiples thereof were approved today by members of the wear, especially in northern markets. Among the industries, the steel and automobile trades show most activity in buying and output, with the former leaning quite heavily on the latter for consumptive requirements. Oil country goods and structural materials are selling well, however. The shoe manufacturing trade sends fairly good reports, with the leather trades slightly more active on slightly less quotations for shoe grades of material.

CROPS IMPROVED, BRADSTREET'S SAYS

Weekly bank clearings, $10,764,134,000, an increase of 4.9 per cent over a year ago.

Atlanta spot	19.65
Sales	100
Receipts	178
Shipments	268
Stock	12,442

Atlanta C. S. Products Market Basis Atlanta
Crude oil basis prime tank	$ 8.50
C. S. meal 75 car lot f. o. b.
Atlanta	49.50@50.00
C. S. meal 60 car monte points	48.00@49.50
C. S. hulls, loose	13.00@13.50
C. S. meal, sacked	16.00@16.50
Linters, first cut	97 @ 99
Linters, second cut	94 @ 95
Linters, clean mill cut	96 @ 97

Interior Movement.
 Memphis: Middling 19.15; receipts 670; shipments 2,673; sales 712; stock 75,069.
 Augusta: Middling 19.09; receipts 63; shipments 530; sales 729; stock 21,870.
 St. Louis: Receipts 247; shipments 266; stock 2,126.
 Fort Worth: Middling 18.65; sales 650.
 Little Rock: Middling 19.00; stock 5,338.
 Atlanta: Middling 19.65; sales 100.
 Dallas: Middling 18.65; sales 4,547.
 Montgomery: Middling 19.55.
 Total today: Receipts 980; shipments 3,159; sales 6,738; stock 104,901.

[illegible]

STRONG BULLISH MOVES
Official list of transactions on the New York Stock Market, August 3.—Following is the official list of transactions on the New York Stock Market giving all stocks and bonds traded in the name of issue and indicating prices in cents.
Sales (In 100s.)	High.	Low.	Close.
2 Adams Mills	244	241	244
2 Altes & Fisher	288	281	289
1 Alpha Port Cement	465	465	463
1 American Rock	465	465	463
4 Alum Ltd st	191	184	188
1 Alum Ltd st	191	184	188
20 Am Coal	490	490	490
20 Xam Cont Oilfields	70	70	70
Sales (In Hundreds)	High.	Low.	Close.
2 Electric	591	601	590
2 Electric	591	601	590
3 Electric Shovel pf.	45	45	45
112 Erie	112	112	112
7 Evans Auto Load B	80	80	80
12 Evans Wello Load	84	84	84
4 Fagot Mnt	61	61	61
10 Fagot Sugar	145	145	145
20 Fagot Load Mnt	61	61	61
1 Faneatol Prod	211	212	211
1 Faneatol Prod	211	212	211
1 Flat bed st	38	38	38
1 Flat bed st	38	38	38
4 Florsheim Shoe pf	904	904	904

2	Bilas Co	26	26	25	25	27	Holliger Gold Min	94	94	94	94
3	Bolsa Alam & Bros	75	74	74	74	75	Hoskins & Hardart	78	78	78	78
4	Bristol & Myers E	13	13	13	13	13	Hudson	158	158	158	158
5	British Celanese	13	13	13	13	13	Humble Oil & Ref	812	809	809	809
6	Buckley & Co	17	17	17	17	17	Imperial Ind	681	681	681	681
7	Buckeye Pipe Line	62	62	62	62	62	Imp Oil Canada	681	671	671	671
8	Burns & Roe	43	43	43	43	43	Insurance	844	844	844	844
9	Buff Niag & E P & A	424	424	424	424	424	Indust Rayon new	844	844	844	844
10	Bullfinch Mfg East	40	40	40	40	40	Insurance Sav	714	707	707	707
11	Campbell Wyrant	47	46	47	46	47	Intercon Petrol	1	1	1	1
12	Canada Wireles	461	461	461	461	461	Inter Ind	38	38	38	38
13	Canon Mills new	461	45	461	45	461	Inter Prod	123	123	123	123
14	Cardinal	44	44	44	44	44	Inter Ref	45	45	45	45
15	Carnation Milk	44	44	44	44	44	Inter Uti A	45	45	45	45
16	Caterpil Tract new	73	73	73	73	73	Inter Uti B	45	45	45	45
17	Cavanah	150	150	150	150	150	Inter Saftey Has	25	25	25	25
18	Celanese Corp Am new	694	694	694	694	694	Ital Superpower	151	151	151	151
19	Chemical Bank	150	150	150	150	150	Kenney	141	141	141	141
20	Chen Agniture Ref	150	143	150	143	150	Kensley Millbourn	141	141	141	141

2	Crosses & Black pfd	52	83	82
3	Doers & Black pfd	52	83	82
50	Deers & Co	3091	3944	3944
6	De Forest Road	11	11	11
7	Deery Old	21	21	21
8	Doebler Die-Cast	3091	371	39
1	Duplain Silk	12	22	22
2	Durbin Old	12	22	22
3	Dura vtc	8	71	8
4	Dura vtc	8	71	8
5	Dura vtc	8	71	8
6	Dura vtc	8	71	8
7	Dura vtc	8	71	8
8	Dura vtc	8	71	8
9	Dura vtc	8	71	8
10	Dura vtc	8	71	8
11	Dura vtc	8	71	8
12	Dura vtc	8	71	8
13	Dura vtc	8	71	8
14	Dura vtc	8	71	8
15	Dura vtc	8	71	8
16	Dura vtc	8	71	8
17	Dura vtc	8	71	8
18	Dura vtc	8	71	8
19	Dura vtc	8	71	8
20	Dura vtc	8	71	8
21	Dura vtc	8	71	8
22	Dura vtc	8	71	8
23	Dura vtc	8	71	8
24	Dura vtc	8	71	8
25	Dura vtc	8	71	8
26	Dura vtc	8	71	8
27	Dura vtc	8	71	8
28	Dura vtc	8	71	8
29	Dura vtc	8	71	8
30	Dura vtc	8	71	8
31	Dura vtc	8	71	8
32	Dura vtc	8	71	8
33	Dura vtc	8	71	8
34	Dura vtc	8	71	8
35	Dura vtc	8	71	8
36	Dura vtc	8	71	8
37	Dura vtc	8	71	8
38	Dura vtc	8	71	8
39	Dura vtc	8	71	8
40	Dura vtc	8	71	8
41	Dura vtc	8	71	8
42	Dura vtc	8	71	8
43	Dura vtc	8	71	8
44	Dura vtc	8	71	8
45	Dura vtc	8	71	8
46	Dura vtc	8	71	8
47	Dura vtc	8	71	8
48	Dura vtc	8	71	8
49	Dura vtc	8	71	8
50	Dura vtc	8	71	8
51	Dura vtc	8	71	8
52	Dura vtc	8	71	8
53	Dura vtc	8	71	8
54	Dura vtc	8	71	8
55	Dura vtc	8	71	8
56	Dura vtc	8	71	8
57	Dura vtc	8	71	8
58	Dura vtc	8	71	8
59	Dura vtc	8	71	8
60	Dura vtc	8	71	8
61	Dura vtc	8	71	8
62	Dura vtc	8	71	8
63	Dura vtc	8	71	8
64	Dura vtc	8	71	8
65	Dura vtc	8	71	8
66	Dura vtc	8	71	8
67	Dura vtc	8	71	8
68	Dura vtc	8	71	8
69	Dura vtc	8	71	8
70	Dura vtc	8	71	8
71	Dura vtc	8	71	8
72	Dura vtc	8	71	8
73	Dura vtc	8	71	8
74	Dura vtc	8	71	8
75	Dura vtc	8	71	8
76	Dura vtc	8	71	8
77	Dura vtc	8	71	8
78	Dura vtc	8	71	8
79	Dura vtc	8	71	8
80	Dura vtc	8	71	8
81	Dura vtc	8	71	8
82	Dura vtc	8	71	8
83

DAILY BOND AVERAGES.
	Fri.-Thurs- day
Ten first grade rails.	92.97
Ten secondary rails.	96.06
Ten public utilities.	97.00
Ten industrials.	99.46
Combined average.	96.37
Combined month ago.	97.67
Combined year ago.	97.79
Total bond sales (par value).	$7,961,000.

Sales (In $1,000)		High/Low/Close.	Sales (In $1,000)		High/Low/C.
12	NYCOTR Term 4s	884 884 884	5	Pembury Pl Mills Co	1014
13	NYCOTR 4 1/2s 44s	914 914 914	6	1st Nat 1st of B	1014
12	NYCOTR rfamp 5s	1004 1004 1003	7	Flt City Am Tn 40s	984 984
1	NYCOTR rfamp 4 1/2s	994 994 994	8	Flt City Am Tn 40s	984 984
5	NYCOTR 4 1/2s	914 914 914	9	Flt City Am Tn 40s	984 984
1	NY CNYC & St L Co	1024 1024 1022	10	Punta Alegre Sug 7s	1044 1044
1	NY CNYC 4 1/2s	1004 1004 1004	11	Reading 4 1/2s	924 924
1	NY CNYC 4 1/2s	80 80 80	12	Reading 4 1/2s	924 924
1	NY CNYC 4 1/2s	80 80 80	13	Reading 4 1/2s	924 924
1	NY CNYC 4 1/2s	80 80 80	14	Reading 4 1/2s	924 924
1	NY CNYC 4 1/2s	80 80 80	15	Reading 4 1/2s	924 924
1	NY CNYC 4 1/2s	80 80 80	16	Reading 4 1/2s	924 924
1	NY CNYC 4 1/2s	80 80 80	17	Reading 4 1/2s	924 924
1	NY CNYC 4 1/2s	80 80 80	18	Reading 4 1/2s	924 924
1	NY CNYC 4 1/2s	80 80 80	19	Reading 4 1/2s	924 924
1	NY CNYC 4 1/2s	80 80 80	20	Reading 4 1/2s	924 924
1	NY CNYC 4 1/2s	80 80 80	21	Reading 4 1/2s	924 924
1	NY CNYC 4 1/2s	80 80 80	22	Reading 4 1/2s	924 924
1	NY CNYC 4 1/2s	80 80 80	23	Reading 4 1/2s	924 924
1	NY CNYC 4 1/2s	80 80 80	24	Reading 4 1/2s	924 924
1	NY CNYC 4 1/2s	80 80 80	25	Reading 4 1/2s	924 924
1	NY CNYC 4 1/2s	80 80 80	26	Reading 4 1/2s	924 924
1	NY CNYC 4 1/2s	80 80 80	27	Reading 4 1/2s	924 924
1	NY CNYC 4 1/2s	80 80 80	28	Reading 4 1/2s	924 924
1	NY CNYC 4 1/2s	80 80 80	29	Reading 4 1/2s	924 924
1	NY CNYC 4 1/2s	80 80 80	30	Reading 4 1/2s	924 924
1	NY CNYC 4 1/2s	80 80 80	31	Reading 4 1/2s	924 924
1	NY CNYC 4 1/2s	80 80 80	32	Reading 4 1/2s	924 924
1	NY CNYC 4 1/2s	80 80 80	33	Reading 4 1/2s	924 924
1	NY CNYC 4 1/2s	80 80 80	34	Reading 4 1/2s	924 924
1	NY CNYC 4 1/2s	80 80 80	35	Reading 4 1/2s	924 924
1	NY CNYC 4 1/2s	80 80 80	36	Reading 4 1/2s	924 924
1	NY CNYC 4 1/2s	80 80 80	37	Reading 4 1/2s	924 924
1	NY CNYC 4 1/2s	80 80 80	38	Reading 4 1/2s	924 924
1	NY CNYC 4 1/2s	80 80 80	39	Reading 4 1/2s	924 924
1	NY CNYC 4 1/2s	80 80 80	40	Reading 4 1/2s	924 924
1	NY CNYC 4 1/2s	80 80 80	41	Reading 4 1/2s	924 924
1	NY CNYC 4 1/2s	80 80 80	42	Reading 4 1/2s	924 924
1	NY CNYC 4 1/2s	80 80 80	43	Reading 4 1/2s	924 924
1	NY CNYC 4 1/2s	80 80 80	44	Reading 4 1/2s	924 924
1	NY CNYC 4 1/2s	80 80 80	45	Reading 4 1/2s	924 924
1	NY CNYC 4 1/2s	80 80 80	46	Reading 4 1/2s	924 924
1	NY CNYC 4 1/2s	80 80 80	47	Reading 4 1/2s	924 924
1	NY CNYC 4 1/2s	80 80 80	48	Reading 4 1/2s	924 924
1	NY CNYC 4 1/2s	80 80 80	49	Reading 4 1/2s	924 924
1	NY CNYC 4 1/2s	80 80 80	50	Reading 4 1/2s	924 924
1	NY CNYC 4 1/2s	80 80 80	51	Reading 4 1/2s	924 924
1	NY CNYC 4 1/2s	80 80 80	52	Reading 4 1/2s	924 924
1	NY CNYC 4 1/2s	80 80 80	53	Reading 4 1/2s	924 924
1	NY CNYC 4 1/2s	80 80 80	54	Reading 4 1/2s	924 92

MENT CARRIES CURB

Warner Bros. Leads Rise; Industrials Show Gain

New York, August 3.—(P)—Warner Bros. Pictures and Columbia a highly favorable earnings report and Bliss & Co., showed strength

Selling (in Hundreds)			High/Low/Close
1	Nauburn Pharm pfd.	311	311	311	311
1	Neptune	224	224	224	224
1	Neptune Meters N A	224	224	224	224
1	Nevs Drug A	86	87	87	87
1	Neve Mining	158	158	158	158
1	Neville 1915	651	651	651	651
8	Nichols & Shepard new	602	604	628	628
1	Norfolk Ship way	461	444	446	446
5	Norfolk	461	444	446	446
4	Norfolk Ship way	56	56	56	56
4	Norfolk Mines	56	56	56	56
188	Noranda Mines	56	56	56	56

[illegible][illegible]

ISSUES TO HIGH LEVEL

Sales (In Handreds)	High.	Low.	Close.	Sales (In Handreds)	High.	Low.	Close.
3 U S Gypsum Rts	16	16	16	73 Nat Rub Mach Co	45	119	111
7 United Verster Rte	154	154	154	74 Natl Paper Corp	41	94	95
4 U S Steel	80	79	79	18 New Eng Gas & Ed	47	95	95
14 Vacuum Oil	80	79	79	28 N Y Pow & Lt	41	95	95
11 Yencosman Pet	26	26	26	29 N Y Tel & Tel	103	103	103
8 Watt & Bond B	10	10	10	2 Ohio Pow & Lt	52	100	100
5 Wal-Mart	43	43	43	30 Nor Stat Pow & Lt	41	83	108
916 Warner Bros Pte	59	60	58	31 Pac Gas & El	41	97	96
21 Wenden Cop Min	87	88	83	32 Penn Oil	50	101	101
5 Wes Int & Show	51	51	51	2 Phila Ed & Gas	72	104	104
1 Wheatsthorw	51	51	51	3 Potomac Ed & S	56	99	99
10 Wm W. Wiegman	54	54	54	32 R N T	52	101	101
2 Wolf Prot Cement	5	5	5

11	Carolina P & L Co	'56	101	101	101	101	3 U S Smett's	'55	102	102
12	Cent All Rta Co	'43	94	94	94	94	4 Wm B Smith	'55	99	99
13	Chas E Smith	'56	94	94	94	94	4 Virg El Pow Co	'55	99	99
17	Cent St Rl Co	'48	92	92	92	92	3 Warren Bros	'51	100	100
18	Chas E Smith	'56	94	94	94	94	11 West Pow Co	'57	99	99
20	Chi Euen Tel Co	'42	100	100	100	100	10 Wm B Smith	'55	99	99
21	Chas E Smith	'56	94	94	94	94	10 Wm B Smith	'55	99	99
26	Clin Gas & El	'46	87	87	87	87	5 Wm B Smith	'55	96	96
29	Cities Ref Co	'56	99	99	99	99	5 Wm B Smith	'55	96	96
30	Cities Ref Co	'56	99	99	99	99	5 Wm B Smith	'55	96	96
40	Cities Ref Co	'52	94	94	94	94	2 Adriatic Rk	'46	92	92
41	Cities Ref Co	'52	94	94	94	94	1 Azri M Bk Co	'47	96	96
42	Com Inv Tr Co	'48	96	96	96	96	2 Aliko Inc	'45	90	90
43	Com Inv Tr Co	'48	96	96	96	96	2 Aliko Inc	'45	90	90
44	Cudahy P Co	'57	99	99	99	99	2 Bogomilsky	'47	96	96
45	Cudahy P Co	'57	99	99	99	99	2 Bogomilsky	'47	96	96
46	Cudahy P Co	'57	99	99	99	99	2 Bogomilsky	'47	96	96
47	Cudahy P Co	'57	99	99	99	99	2 Bogomilsky	'47	96	96
48	Cudahy P Co	'57	99	99	99	99	2 Bogomilsky	'47	96	96
49	Cudahy P Co	'57	99	99	99	99	2 Bogomilsky	'47	96	96
50	Cudahy P Co	'57	99	99	99	99	2 Bogomilsky	'47	96	96
51	Cudahy P Co	'57	99	99	99	99	2 Bogomilsky	'47	96	96
52	Cudahy P Co	'57	99	99	99	99	2 Bogomilsky	'47	96	96
53	Cudahy P Co	'57	99	99	99	99	2 Bogomilsky	'47	96	96
54	Cudahy P Co	'57	99	99	99	99	2 Bogomilsky	'47	96	96
55	Cudahy P Co	'57	99	99	99	99	2 Bogomilsky	'47	96	96
56	Cudahy P Co	'57	99	99	99	99	2 Bogomilsky	'47	96	96
57	Cudahy P Co	'57	99	99	99	99	2 Bogomilsky	'47	96	96
58	Cudahy P Co	'57	99	99	99	99	2 Bogomilsky	'47	96	96
59	Cudahy P Co	'57	99	99	99	99	2 Bogomilsky	'47	96	96
60	Cudahy P Co	'57	99	99	99	99	2 Bogomilsky	'47	96	96
61	Cudahy P Co	'57	99	99	99	99	2 Bogomilsky	'47	96	96
62	Cudahy P Co	'57	99	99	99	99	2 Bogomilsky	'47	96	96
63	Cudahy P Co	'57	99	99	99	99	2 Bogomilsky	'47	96	96
64	Cudahy P Co	'57	99	99	99	99	2 Bogomilsky	'47	96	96
65	Cudahy P Co	'57	99	99	99	99	2 Bogomilsky	'47	96	96
66	Cudahy P Co	'57	99	99	99	99	2 Bogomilsky	'47	96	96
67	Cudahy P Co	'57	99	99	99	99	2 Bogomilsky	'47	96	96
68	Cudahy P Co	'57	99	99	99	99	2 Bogomilsky	'47	96	96
69	Cudahy P Co	'57	99	99	99	99	2 Bogomilsky	'47	96	96
70	Cudahy P Co	'57	99	99	99	99	2 Bog

15 Liberty P & S de 2020	1051	1051	1051
15 Lehigh McN & L de '42	942	942	942
6 Lone Star One Co '42	972	972	972
12 Long Isl Lt Co	1044	1044	1044
4 Manitoba Power Sys '51	1011	1011	1011
1 M & E Corp '51	972	972	972
3 Mill & G Co '45	967	967	967
1 Morris & Co '70	1011	1011	1011
1 Nat Pub Serv de 1920	871	871	871
6 Nat P & L de 2020	1051	1051	1051
8 Nat Pub Serv '54	781	871	871
7 SerCrtdRdSlv Tr de '85	851	851	851
4 Silemud Pol Tr '58	1001	891	891
2 Sillman Tr A '56	911	911	911
22 Swiss Confed Sys '100	1001	1001	1001
14 Unit Int Serv '56	112	1101	1001
1 Unit Int Serv '56	112	1101	1001
1 Unit Int Serv '56	112	1101	1001
18 Unit IntSvWks '48	921	921	921
6 Warman Tr '58	881	881	881
1 Wm Wm Wm Wm Wm Wm	891	891	891

Rales of stocks $152,000 shares.
Rales of bonds $191,400.

NEW YORK COTTON RANGE.
	Opes.	High.	Low.	Close.	Prev.
100
102
104
106
108
110
112
114
116
118
120
122
124
126
128
130
132
134
136
138
140
142
144
146
148
150
152
154
156
158
160
162
164
166
168
170
172
174
176
178
180
182
184
186
188
190
192
194
196
198
200

	Open.	High.	Low.	1 p.m. Cl.
Oct.	19.10	19.26	19.10	19.20
Dec.	19.10	19.27	19.10	19.20
Jan.	19.10	19.20	19.10	19.10
Mar.	19.10	19.10	19.10	19.10

New York, August 3.—(U)—The cotton market was nervous and irregular again today. Early advances were followed by partial reactions. After selling up to 19.60, or 30 points higher, December reacted to 19.35 and closed at 19.44, the general market closing very steady at net gains of 2 to 26 points.

The opening was firm, at an advance of 15 to 25 points on coverings with possibly some buying in anticipation of rallies after recent severe declines. The market was quiet until the close, when the New York

There was very little comment on the day's weather news, which seems to be considered fairly satisfactory.

Private cables said continental sailing and liquidation in Liverpool had been absorbed by covering and local buying.

Exports today 9,546 bales, making 33,826 so far this season. Port receipts 2,542. United States port stock 544,585.

—

MARKETS STEADY AT NEW ORLEANS.

New Orleans, August 3.—(P)—The cotton market was steadier today.

The advance was not maintained, however, as after mid-season liquidation of the crop 67.4 per cent of normal and indicated a yield of 14,280,000 bales, a smaller total than had been advanced so far this season.

	Open.	Close.	Prev. Close.
August		10.45	10.35
September		10.40	10.30
October	10.27	10.34	10.20
November		10.27	10.15
December ..	10.19	10.26	10.13
January ..	10.20	10.28	10.28

es 40

Plumbing Supplies
WHOLESALE and retail: buy
Central, S. W. Pickert Plumbing company.

Business and Office Equipment
L. C. SMITH TYPEWRITER
DIVISION, $25. DEARBORN
TYPEWRITERS—We sell, rent
all makes. Special rental

AMERICAN WRITING MACHINE CO.
67 Forsyth St., N. W.
USED OFFICE FURNITURE

WE OFFER a large lot of used office equipment consisting of chairs, safes, files, etc. at 1
HORNE DESK & FIXTURE
30 North 2nd St.
OUR STOCK of new and used ment is always complete.
NEWELL-THOMAS OFFICE IN-
ST. LOUIS, MO.
88-90 Walton St., N. W.

Kirkwood and Wood
KIRKWOOD COAL CO.
Phone U 5 for Summer
COAL, COKE. C. E. DE SATTERWHITE COAL
"More Heat Per Shovelful."

Household Goods
GOOD used furniture cheap at wood. Vittur Transfer & Stor LIVING ROOM furniture, por and wood

HEMlock 3437.
STOVES, furniture bought and sold all kinds stoves, ranges, T.
ship. 215 Peters St.: MAIN 42

Musical Merchandise
PIANO—Knabe upright, $100 00
Piano Co., 23 Pryor street.
VICTROLAS—Excellent condition used. Terms. Home's, Inc. W. 4

Wanted To Buy
B. BERNARD pays cash for furnishings. PHONE IVY 0372
HOUSEHOLD GOODS bought at 50% of retail. Company, 10-12 Ma
Walnut $730.
HIGHEST CASH PRICES PAID
HOUSEHOLD GOODS. A J
WALNUT 0448.
ICE BOX wanted, also restau
rent.
TYPEWRITERS—Buy, sell, re
City Typewriter Co., 818 Gou
IVY 1595.

WE CALL and pay the highest men's clothing and shoes. Call
Mr. Shurman.

WE PAY highest price for

ROOMS AND BOARD
Rooms With Board
ANSLEY PARK—Attractive room bath, private home. HEMLOCK ATTRACTIVE front room, conven-

Adair build-
HAVE vacancies for few nice b ple in lovely home. WALNUT

FR-GRANT LARGE FRONT room with private entrance; excellent meals, references.

NS LARGE room, all single beds, bath, refrigerator, phone in room, vacant. Post Office of Leominster, IVANT 2-1200.

LAGER cool room; excellent meals. Wheat 3515-J.

BLEDG. LARGE FRONT room, suite 2 room bath, garage, excellent meals. At Mount 6208, 7878-2.

LOVE, ANITA NORTH SIDE—Private family couple or business women. HEAL 2-2000.

PIEDMONT 205—2nd Street. Excellent meals, room adjoining bar. IVY 2909.

SP SPECIAL RATES FOR SUMMER. 405 PEACHTREE, ROOM 10. IVY 6744.

0084. THE WOODRINE 1589 PEACHTREE, 2nd floor. Excellent meals, couple, with or without child. Fine home for paying guest, also for long stay. Call for details. TWO desirable rooms, semi-private.

Chas.
2.
H.

700. 687 PEACHTREE ST.—Desirable
the best for the price. HEMLOCK

696 PEACHTREE—Cool front necting bath, excellent meals,
HEMLOCK 6658.

$7.50 WEEK—Three meals day, lences; close in. WALNUT 6900

Rooms Furnished

ATTRACTIVE room, private ing bath, north side, near in.

ATTRACTIVE ROOM, adjoining ness girls. 1091 Columbia ave-road 6496-J.

ATTRACTIVE room, adjoining gentleman. North side apart-couple; references. HBmlock 0722

CHESTERFIELD bachelor apartm sonable rates; all modern co
Apply 21 Harris street, N. W.,

41 Capital City club.
Desirable room, every convengentleman, private home, garlock 6104-J.

money FURNISHED room, adjoining ba-home; Morningside, on bus lin-conveniences. GENEVA 8103-M.

FOURTEENTH, N. E., 208—Rooming bath, also sleeping porch, bath.

42 FRONT corner room in private hern conveniences; garage. MAI-car-freewater. GATE CITY HOTEL—$1 per day, ly rates, 142 Forsyth St., S. W.

43 INMAN PARK—1015 Washita ave. attractive room, private home nut 4849.

MIDTOWN HOTEL—Large, clean

NORTH SIDE—Room, 25 Alexandria apartment 2, walking distance 4144-W.

NORTH SIDE ROOM—Light and cellent car service. Reasonable 7501-J.

NEWLY furnished rooms, adjacent convenient to carlines and water. Meals optional. Walnut Juniper, N. E.

NEW bachelor apartments, 644 N.

N. E., room, bath, hotel se-month, cafe in building; ladies a men. HEM. 4040, or HEM. 9211

NORTH SIDE home, attractive two men, private bath. HEMlo

NORTH SIDE—2 nicely furnishe all conveniences. Reasonable.
5776.

ONE or 2 furnished outside expos near bath; all conveniences; ad near 3 car lines. WEST 2833-W.

PEACHTREE HILLS—Nicely furn reason. conveniences. meals option

lock 5796-J.

DOG. ROOM—Twin beds, meals, garage couple for company. West 084 regis- TWO LARGE connecting furnish in modern apartment one bl Peachtree, Call Walnut 7939.

86 11TH ST.—Extra large room bath, well located. HEMlock 6

532 N. HIGHLAND AVE., N. E. five room in private home; adjoi all conveniences. HEMlock 507

149 THIRD ST., N. E.—Between and Fiedmont; 2 rooms, connect also single and small apartment;

51 952 PEACHTREE, Apt. 3—Attractive semi-private bath; gentleman.
45- 7112.
1050 BIRDMONT AVE.—Large com

Housekeeping Rooms, Furnishings
A SMALL furnished apartment call, first-class business couple Cald Walnut 5347.
FURNISHED front bedroom and rent reduced to $4 week. 343 Co
LARGE FRONT ROOM. Murphy b ing room and kitchenette.

HEmlock 2853.
LARGE, cool room and kitchen
in. MAIn 1463-J.

keep- LIGHT housekeeping rooms and sing ware- steam heat, hot water; close li rates. 1Vy 1153-J.

